Gilmore was the favorite and undoubtedly made the best showing, but amid groans and hisses the referee declared the contest a draw. George Cooper, who was judge for Gilmore, made the points Gilmore 51 and Hawkins 41.

Skinning the Lambs.

From the New York Daily News. Certain bookmakers coutrol the movements of several racing stables, and s powerful combination has been formed to make the occupation of "skinning the lambs" this year much easier and more cunerative than heretofore. It is a very matter for a jockey to pull a horse, cially in a large field, without being yvered, but it is much easier to send a horse with a good reputation to the post unprepared and totally unfit to contest unprepared and totally unit to contest with less speedy animals, although mounted by a first-class jockey, who is engaged to ride in order that his name may be used as an additional bait. From the London Referee.

The other day I got a letter from a correspondent who mixes very much in sporting circles around the big Eastern towns, and he said that no man could hope to do well as a boxer out in the States, unless he declared himself to be, if not Irish, at least an Irish cockney, or a Liverpool or Man-chester Irishman. We have seen how Mitchell, after being for a short time extremely popular because he was so muc smaller than Sullivan, and because for a time his stories about himselt, his gentle birth and academic education, amused the masses, has been entirely wiped out by other and later favorites, who have declared themselves to be either Irish or of Irish extraction. I am assured that if Burke and litchell were to give rival shows in any large ar representative town of the States it is good odds that Burke would have the better house, though only a little while see he was onite unknown areas while ago he was quite unknown across the Atlantic, and though his record out there is as nothing when compared with Mitchell's, This would be the case in Bos-

An erronecus idea is now entertained by many yachtsmen in regard to the silver trophy brought over from England by the wacht America. It is generally known as the "Queen's" cup-even Gen. Butler, the owner of the America, calls it the "Qceen's" sup-but in reality it isn't the "Queen's" oup at all. It is the challenge oup for yachts of all nations, and was offered by the Royal Yacht Squadron. The race was PRETENDING TO BE A POLICEMAN. Two Citizens Roughly Treated by a Bogus drafted Constable-The Mail Left Again.

Chief Draper yesterday investigated the case of Frank Abbot and J. H. Jose, compositors, who complained of having been insulted and roughly treated by an intoxicated man who passed himself off as a policeman dressed in plain clothes, while ponceman dressed in plan clothes, while going home from work at 4 30 Friday morning. The complainants were having a parting word at a corner, when the man in question came along and ordered them to more on at the point of a pistol, at the same time threatening them with arrest.

The constables who do duty in plain clothes in 1 and 2 divisions were summoned before the chief and confronted by the two entlemen, who failed to recognize any of he policemen as the troublesome individgentlemen, who failed to recognize any of the policemen as the troublesome individ-ual. The stigma resting on the force since the complaint was preferred has thus been satisfactorily removed, greatly, no doubt, to the disgust of the Mail, which gladly seized the opportunity offered by the case to make another of its ill-tempered and unwarranted attacks on the police.

They think that in dealing with this ques-tion, two things must be held inview; viz.: That no repressive legislation will be effectual unless it is heartily supported by a large majority of the people; and that the main cause of intemperance is the use of ardent spirits as a beverage. They think that none of these acts hereto-fore passed have been sufficiently governed by these considerations; and that the Canada Temperance or Scott act is parlieularly de-fective in not providing restraints in locali-ties where it is not in force, and which are therefore left to the operation of an unsatis-factory license act; and in permitting ilquors, not uncommonly of the worst description. to be introduced and con-umed without inspec-tion or safeguards of any kind. Besides the imperfections in the Scott act and the possibility of its being declared to be ultra vires or unconstitutional, there may be many difficulties in the way of its being uni-versally adopted and faithfully carried out, which the following may be enumerated : That it is easily susceptible of fraudulent evasion, especially in towns and cities where a stringent liquor law is most needed; and as a matter of fact is scandalously evaded in many localities.
