

is locating limits back of Kamloops, on the upper North Thompson.

Mr. W. R. Beatty, formerly of Ontario, but now manager of the Arrowhead Lumber Company, when asked about the industry in British Columbia, said that the government could materially aid it by passing an order-in-council making the definition of imported rough lumber to be that which is as it has left the saw, and has not been touched by a planer. This was the intention of the law in the first place, but it has been interpreted to pass as rough lumber that which is planed on one side and is consequently partially dressed. Then if the American lumbermen still want the Canadian market, let them, said Mr. Beatty, put up their planer and dressing plants on this side the boundary line and employ their labor in this country. Fires are doing great damage in all parts of the province. The summer has been long and warm, and since the first part of June there has been but two days rain, which came together. That was after a month's dry weather, and a large number of fires were extinguished. Since then the weather has been again warm, especially in the interior, where it has been the hottest ever known, and as a result there are destructive fires burning from Vancouver island to the eastern boundary
