Messrs. A. B. Thom and J. G. Heiter are presenting Trinity church with two handsome stained glass windows, which will be placed in position shortly.

Miss Lulu White is visiting friends in Toronto and Miss McCausland takes her place at Trinity church organ during her absence.

Mrs. C. F. Caven and children are spending a few weeks in Ottawa, at present. Mr. Caven will go down for a week or so, later on.

An event of great interest took place in the township of Houghton, June 26th at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith in the marriage of their daughter Bessie to Mr. John P. Hatch, of Eden, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Cooper, of Vienna, assisted by Rev. H. Sanderson. A large number of guests witnessed the event, many of whom came from a distance. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and valuable presents showing the esteem in which she was held by her friends and acquaintances. She was ably assisted by Miss Maud McCurdy, who acted as bridesmaid. Mr. Morley Hatch acted as best man. After a sumptuous repast, the newly wedded couple left for St. Thomas and other points of interest.

Malahide Circuit

The members and friends of the Epworth Leagues of Malahide circuit gathered on Thursday evening, June 27th, in the church at Dunboyne, to spend the evening with the departing pastor, Mr. Clayton Moorhouse. The church was filled, despite the temperature, and the affair was a complete surprise to Mr. Moorhouse, who expected to attend the ordinary service of Dunboyne League. A short programme was given under the efficient chairmanship of the Union president, Mrs. J. Cochran. Brief addresses were given by Messrs. R. E. Bowen, of Jaffa; W. Brown, Luton; W. Lemon, Copenhagen; W. Hagan, Grovesend; F. Prong, Mt. Salein, and C. Van-Slyke, Dunboyne, all of whom spoke in appreciation of the work done by Mr. Moorhouse during his two years' term as a junior pastor. In the midst of the programme the vice president, Miss Cora Brown, was called upon, and read a beautifully worded address in behalf of the League, and presented Mr. Moorhouse with a well filled purse, accompanied by two fine bouquets from the hands of Misses Nora Nelson and Ita Haggan, of Grovesend. On behalf of the Quarterly Board, Mr. R. E. Bowen also read an address of appreciation and good will, in the form of a resolution moved by Mr. R. H. Lindsay and seconded by Mr. A. McTaggart, and unanimously carried at the last meeting of the Board.

Good music was given by quartettes from Copenhagen, Misses Clemens and Swazie and Messrs. Lemon and Hulse; from Dunboyne, Mrs. E. Drysdale, Miss Ellsworth, and Messrs. McTaggart and Turrill; and by Copenhagen orchestra.

Mr. Moorhouse left on Tuesday for Dorchester, where he will work as co-laborer with Rev. J. Vesale. A young man of magnetic personality, a fearless speaker, and pre-eminently a teacher, Mr. Moorhouse leaves behind a testimony to the efficacy of his influence and training in the number of better equipped and increasingly efficient curricula workers on the Malahide circuit.

Scarcely a Profitable Article.
"I see," said the head of the firm, "that you have an article in one of the magazines this month."

"Yes," the young man proudly replied. "I think I have demonstrated in a thoroughly reasonable way the practicality of living on $4 a week."

"I congratulate you," his employer answered. "It's a good article. I read it with great interest. And, by the way, I've been troubled a good deal lately. I've felt that it must be mighty hard for you to get along on what I was paying you, and I've been wondering how I could work things around so as to give you more without increasing the running expenses of the concern."

"Yes," the young expert returned, with a hopeful inflection.

"But it's all right, I see," the old man answered. "You can live on $4 a week, and that leaves you $5 to have fun with or save, as you please. So there's a load off my mind. Say, if you write any more articles along this line tell me about them, will you? I'd like to read them. It's great stuff!"

Flattery.

"I don't see why you should persist in asking me to lend you money," said the man whose patience had sustained much.

"I don't know you very well at best."

"My dear sir," replied the person with shabby genteel manners, "you compel me to be blunt where I would fain have been delicate. I was merely desirous of further and more favorable acquaintance. Ben Franklin says that the way to win a man's friendship is not to do him a favor but to let him do you one."

A Compliment.

"I understand that one of your ancestors was a horse thief," said Billings to Ricketts.

"He was. Glad you mentioned it. I regard that as a compliment."

"How's that?"

"It is an acknowledgment that I have improved on my ancestors."
