

EARLY MORNING FIGHT
BETWEEN DRUNKEN PALSDavid Lewis and Harry Williams
Were Fined by Police
Magistrate Love.

David Lewis, a laborer, who intended leaving London yesterday, found himself in a very peculiar position when he faced Magistrate Love this morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Prior to leaving the city he met his pal, Harry Williams, a man well known to the police. By way of celebrating his departure Lewis got drunk. Williams claims that he was not drunk. Out King street, near Maitland, at 3 o'clock this morning, Lewis put his hand in his pocket and found that $15 which he intended to use for his board while away, was gone. He at once attacked Williams and threw him on the road and began beating him, and when P. C. Noonan arrived he was still administering a good deal of punishment to the prostrate man. Both were taken to the station and charged with being drunk and disorderly. Williams was fined $10 this morning, but he knew absolutely nothing about the disappearance of Lewis' money.

Lewis admitted that he had acted badly.

"I felt pretty bad though," he told the court, "as I had worked all month to get that money."

You should be more careful of your money, said Magistrate Love. "However that does not excuse either of you and I send you both to jail for ten days unless you pay $5 each. Lewis' money was not gone, and $5 bills are an unknown quantity with Williams so both men will be guests of Governor Carter for the next ten days.

Another local firm was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate Love this morning for employing child labor.

The charge was laid by Factory Inspector Clarke. A number of similar charges against other firms have been laid and will be heard later.

The firm of J. H. McPherson, 100 King street, was fined $5 and costs for employing a child under 14 years of age. The child was found by Inspector Clarke at the firm's premises. "It has got to be stopped," he said. "I have given local firms warning, but if they won't heed it, I will go on giving it."

Thomas James of Thames street, a lister who has been in for eight days sobering up, told the court he thought he had better let him out as he wanted to look after his wife and children. "I can't let you out without fine you," said the magistrate, "10 and 25 cents, and I will give you a week to pay."

EAST LONDON NEWS
RECTORY ST. PEOPLE
SAY "GO SLOW"

Taxes on That Thoroughfare Are Now at the Limit.

A subscriber living on Rectory street in a communication to The Advertiser, warns the council to go slowly in the proposed drainage scheme. He points out that the street is paved with cobblestones, and that the residents of the street pay as much taxes now as they possibly can stand. He says that the drainage scheme, if carried out, would mean a further increase in taxes, and that the residents of the street would be unable to pay them. He suggests that the street be paved with asphalt, and that the drainage scheme be delayed until the street is paved.

EAST END NOTES.

GRAND TRUNK BANISHES
THE CELLULOID COLLAR

Passenger Conductors Must Pay More Attention to Their Appearance.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Co-Incident with the settlement of the strike of conductors and brakemen on the Grand Trunk and the increase in wages to the men as a result, the Grand Trunk has decided to banish the celluloid collar from the passenger branch of the service to pay more attention to their personal appearance and dress. Now that conductors getting pay equal to many professional men, said Superintendent Donaldson this morning, "they will be expected to dress up to their positions, and to be clean-shaven when they report for duty." One of the horrors of the railroad is the celluloid collar, Mr. Donaldson added, "and it will have to go."

THE IMPRESSIONS OF FINLAND

The People Amiable But Inquisitive—Their High Standard of Education—Deeply Patriotic—The Women Are Workers.

Whether in the new Siberia or the old, whether in progressive Alaska or in Europe, Mr. Harry De Windt is always a delightful companion, and one is glad to see a second edition of "Finland as it is."

Some Home Questions.

Chance took Mr. De Windt to Finland, where he found everything except the climate and the military uniform changed. With the exception of Moscow and Odessa, he found the great Russian towns depressing, some of them almost squalid, so that Finland proved a veritable transformation. "Viborg is barely eight miles from St. Petersburg, and yet I awoke in a sleigh in another world, a cosy bedroom worthy of the Gordon Hotels." He found the people as delightful as their country, but rather inquisitive. Here are some of the questions that are asked of a stranger by the Finns: "Where are you from?" "Where is your home?" "Where are you going?" "Are you married?" "Is your wife good-looking?" "Have you any children?" "What is your income?" The author adds, in justice to this pleasant people, that they are perfectly willing to give information on their own private affairs, the slightest opportunity.

And he goes on to note a far more important point, namely, that Finland, with the possible exception of France, is one of the very few countries in Europe in which the average citizen, travelling acquaintances of a few minutes' standing: "Where is your home?" "Where are you going?" "Are you married?" "Is your wife good-looking?" "Have you any children?" "What is your income?" The author adds, in justice to this pleasant people, that they are perfectly willing to give information on their own private affairs, the slightest opportunity.

