THE UNREST IN JNDIA AND EGYPT SEEN AT CLOSE RANGE

H. J. Helliwell Offers, Lucid Explanation of the Situations in These Two Countries as a Result of His Obscreetion in His Round-the World Tour. He Refuses to Expresswo Countries, as a Result of His Ob-Situation in Great Britain.

In the opinion of H. J. Helliwell, a his part to express an opinion as to member of the firm of the Western the feeling of the people of Great Realty Co., who returned last week Britain or even as to the effect of a Says Judge Grosscup, Vice President change in the trade policy of the of Knights of Columbus, at Colu ually become thorns in the side of tries are made intensely interesting visited the Canadian and American umbus tonight, addresses were made to the rest of the Empire by the personal coast cities, Vancouver, Victoria, Section 1980, 1 sistent rumors of unrest. Mr. Helliwell, quate, and the welcome of the people were avoided by Mr. Murphy unlike many unseeing and unobsertheir boundaries.

The anomoly is presented that the very agencies embraced in the policy these two countries, looking to the civilization of the people, and to their the elements largely responsible for the unrest. The education of the natives has the effect of "a little learning being a dangerous thing." Just so soon as the natives learn of the civilization in other countries they conceive the idea that they, too should govern themselves, and young students become imbued with an ambition to become a Garibaldi. It is a not generally known fact that thirteen attempts have been made on the life of the Earl of Minto since he became

A Saving Feature. In India there is a saving feature The endless ramifications of the religion of the various tribes make combined action on their part at present impossible. Due to Several Causes. Persons who are versed in Oriental affairs say the present discontent of and political causes. First of all, it est in governmental affairs. This fact in itself has aroused considerable unrest. In the southern part of China also there is a strong feeling of antipathy to the Manchu dynasty, which is in control of affairs at Peking. The ago at Yuen-Kiang was precipitated by a shortage in the rice crop.

The introduction of a constitution may have the effect of removing the unrest, but until there is some material agency which will unite all the Mr. Helliwell says he cannot see how: any marked progress can be made by Chine toward the status of a great power. In five years time a con-stitutional form of government will have been wholly adopted.
