Vaudeville and Revue.

MANHATTAN CO'S BIG SHOW.

Vaudeville and revue, comedy and pathos, that was the acceptable mixture served up by the Manhattan Musical Comedy Company at the Casino last night. Moreover, for once among a capacity audience, there was not one whose taste failed to permit the dish to be relished. Every member of the troupe had something to do, and it is rarely that a local audience has seen such a display of individual talent. The opening numbers were contributed by members of the chorus who had been previously given little opportunity to display their versatility and the rounds of applause which greeted Misses Helen Violette, Charlotte La Rose, Daisy Ford, Mary and Maybelle Cox was proof sufficient that they should have been given a similar chance before. Mr. Henry White was heard to great advantage in some splendid songs and Miss Geraldine Edgar rendered delightful selections on the violin. Miss Thropp was very amusing as the deserted wife in the "Christy Cure." Mr. Liddy's fine tenor voice was greatly appreciated and Miss Oswald sang some delightful songs in her charming soprano. Billy Clifton and Relda Rennie were absurdly funny in their sketch "Wrecked," and Miss Torrey's interpretation of the "In-cense Dance" held her audience fascinated with her sinuous and graceful motion. Teddy Wilde's "Dress Rehearsal" was a scream from start to finish. The show will be repeated to-night and is well worth seeing, and all the young men who take their best girls along to-night should find expression for the sentiment contained in the lines below, which would doubtless have been written by Omar the Tentmaker, had prohibition been the vogue in his day.

Advertising Brings Trade.

This morning a Telegram reporter was shown thru the sample rooms of Gerald S. Doyle, where a great display of many well known articles is to be seen. The familiar packages of many highly advertised products, such as Dr. Chase's Medicines, Scott's Emulsion, Life Savers, Sloan's Liniment, Ivory Soap, Pro Fly Lac Tie Brushes etc., seemed like old friends, waiting there to meet you. Despite much depression in general trade circles, Mr. Doyle has not only carried on his business "as usual," but has increased it many fold. As Mr. Doyle, himself, is known from one end of Newfoundland to the other, so are the goods he handles familiar to householders all over the country. He has been a persistent and consistent advertiser. Personally he has made a big outlay in advertising his goods and the firms of world-wide fame which he represents have spent millions in making their products known to the public.

Mr. Doyle is best known in Newfoundland, perhaps, as the agent for Dr. Chase's goods and while these are still his leading lines, he seems to have got hold of most of the best classes of goods with which one meets with from time to time. His sample rooms are a revelation in excellent wares. He has become the direct agent for many of the larger manufacturers of toilet and other articles and because of this direct agency he is in a position to give the trade and ultimately the people, better values than they have ever before been able to get in these particular goods. Mr. Doyle has recently had to enlarge his sample rooms and office space and increase his staff, and while those who know of his indefatigable enthusiasm in his work ascribe a large measure of his success to his own efforts, he, himself, is strong in the affirmation that this success is largely due to advertising.

In the Realms of Sport.

What promises to be one of the best games for the season is on the card for to-night when the Saints and B.I.S. meet in the fifth game of the fixtures. Until the final stage of the series the Saints was the only team last year that succeeded in finding the net against the champs. That's why it is that the Two Year Kings with fear and trepidation face their old-time antagonists, and should the weather hold fine it is thought the game will attract an even larger gate than did the clash between the Feldmans and Irish. A little heat, please, Old Sol, to dry up the ground. To-night's line-up are:

B.I.S.—Goal, J. Phelan; backs, Power and Higgins; halves, Rawlins, Brien and Constantine; forwards, F. Phelan, E. Phelan, Callahan, R. Halley, Burke.

Saints—Goal, Burns; backs, Barnes and Tait; halves, Elton, Foster and Brown; forwards, Young, G. Elton, Sawyers, Clouston and McNeill. The referee will be George Hunt.

The C.L.B. didn't have a chance last night against the onslaughts of the heavier and more experienced Cadet team—who by the way give every hope of being cup contenders—and as a result went down to defeat by a score of 7 to 1. Three of these were scored in the first half, Canning having two to his credit and Caul one. On crossing over the Cadets started things with a rush, but some of the forward line seemed too over-anxious at the start and as a result several good chances were fumbled. A penalty gave Callahan the opportunity to score number four, and not to be outdone, Meaney and Flynn duplicated. Then Callahan notched up the final. The C.L.B. solitary score was secured by Burridge with one of his famous high ones, which was too much for Clare to clear, and in she flopped. From a spectator's standpoint the exhibition was a poor one, mainly due to its one-sidedness throughout.

