FOXBORO

Foxboro.—Owing to circumstances Rev. A. L. Brown's report of the recent convention at Bowmanville, was not given to the League here until last Monday night but it was well worth waiting for. Mr. Brown wasted no time in minor details of routine work, but in a forty-five minute address set forth the salient points of several of the best speeches delivered at the convention in such eloquent, forceful style that their edifying and inspiring power could not be felt. One timely phrase was "The best citizenship of good men."

"A man may be a good man as a private individual and yet a bad citizen and it is to this fact that most of the existing evils in the state may be traced. The problem is worth thinking over."

Laughter is one of the best tonic, latter day physicians tell us. If so the large attendance at the box social on last Wednesday night should be well toned up to resist the ill that are supposed to accompany the advent of spring; for with one exception each member on the program, with its predecessor in mirth-provoking propensities. This exceptional selection which was highly appreciated was the graceful interpretation in sign language of the sacred song "Abide with Us" rendered by Miss Hough as the selection was being sweetly sung by Mrs. Anderson. The star performer was Miss Moon who was ably supported by

Mr. Spafford in the song dialogue with which they delight their audience in response to one of the hearty enclosures which greeted them every time they gave a dialogue in dialect. Miss McKenna gave two recitations, one of which was Scotch dialect and Miss Peters contributed an Irish recitation. These numbers were well received as was also a recitation by Mr. W. Woods.

An instrumental selection by the orchestra gave variety to the musical part of the program, which consisted of comic songs by Mr. John Vermilyea and choruses from the choir. There was a fan drill by eight young ladies and a group recitation "Why I Never Married" by seven ladies and seven gentlemen. The National Anthem brought the evening of song and mirth to a close. Mr. G. Campbell presided. This box social of the winter entertainments for the Presbyterian church but the Methodists are to have one more on Friday night in the form of a pancake social.

The progress on construction on the last part of the Grand Trunk Pacific is being watched with the greatest of interest from all parts of Canada, and the road will be in a condition to receive heavy traffic shortly after it has been opened. At present settlers are rushing into British Columbia in great numbers both by way of Prince George and via Prince Rupert and it is expected that agricultural development will be very rapid.

Prosperity keeps many men honest.

Advices have been received at the steel being a good distance west of that town. The weather has been favorable and the snow which is very light causes no hindrance whatever. It is anticipated that by May the two rail-heads will unite. Mr. G. T. Bell, Passenger Traffic Manager of the Grand Trunk System has received from the Secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, copy of the following resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association held recently at Ottawa—Resolved, that the thanks of this Association be tendered to the Railways of Canada for the assistance rendered the Association in many ways during the past year. In addition to the thanks tendered, the Secretary states that the resolution is not a formal one but one that will the essence of the Association of the vital aid given to the Canadian Forestry Association by the Railways of Canada.

Woman's Little Way

"Is my hat done?" inquired a cold-looking lady at a millinery establishment one pleasant day.

"Yes, ma'am," politely responded the shop woman. "It will be here in a moment."

An assistant soon brought up the hat, and while the customer was duly inspecting it the proprietress ventured to inquire:

"How do you like it, ma'am?" "It's simply horrid," was the reply.

"But it's just as you ordered it," pleaded the maker of the headwear.

"Yes, something as I ordered," was the short and snoring answer.

"I am sorry, but—"

"Well, never mind," broke in the buyer, with set lips. "What's the expense?"

"About four dollars," said the shop woman, timidly.

The money was paid over and the hat ordered up to the house, when the purchaser went out, and immediately exclaimed to an accompanying friend:

"Isn't it perfectly lovely?"

"Yes," she replied, "it's ravishing!"

"But how could you talk so to that woman?"

"Talk so!" exclaimed she of the hat. "Why, if I had let her know how much I liked that hat she would certainly have charged me $6, but now, you see, I've got it for $4."

The other woman said she had not thought of that, but would profit by her friend's experience, and never like an article again until she had bought and paid for it.
