BISHOP O'CONNOR'S SERMON. The sermon was preached by Right Rev. Dr. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough, who took as his sext the words:—"And I have heard a voice from heaven, saying to me: Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord. From henceforth now, sayeth the spirit, that they may rest from their labours, for their works follow them "—(Apoc. xiv., 13). He then said —Right reverend, very reverend, reverend fathers, and dearly beloved brethren, our holy mother, the Church, in her great love of her children, follows them beyond the gates of death, her great love of her children, follows them beyond the gates of death, and in fear lest the slightest sin might retard their entrance into the cernal goys of heaven, she prays and boseeches for mercy for their souls. Hence her Month's Mind for those win have been called away from the labours and dangers of this world. One month ago the Most. Rev. John Walsh, the illustrious service of the service of his oternal repose. From this cathedral, as well as from many other sanctuarties, have been announced in sitting and the oternal repose. From this cathedral, as well as from many other sanctuartes, have been announced in litting and eloquent language the virtues and the noble deeds accomplished by him during the many years spent in the service of his Divino Master. The ributes of respect paid to his memory by many who are not's this to the recomplished proof of the pre-eminent qualities of mind and noble principles that distinguished this prince of the Church, whose loss is greatly mourned by his affectionate priests and people. To say a few words in reference to the life of the deceased Archbishop is a more difficult and the deceased Archbishop is a more diffiif ew words in reference to the life of he deceased Archibishop is a more difcult trak for me than for those who alve already spoken of his works and ittucs. To all of you he was a guide, father, a teacher, a friend, and hence our deep grief at his renoval from our midst. Whilst I unite with the lergy and latly in greatly lamenting is loss to the Church, I have the further personal sorrow and deprivation of an older brother and wise counsellor or over-forty years. secration he promised to be kind and merciful to the poor, to the homeless, and to the indigent. How has he kept his promise? The numerous instituand to the indigont. How has an equilis promise? The numerous institutions of charit, and benevolence that have been built throughout the dicesses of London and Toronto during his thirty years' administration bear witcess to his love for the poor and needy.
Well, too, did he imitate his Divino Master in his love for children, as the herge number of schools and acaderates established by him testify. In sickcess we are helpless. We are entirely dependent on others. Then do we feel especially structured for the least relief, or confroit, given us. This kind hearted prelate knew this, and hence one of his first noble acts after his installation as Archbishop of Toronto was to found St. Michael's hospital, where thousands of the sick and suffering of all denominations receive scientific treatment and tender care.
What shall I casy of his burning edstre to save neglected youth, who, coat amidst the many mances and temptations of this world are exposed to the danger of losing their fatth and or dropping into the grade of the crimliad class. The loving heart of this good shepiced were greatly troubled at the thousin of these dangers, and the gave himself nor rest till he had found a means of coming to the relifed of this class of children, which he did by establishing St. John's protectorate at Blantyre park. Many a prayer will be offered up for his eternal welfare by those whose steps he torned from the ways of sin and perdition to the paths of truth and virtue. Truly can it be said of Archbishop Walsh that he was a loving father, a watchful guardian of the widow and the orphan, a strong support of the poor, the helpless and the officted. How faithfully has he not fulfiled the promises made at his consecration. How have not the prayers

The evening papers containing the despatch from Toronto announcing the Archbishop's death, came under . ather Breunan's notice as he shool in the midse of a group of clergymen in the grounds of St.Mary's College, Rathornines, Dublin. In the party were missionaries from Africe, east and west consts, from Australia, and from America, and of those it is a remarkable fact that six belonged to the discose of Ossoiy, from which the Archbishop came. More remarkable fact that six belonged to the Archbishop came. More remarkable fact that six belonged to the Register, who happened to meet him yesterday, Father Brennan said:—"It is needless, for me to say that there is bit, one feeling, among the clergy in Theiand, that of profound sorrow over its lows, which the Canadian. Resolutions of Sympathy.

A combined meeting of the League of the Sacrid Heart, and the Catholio Truth Society, of St Michael's Parish, was held in St. John's Chapel, last Sunday alternoon, Ray. Father Ran presiding. Resolutions of condolence were passed, with the Administrator, Very Rev. J. J. McCann, on behalf of the archdicesee, and Rev. His Grace always took är great interest in the work of both of these facilities, encouraging and aiding them in every possible way, and his loss is very deeply folt by the monthers