Having squared off their indebtedness with the Football League, the baseballers have floated a sweepstake in order to augment their sadly depleted funds. His a cash drawing and will take place next month. There are three prizes, $300, 100 and 50; and as the tickets are only a dime we feel sure that sport enthusiasts will give the sweep the generous support it deserves. Thank you, fans!

From the Guards' football circles comes this story. Kindness forbids us to mention names. A well known player who rather starred in their last appearance was waxing enthusiastic about one of his fellow mates to a cute fluffy young thing. "He'll be our best man soon." She fell on his neck—and now he's looking for a ring, likewise a house. Ain't it awful!

The Baseball League held a special meeting yesterday forenoon to draw up the preliminaries for the various garden parties. On Thursday morning there will be a doubleheader for the stay-in-towns, commencing at 10.30 when the Wanderers and Cubs and Red Lions and B.I.S. will come to grips in aid of the Church of England Orphanage. The winners will play off on the day of the Garden Party for the Bowring Challenge Cup and the handsome medals presented by the Orphanage committee. Help the Orphanage.

On the morning of July 1st there will be another doubleheader in aid of the new Kilbride Church, and the winners will be presented with a handsome silver one year cup presented by the Pastor, Rev. Fr. John Rawlins, himself an athlete of note, and an ardent fan of all branches.

On the Thursday evening of July 20th the Wanderers and Lions, and the B.I.S. and Cubs, will clash in another doubleheader in aid of Mount Cashel. The baseball game at the Garden Party has always been one of the attractions, and this year will prove the exception.

By the way it is interesting to note that the footballers have for the grabbing this season not less than 14 sets of medals in the various sports and garden parties, so that most of the boys' lady friends are going to have some very classy hat pins this Fall. Put your tenders in girls. The baseballers will have four silver trophies and a set of medals for their share.

Evidently our Canadian cousins have not the happy faculty of settling protests as speedily as our sport controllers. About four months ago the Sussex hockey team protested a game played with the Charlottetown Abegweit on February 22nd in the play-off for the hockey championship of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. It was only a week ago that a decision was handed down and the protest sustained. The protest arose over the permitting by the referee of two Charlottetown players who were in the penalty box at the end of the regular game to take their places on the ice at the commencement of the over-time play without completing the balance of their penalty period before resuming their places in the line-up. The question arises now, who are the 1922 champions?

"Bug" wants to know about a "force" play and if it has anything to do with a popular breakfast food.

THE CHAMP.

I sing you the song of the greatest of bugs.
The King in the Kingdom of Scrap.
Who meets every comer with non-chalant joy
And plays a tattoo on his map:
Who never has faltered within the roped ring.
Nor yearned for the sound of the song.
But lighting two-handed has stood by his guns,
And ended each round going strong.
Great Sullivan withered before his fierce drives,
And Corbett succumbed to his might.
Fitzsimmons was battered in blood to the dust.
While Jeffries just blew in the fight:
Jack Johnson was only wet clay in his hands.
Big Jess and the rest of the crew
Were just little children when mixing with him
And "hus-beens" when he would come through.

He is the best of the scrappers, the star.
Who never goes counter the dope,
Who plays his own game in his own waiting way.
And smothered each challenger's hope:
Though many a li. battles, there's not a defeat.
His record is more than sublime—
I give you the King of the Great Game of Slam.
The champ of all champs—O.K. TIME.

There was no answer.

"Now, Herbert," said the teacher, "suppose I was to put my hand in your pocket and take out a penny, what would you call me?"

"A blooming conjurer," replied Herbert, with conviction.

Heron Use a Lure in Fishing.

The heron is an exceedingly grave and serious bird given to standing in a contemplative attitude by the water side, a model of calm respectability. In appearance when flying with his long legs streaming behind is responsible to the stories of witches flying through the air on broomsticks. It is thought by many that the heron has an oil which it uses to attract fish especially eels. There is also a theory that herons emit a phosphorescent light from the bare spot on their breasts, perhaps from the oily, clammy substance clinging to the knobs of down, which attracts fish at night. The blue powder found in the feathers of the blue heron may have some connection with this curious lure. So successful are these solemn looking poachers that this spring some of the fishing clubs are seeking permission considerable expense.
