The Poet's Corner. Baby's Curl.

2

I found to-day amid some treasur Kept long with loving care Some finded flowers, love notes rings, dearest far of all love's offerings This little curl of hair.

The silent, burning tears fell unrepu For the dear curly head

My willing fingers have so oft caressed, Till every childish grief was soothed to In number with my dead. Never again my eager hand shall stray

Amid the clustering hair, Where in the long ago this sweet curl lay-For the dear head is lying far away Beyond my love and care.

Bayen I the reach and need of Love's caress, The precious, curly head Can never feel again my warm lips' press, Or know with what a depth of tender

I hold this silken thread. What wonder that the tears fall thick and fas Here in the twilight dim ?

For this my darling's ringlet, is the last And only relic of a secred past ! 'Tis all I have of him.

The Number Seven.

Thinking that the frequent occurrence of the number seven in both sacred and profane usage would not prove altogether uninteresting to the readers of the Msthodist, I send you the following which I have gathered from different sourses, mostly, however, from Brewer's Phrase and Table : There are seven days in creation.seven spirits before the throne of God, seven days in a week, seven ages in the life of of man, and the just fall 'seven times a day.' There are seven phases of the moor., every seventh year was sabbatical and seven years was the jubilee. The seven great Jewish feasts last seven days and between the first and second of these feasts were seven weeks. Levitical purification lasted seven days. We have seven churches of Asia, seven candlesticks, seven stars, seven trumpets, seven horns ; the lamb has seven eyes, the temple of Solomon was seven years in building, ten times seven Israelites go to Egypt, the exile lasted the same number of years, and there were ten times seven elders. Pharaoh in his dream saw seven kine and seven ears of corn. etc.

fensive matter in the presence of others than I would speak what would be offensive to them. This is common politeness, and nothing more ; and I may here state there is not one word in any book used in our separate schools that has the slightest reference even to any church but our own. We find we have enough to do to learn and practice the teachings of our own church. Few of us even do this much middling well. In conclusion I beg to say I feel confi dent that when Mr. Laing has looked carefully into the school law and the official reports on the public and high schools of Ontario, and considered that those schools are all open to us as widely as any other denomination, and that they are supported by our money, cent for cent and dollar for dollar, in proportion to our proporty, as compared with the property of any other denomination, July. Bad blood was aroused; a riot he will be glad to find that we are on a footing of perfect equality with himself in relation to the educational institutions of this young, free, enlightened and happy country-and that he will say long nounced by both sides.