Gaiety and Politeness.

"The Finns are a great reader, and bookshelves abound in his country. Translations of English novels appear to be popular: 'I gleaned that translations of the works of Mr. Anthony Hope had the readiest sale, but that those of Mr. Kipling were not appreciated by the reading public. 'Pro-Bolshevism' had something to do with this. At any rate, the immortal Dickens always holds his own, and of American authors Mark Twain is the most popular.' The literature of the Finns is still undeveloped, and the author of this book admits that it would be difficult to name a great prose-writer born and bred in Finland. The poetry, however, is famous all over the world. Mr. De Windt concludes his stimulating appreciation of this little known country by urging Englishmen who are looking for health and a change of scene, to visit the Finns at a moderate cost to visit the Finns at a moderate cost.

BREAD SEIZURES.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—The police this morning seized several hundred loaves of bread from one Levesque & Binet, of Hull, and one from A. M. Douglas, of Ottawa, for being light weight.

FRENCH AERIAL FLEET.

Paris, Aug. 6.—The ministry of war has received a Wright aeroplane and a machine of the Iberiot type, capable of carrying two passengers, to be added to the military aviation fleet. The machines were purchased out of the subscription fund, $52,000, raised by a Paris newspaper.

MADE EXCISE OFFICER.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—The Canada Gazette today announces the appointment of Edmund Montfort, of Windsor, to be a third class excise officer on promotion in the inland revenue division of Windsor.

BACK TO QUEENSTOWN.

London, Aug. 6.—In consequence of the pressure brought to bear upon it through Irish and other influences, the Cunard Lines today decided to revert to Queenstown as a port of call on eastbound journeys to London, and mail before continuing to Fishguard the new port on the Welsh coast. All steamers, except the Lusitania and the Mauretania, will put in at both Queenstown and Fishguard, commencing September 1.

BERGER REFUSED.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Sam J. Berger, of New York, made a fruitless trip to Dr. Orr's office this morning for the purpose of getting permission to show Jeffries-Johnson's fight at the Regatta. A large sum of money was offered for the privilege at the coming exhibition.

PORTO RICO'S POPULATION.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The population of the island of Porto Rico is 1,118,012, as shown by the complete return of the recent census. This is a gain of 164,769 as compared with the census of 1899.

MAY LOSE AN ARM.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—A. G. Young, traffic manager of the American Tin Plate Company, is in a serious condition from blood poisoning and amputation of his right arm may be necessary. While in camp in Canada a week ago Mr. Young pierced a finger with an indelible pencil. He treated the wound with light remedies, but it did not heal and he was forced to return to his home here, where he went to a hospital.

ENGLISH TEACHERS.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—A party of fifty teachers from London, England, will arrive in this city this evening. They will be received by Mayor Geary at the city hall, after which they will be driven around the city. The Toronto Teachers' Association subsequently will entertain them at the Rosedale school.

A Dainty Apron.

A charming apron for "afternoon tea and embroidery" wear is made with three very deep scallops, each defined by a line up the apron of wide ribbon insertion, and each embroidered with the middle in a flower design. The material is sheer lawn and the strings are of the same light-colored ribbon as the embroidery—run insertion.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

APPLES QUOTED $1 A BUSHEL

Crop in This District Is of a Decidedly Poor Quality.

LIVE HOG PRICES DOWN

slumped to $8.50 Per Cwt.—May Be Even Less on Monday—The Market Quotations.

More evidences of the very poor apple crop in this part of the country were to be seen on the local market this morning, when a half dozen farmers offered small quantities at a dollar a bushel.

Some of them claim that orchards which in other years netted them $200, will not produce $10 worth of fruit this season.

Live hogs have taken quite a slump, and according to the buyers Monday's price will be $8.50 or less. This is a drop of over 75 cents a hundred during the past two weeks.

Two loads of hays were brought in this morning. One of them sold at $13 a ton, while the other brought $14. Butcher is very scarce, and prices continue firm. This morning as high as 27c a pound was asked in the dairy hall, while 23c to 25c was the price on the open market.

Tomatoes are somewhat easier, at 6c a pound and 75c a basket.

The first plums of the season are coming in, and are selling at 55c to 75c a basket, while 10c a berry box full is the price for smaller quantities.

The market was not as large as last Saturday, but the supply was very well up with the demand.
