To the Faithful in Christ Jesus of the

Dearly Beloved Brethren,—The holy season of Lent has come round once more, when the Church bids us to con secrate the time to religious retirement We all doubtless feel the need for deeper carnestness and greater reality and zeal in our spiritual life. It has been the experience of all those who have really made the effort that there —T. W. Dennis, Tea Store and China have really made the effort that there is no time more valuable and helpful han Lent. Are you really anxious to live a holy life, to do the most good and ake the best use of the time and owers given you? If so, now is the time to make the effort. The o jects of Lent are: 1. Closer communion with God. 2. Increased knowledge of self 3 Self-denial asting and abstaining from plessures. And in order to attain these objects it is necessary that we should gain more time by withdrawing from amusements and entertainments, and give the time thus saved to attending tion and increased devotion at home, and particularly to self-examination, for this is the time appointed by the
