Lady Marjorie's Love

CHAPTER XV.

"A thousand pardons for keeping you waiting, Lady Marjorie. It is not my fault. I thought I should never get rid of the fellow. Why, what's the matter?"

Barrington, turning quickly out of the passageway which led to the parlor and crossing to the big square window, stooped short at the spectacle of the grief-stricken little figure crouched up beside it. Marjorie had stopped her sobs and dried her eyes, for she had heard him coming, but she could not hide her swollen eyelids or tear-stained cheeks.

"What is it?" he asked gently. "What has upset you?"

"I dare say I am very silly Mr. Barrington," she replied.

"I dare say you are," he answered coolly. "In fact I'm sure you are. You are uncommonly unwise to cry, for instance. You had better not. If you do I won't answer for the consequences."

"If she had looked at him she must have understood him, for at the moment, although he guarded his voice pretty well, he did not guard his eyes—perhaps did not try to guard them. But she did not look at him, and did not suspect the audacity of which the Countess' penetration had been so swift to convict him. She turned her head aside.

"What is it?" he asked gently. "Her ladyship?"

"Of course it is. Who else is it likely to be?"

"I thought as much," he frowned, for it happened that Lady Marjorie's appreciation of him was a sentiment but indifferently reciprocated. He hesitated, and then sat down in the opposite corner of the window seat, while Jack sat between and sleepily blinked at each in turn. "You won't care to go out now?" he asked. "Tell me all about it, won't you?"

Marjorie hesitated, because she did not know quite how to begin. On more than one occasion, when Fenella had been disagreeable and had detected the fact, she had told him all about it and had found the confidence consoling. For he had never failed to look at things from precisely her point of view, than which there can be nothing more sensible and comforting. That she should follow those examples again was therefore only natural, and she did it. He listened with one or two unflattering compliments for the Countess' account, smiling now and again in a manner which might have lowered her opinion of his sympathy had she seen it. She did not see it, for she was so sure that her eyes were frightfully red and that she looked out of the window.

"You don't think you would like Ireland, then?" he asked when she had finished.

"Of course not. They are always shooting people or boycotting them, or both, and I should hate it."

"And I may take the liberty of supposing that you are not over fond of the Dowager Countess?"

Sheer amazement of the utter absurdity of the notion made Marjorie turn to him with wide open eyes.

"Why, she's awful. Just wait until you have seen her."

She nodded with infinite expression; plainly, when he did see the Dowager, he might expect to see a good deal.

"And you don't wish then to make your home with her?"

"I won't make it with her. She denches her hands and set her resolute little mouth and chin. (Whatever I do I won't do that.)"

"A pause. Defiance was all very well, wrath was all very well, and she felt both, but the horrible sense of doubt and desolation had seized her again, and she had much ado to keep the tears out of her eyes. If it was a minute or two before he spoke, it was possibly because he understood her so completely. When he did it was very gently.

"Since you have honored me by your confidence so far, Lady Marjorie, perhaps I may ask you a question. If you will not go to Ireland, and are sure that you cannot remain with Lady Marjorie—"

TORONTO WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Bearing Down Pains, Backache and Pain in Side by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Toronto, Ont.—"Last October, I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels and am stronger in every way. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound highly to all expectant mothers."—Mrs. E. Wadley, 22 Logan Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Consider Well This Advice.
No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Strengthen comes from well digested and thoroughly assimilated food. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the digestive organs, and thus builds up the strength. If you are getting "run down," begin taking Hood's at once. It gives nerve, mental and digestive strength.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

If you buy an article at $68.84 and give a $100 cheque in settlement, you will not be willing to wait 5, or 10, or 20 years for your change or refund. You will want it as soon as you can get it.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA recognizes this sound business principle by issuing their Annual Refund Policy, which the "wise ones" pronounce to be the very best Life Insurance contract money will buy in Canada today.

Mr. Abraham Goodwin, of the firm of Kerr & Goodwin, Brantford, took one of these popular policies in January, 1911, and paid the usual premium. In January, 1912, he received a Refund of $5.45, and in January, 1913, his Refund was $7.67 on a $1,000 policy. He will continue to receive his Annual Refunds, and thus get his insurance at Actual Cost from year to year. The many others who have this splendid contract are having the same satisfactory experience.

Out of each $100.00 paid in premiums in 1912 The Mutual Life used only $68.84 and Saved $31.16. Since this Company has no stockholders, the whole $31.16 will be handed back to its policyholders in the form of Refunds.

Get an Annual Refund Policy—get your change at once. Get your Life Insurance at Actual Cost from year to year. Get your policy in The Mutual Life of Canada. Full particulars from

BURFORD

(From our own correspondent.)
The death of Mr. Peter Briers occurred very suddenly at his home in Bishopgate last Friday morning. He awakened during the night complaining of a pain in his stomach, but it passed off and he went to sleep. About 5 o'clock Mrs. Briers heard him breathing with difficulty. She tried to raise him but as he is a very heavy man she was unable to do so. She ran to call a neighbor, but when they returned he was dead. The funeral took place on Monday to the Congregational cemetery, Burford. Mrs. Brier is quite ill, owing to shock and grief, and is being herself trying to lift her husband.

Mr. Leslie Stuart is home on a visit from the West.
Mr. Jno. Wedge has sold his business to Mr. Harold Charles. The health rendered it necessary for Mr. Wedge to dispose of his business.

Miss Murrill entertained the members of the Methodist choir last Wednesday night.
Mr. and Mrs. Read of Hamilton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Kemp.

Mr. Pite has purchased Mr. S. Cavins house and Mr. Pite has purchased Mr. Pite's farm. Mr. Pite has taken over the mail route of Mr. Cavins.

Mr. Richard Smith has sold his property to Mr. A. J. Williams. Mr. Smith has moved to Vanessa.

Mr. A. W. Eddy entertained the members of his class at his home last Thursday evening.
Mrs. Willis is visiting Mrs. McClellan.

A special meeting of the C. O. F. was held in Kneale's Hall last Tuesday evening, when some more new members were received into the Order. This makes about 20 new members added to date, since Organizer Wilson came into this district, and more are yet to be taken in. Mr. Strong of High Court was present, and gave an address. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. There are now 137 members on the roll.

Special court session was held in the court room last Monday, when Mr. Geo. Anselvorth brought action against the Grand Trunk for $100.00 damages to a carload of oats consigned to him. He received $80.00.

Mr. Jno. Lillie's sister from Drumbo is having him a visit.
Mrs. B. Clement was in Hamilton last week attending her sister, Mrs. Thomas, who is quite ill.
