Davis, who took Howard and Pogram to England, says, "There is but one six-day pedestrian, and his name is Charley Rowell."

An illicit still has been captured in East Oxford. Four moonshiners were arrested and convicted.

The rumor that the Marquis of Lorne will resign at the end of three years and return home, is officially denied.

Maria Antonio, formerly a popular prima donna, who took oxalic acid at New York recently, on account of poverty, died on Sunday.

The son of the English Premier, Mr. H. N. Gladstone, is on this side of the Atlantic, and on Friday paid his respects to President Hayes.

Sherman will recommend the discontinuance of the coinage of the silver dollar of the present standard, and to recoin on the gold basis.

A country chap wrote his name on a blank card and then threw it away. The next week the card came back to him as a note of $50, payable on demand, and now he is trying to get rid of the same.

Several American firms are reported to have purchased $40,000,000 of Northern Pacific bonds, with 40 years to run, the bonds only to be issued as the road is completed and accepted by the Government.

The New York Tribune furnishes the following statement, taken from the official returns of every state: Garfield, 4,439,415; Hancock, 4,436,014; Weaver, 305,729; Dow, 9,644; scattering, 1,793; total, 9,192,590; Garfield's plurality, 3,401.

The fuel famine at Winnipeg has been averted by the railway authorities providing the means for the bringing in of wood at reduced rates. Lately as high as $10 per load has been asked for wood on the market. Between the cost of fuel and the rise of the price of all kinds of provisions living promises to be very costly for the winter.

It is no longer a matter of doubt that Gen. Grant has been seriously considered as a candidate for United States Senator from Pennsylvania, and the men who have been turning their thoughts in that direction are those most likely to name him as the next Senator for the Legislature.

An American divine has been making a statistical estimate of the power of Christianity in the United States as compared with the liquor law. Here are his figures: All Christian denominations give about $5,500,000 annually to home and foreign missions; the amount spent in liquor is $800,000,000 annually. In other words the people of the United States spend as much for liquor in three days as they do for the salvation of souls in one year.

BRUTAL PUNISHMENT.—Mr. G. Hottel's boy in a tussle with Mr. Tremper, one of the teachers in the high school, had his head laid open. The wound bled profusely. A good spanking is the best thing for such boys; but when it comes to "muzzing and muzzing" the juvenile corporation, it is time to consider whether some other mode of punishment ought not to be adopted. Mr. Tremper left Stratford on Wednesday last.—[Stratford Beacon.

In extempore speaking in any assembly in which she chooses to speak, the Bareness Burlett-Coutts outshines all competitors. A remarkable fluency, well chosen words, and a perfect refinement and feminine grace are the chief characteristics of her style. Recently, on the occasion of the presentation of prizes to the Bloomsbury School of Art, she spoke for half an hour with an eloquence which astonished almost everybody.

CURIOS ELECTION BETS.

The loser in a Memphis bet is to stand on his head five minutes, in a public square, with a Garfield banner suspended from his feet.

In Oswego, New York, a groceryman bet his store against a neighbor's meat market that Hancock would be elected. On Wednesday he turned over his wager like a man, but the butcher declined to accept it.

In Ogdenburg, N. Y., William Alger bet his mustache against A. A. Babcock's whiskers that Garfield would not be elected. On Wednesday morning he had his mustache cut off and sent to Mr. Babcock.

George P. Knawls, of Rushville, Wis., won from Edwin Childs, of Dakota, one section of coal from land, 319 acres. The bet was $3,000 against a certain described section that New York State would give Garfield from 1,000 to 5,000 republican majority.

A combination bet was made by ten democrats and ten republicans in Houston, Tex. The losers were to harness themselves to a stage coach and draw the winners through the principal streets. In both parties were some of the foremost men of the city.

A wheelbarrow bet in Baltimore afforded more amusement to the spectators than had been expected. The loser was amused, while wishing the winner over the stipulated route, by the taunts of the latter, and followed up the payment of the wager by whipping him soundly.

Joseph S. Miller and Henry Kleindients, of Rochester, N. Y., bet on the election, the loser to walk a block at noon on a Wednesday night in a night-dress. Miller lost, and at noon on Wednesday appeared in a night-dress, followed by a crowd of men and boys.

A Harrisburg man was caught by the tricky offer of a wager that one city in the United States of over 100,000 inhabitants would not give 500 votes for Hancock. The stake was a supper for the ward campaign club of the winner. The city named was Washington, where there is no voting for president at all. The victim said nothing, except to name the time and place for the supper. On that occasion the viands looked all right, and were just such as the written terms of the bet called for; but they were found to be seasoned with snuff and other unpalatable substances.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

See what Physicians and the People say about SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES, as a remedy for Consumption, Scrophulous, and Wasting Affections.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE, GENTLEMEN.—I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, etc., in my practice and used it in my family. I am greatly pleased with it because of its palatableness and the good results that follow its use.

TRA M. LANG, M.D., 279 East Broadway, N.Y. GENTLEMEN.—For the last fifteen months, I have used your Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, both in hospital and in private practice, and have been greatly pleased with its effect.

