owned by the King comprises two fiveyear-olds, one four-year-old, ten threeyear-olds and the same number of luveniles. This fatter might now be regarded as two-year-olds, for more than one has passed the second birthday. However, they are generally reckoned as juveniles ill they are pulled out for some event or other. The entire string are now at Egerton House, Newmarket, where they exercise dally under the watchful eve of Richard Marsh, the royal trainer.

The half-score of three-year-olds are by a variety of sires, Florizel II. Thrush, Lord Bobs; Volodyovski, Missel Thrush, Flying Fox and Martagon being represented on the list. A number are the produce of mares who as yet are unknown to fame, but they are a decidedly well-bred lot and are expected to show something sooner or later. The fine mare Laodemia has so far produced nothing in any way approaching her own merit, but probably her alliance with Thrush may be some improvement. The Lord Bobs-Mirabelle colt is returned as bred by Hoole, while Lord Marcus Beresford figures as the breeder of the Runaway Match colt. Another young Thrush is from the Bongvista mare Komm Carlinchen, an Australian matron, and, as a matter of fact, there are only five Sandringham-reared youngsters on the team. This is due to a series of mishaps which occurred during the foaling season of 1909.

During last season, the five-year-olds

The Times says the great temptation is to make to-day's debate revolve around the Canadian agreement, but it wants the most careful handling. Primarily it is the concern of other people. Both countries have suscepti-bilities we must respect. In using the agreement as a stick to best political opponents, the danger seems to be that they are going wide, falling on friends we are sorry to hurt. Undoubtedly the situation is serious, but we depreciate exaggeration.

Spoke of Mission's Congress. The second of an interesting series of mission talks, illustrating the congress in Edinburgh last June, was held in Victoria College last night, a large audience listening to addresses by Drs.
