PUBLIC OPINION.

Manitoba Free Press: Protection is denounced as wrong in itself and as the breeder of monopolies, trusts and combines. We who have had fourteen years' experience of it, know this to be true. In proportion as it has diminished the purchasing power of the dollar in everything which the great mass of the people have to consume, it has depreciated the value of farm and landed property. It is desirable, therefore, in the interests of the country, to get rid of protection and to establish a fiscal policy based on the requirements of revenue for the public service.

Victoria Colonist: There has been published by direction of the Provincial Government, a handsome pamphlet of one hundred and ten pages, in which is given a full and fair description of the present resources and future possibilities of British Columbia. The description is carefully and conscientiously written. The writer is evidently determined to keep within the truth. He shows no disposition to entice immigrants by a glowing account of the fertility of the soil or the richness of the resources of the Province; but on the contrary, if he errs at all, it is in the direction of under-statement.

Montreal Star: The decision of the Government to offer for sale, on "touchable terms," the Canadian section of that natural island summer resort of the eastern part of the continent—the Thousand Islands—is a good one. The patriotism of many a good Canadian has been wounded by being compelled to admit that the "American side" of the river is much more attractive with its many cottages and insular fairy lands, than the desolate and unpeopled "Canadian side." And yet we have, in anything, the best of it in natural advantages. From Kingston to Brockville, the northern half of the St. Lawrence is dotted with charming islands of all sizes, forms and groupings.

St. John Telegraph: The Convention marks an era in our political history. It will provoke a smile among all those who were present to learn that here and there some Tory newspaper has been foolish enough to attempt belittling it. It has given renewed hope, confidence and enthusiasm to the Liberal party and we doubt not will have a favorable influence upon the country at large. It cannot fail to give an impetus to the various reforms proposed in the resolutions which were so unanimously adopted. It needs only that the inspiration of this great and eminently successful Conference shall now take the form of thorough organization and active, energetic work in order to secure a triumph for Liberal principles at the next election.

Toronto Mail: The loss of the Victoria proves the power of the ram as an offensive weapon, and it also shows that modern war vessels are not so easily manoeuvred as the old wooden ships that won Britain's victories a hundred years ago, but which, of course, would be no use now. The example may instruct as an item of naval experience, but after all that can be said, it is a terrible affair, darkening hundreds of Old Country homes with the shadow of death and exciting sympathy and lament in the hearts of Britain's friends throughout the world.

The sinking of the Victoria in the Mediterranean and the drowning of 463 of her crew is an event which must necessarily remain a dark spot in naval history. There is only one feature of brightness to relieve the gloom, and that is the heroism and pluck with which her crew set to work, as the report goes, to close the bulkheads. In that brief quarter of an hour while the ship was settling, they obeyed orders, and went to their death like the British seamen of old.
