

INDEX

- tyr, 36; confessional revision in, 37-39; polity of, origin, 205; excellence, 139, 206; influence upon character, 137, 138; upon other churches, 206-208; served as national training school, 137; furnished model for national constitution, 140-142; P. C. and American Independence, 143-148; and education, 138, 148; and Sabbath and Family, 149; and benevolence, 150; and national leadership, 151; catholicity of, 189-215; historic church, 209-211; number of adherents, 209; worldwide range, 211; power of adaptation, 212; missionary aggressiveness, 212, 213; outlook, 214
- Preston, Hon. W. C., cited, 140
- Prime, Dr. S. I., cited, 196
- PROVIDENCE, and William the Silent, 79; presupposes Predestination, 157-159; all-embracing, 159, 160; illustrated in Joseph's life, 161-165; P. and fatalism, 167; and free-agency, 167-172; and sin, 173-177; practical effects of doctrine, 177-182
- PURITANS, founders of commonwealths, 56; by what inspired, 56; in England, name and character, 47, 64, 65, 70; spiritual father, 71; Puritan army, 66-69; our Puritan heritage: liberty, 71; Protestantism, 72; the Christian home, 73; in America, 89, 90, 120, 143
- Kanke, cited, 119
- "Rebellion," "The Presbyterian," 145
- Reed, Dr. R. C., cited, 48
- Reformation, the Protestant, led by Calvinists, 19; fought through by Calvinists, 72
- Reformed Churches of Europe, 212
- Religion in the home, see Family Religion.
- Renan, Ernest, cited, 88
- Revision of Confession, in Northern Church, 37, 38; in Southern Church, 38; not a question of orthodoxy, 39
- Revivals, and Calvinism, 150
- Revolution, of 1776, "a Presbyterian measure," 143-148
- Roberts, Dr. W. H., cited, 120, 205
- Romanism, its catechism, 27; where best studied, 98
- Roosevelt, Theodore, cited, 95
- Rutherford, Samuel, 29
- Sabbath, in the home, 110-112; Presbyterian emphasis upon, 149
- Saintsbury, cited, 15
- Sanctification, entire, 48
- Schaff, cited, 18, 131, 134
- Scotch-Irish, numbers at Revolution, 120; part in Revolution, 143, 144, 148
- Scotland, Calvinism in, 59; where effects of Calvinism best studied, 98; the Scotch before Knox, 98; the transformation, 99; Scotch missionaries, 100; moral and intellectual pre-eminence, 103; religious home life, 106-116; S. and Pres. Church government, 141