JOHN A. OCTERLONY, M.D., Vis. Physician, Louisville City Hospital.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE: I have used Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in various instances and I have found it to be easily taken, readily assimilated, and rapidly improves the nutrition and flesh. I consider it the best Emulsion I have ever used.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE: I have given your remedy of Cod Liver Oil, &c., a fair trial, and am glad that I can say I think it is the remedy for weak lungs and bad cough, and highly recommend it.

SCOTT & BOWNE: GENTLEMEN.—I should like to write to you, as I saw a notice upon your bottles of late upon its long continued use. This has proved true in my case. I was given up to die last March with consumption, the best medical aid made no use of my treatment.

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOSPHITES

FOR THE RELIEF AND CURE OF ALL WASTING DISEASES,

Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, General Debility, Brain Exhaustion, Chronic Constipation, Chronic Diarrhoea, Dyspepsia, or Loss of Nervous Power. It is unequalled in the treatment of Palpitations of the Heart, Trembling of the Hands and Limbs, Loss of Appetite, Emaciation or Memory.

It acts with vigor, gentleness and subtlety, owing to the exquisite harmony of its ingredients, which purify the blood itself. Its taste is pleasant, and its effects permanent. Its most apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

READ WHAT THE INVENTOR, MR. FELLOWS, HAS TO SAY ABOUT HIS SYRUP OF THE HYPOPHOSPHITES.

In the summer of 1864, I was suddenly affected by a copious expectoration of mucopurulent matter. I had been declining in health for some months, and, being exceedingly nervous, the symptoms caused alarm. As my business was that of a dispensing chemist, the shop was constantly visited by medical men, all of whom tendered their advice. During 1864 and 1865 my chest was examined by ten first class physicians, some of whom pronounced the case Bronchitis; some, not wishing to cause alarm, or unwilling to venture an opinion, gave no decision; some stated unequivocally that I had Tubercular Disease of the Lungs, and located the trouble where the pains were felt. By professional advice, I used, in turn, horse-radish exercise, country life, eggs and ale in the morning, tonic, Bourbon whisky, cod-liver oil, electricity, tar, and various inhalants, but the trouble increased. Expectoration became more profuse and offensive. Night-sweats set in. Cold chills, diarrhoea, dyspepsia, cough, blood-streaked expectorations, loss of sleep, loss of appetite, loss of memory, loss of ambition, accompanied by general prostration, showed themselves. Under the microscope the blood was found to contain but a small portion of vitalized corpuscles; the heart's action was feeble; the pulse intermittent; the stomach could not digest properly, so that flatulency and acidity was the result. Finding the symptoms indicated Consumption, I determined to use every effort to stay its progress, and, if possible, to cure it. I selected the most powerful tonics and moderators, and combined them with the vital constituents of the human body. For months I endeavored to amalgamate them before my efforts were crowned with success. I cannot speak too plainly or too strongly of the effects produced, and the benefits I received from the composition.

At first my appetite increased; the expectoration became easy, digestion better; the feces became more copious and less frequent; cold chills ceased; night-sweats lessened; I gained in weight; the lacking cough left me; refreshing sleep returned; my spirits became buoyant, the mind active and vigorous. I continued taking the Syrup month after month; but owing to the damp, foggy climate of St. John, my recovery was necessarily slow, although I could observe a gradual return of strength for three years, during which time I continued taking the remedy. My present weight is one hundred and eighty-eight, being thirty-eight above my usual. I have no symptoms left denoting disease. The only notable sign during twelve months was the expectoration. Now that has stopped, and I consider myself well. The reader may ask, How do you know your difficulty to have proceeded from tubercular or tubercular lung? I answer, in the most certain of all modes for ascertaining. In March last I coughed from the right lung a piece of PHOSPHATE OF LIME, half the size of a pea, which could have come from no other place, and which the highest authority in Lung Diseases (Laennec) states is the result of tubercle, which has been cured. Added to this, I had the leaden color, purring, blood-streaked expectoration, and the opinion of one of the best diagnosticians in the country. I believe I have experienced all the symptoms incident to the two first stages of Consumption, and have successfully combated them, so that I do not doubt of my case, were there is left sufficient lung tissue to build upon. I can only add that the more recent consideration of increased sales would never induce me to publish this report, but that I write sympathetically for the poor Consumptive, with whose misfortune I believe it vitally to trifles.

SUBSTITUTES!

The public are cautioned against a custom which is growing quite common of late among a certain class of medicine dealers, and which is this: When asked for a bottle of Pain-Killer, they suddenly discover that they are "sold out," and have another article just as good, if not better, which they will submit at the same price. The object of this deception is transparent. These substitutes are made up to sell on the great reputation of the Pain-Killer and being compounded of the vilest and cheapest drugs, are bought by the dealer at about half what he pays for the genuine Pain-Killer, which enables him therefore to realize a few cents more profit per bottle upon the imitation article than he can on the genuine.

FOR SUDDEN COLDS NEURALGIC, RHEUMATIC AND ALL OTHER PAINS IN ANY PART OF THE BODY, PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER IS UNQUALIFIED.

IT CURES ALMOST INSTANTLY. The Pain-Killer is put up in 2 oz. and 5 oz. bottles, retailing at 25 and 50 cents respectively—large bottles are therefore cheaper.

SOLD BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS.
