CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure & Catarth, Catarrhal Deathess, and Hany Fever.

The microscope has proved that these discases are contagious, and that they are due to the pressure of living parasites in the lining membrane of the upper air passages and cuatachian tubes. The eminent scientists—Tyndall, Huxley and Beale—endorse this, and those authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases is to apply an irritant remedy weekly and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, accompanied by violent sneezing, allowing it no chance to heal and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has over been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these discases cannot be cured by an application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance for high fefore any garminee Mr. Dixon discovered the harasite in catarrh and formulated his flow feven fars since Mr. Dixon discovered the harasite in catarrh and formulated his flow freatment, and since then his remedy has pecome a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him soven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease. So high are these remedies valued, and so great is the demand for them, that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite—of which they know nothing—by remedies the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Air. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the mest aggravated cases. N.B.—For extarrhal troubles peculiar to females this remedy is a specific. Mr. Dixon sends a pamphle describing his new treatment on the receipt of ten cents in stamps. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King Street West, Toronto, Canada.—Scientifo American.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should exce-fully read the above.
