Knight of the Grip. At the regular meeting of Commandery No. 1 of the Canadian Order Knights of the Grip, held in the Temple Building, on Saturday evening, the following officers were installed by Supreme Grand W. M. Jackson: H. C. G. Sir K. T. F. Corey; Chief, Sir K. J. J. Kent; Captain, Sir K. D. Blund; Captain, Sir K. J. Micks; Lieutenant, Sir K. J. P. Sheppard; Sergeant, Sir K. G. Moore; Treasurer, Sir K. S. M. Sterling; Assistant Secretary, Sir K. C. D. T. Smith; Auditor, Sir K. W. J. Hopwood and Wm. C. B. B. B.

Arriving at the house, Mrs. Boddy politely asked the inspector and detective to wait while she struck a light. Detective Forrest fortunately had a match and as he reached up to light the gas the woman stepped into the parlor. The officer clatched her closely and picked up the supposed stolen purse with its contents close to where she stood.

She Wanted to Know. The woman took the officers in her excitement and wanted to know what kind of police protection she could expect when the boy could be held up right under an electric light. 6-year-old lad, of 14 St. David's place, who was said to have been with young Boddy at the time of the robbery, corroborated the story.

Said Story Was Made Up. Detective Forrest, who had the alleged victim of the crime into the guard room and after a little questioning made him admit that the story was made up. He told the detective that his mother had the purse, and when she was asked about it she flew into a rage. The officers then decided to take the woman to her home to have her searched.

To Get Into the Papers. Mrs. Boddy then broke down and confessed to putting up the job just to get newspaper notoriety. The police claim she has got it.

TEMPORARY RECTOR ABSENT.

Forceful Sermon, But Not Eloquent

—War Condemned—General News of the City.

Hamilton, Jan. 14.—(Special).—There were many anxious worshippers at St. Peter's Church this morning before the hour for the service to begin, and when the time arrived the church was crowded. Friends and supporters of Rev. Father Geoghegan who have stood by him during his great trouble and suspension, outnumbered the curious visitors, some of whom expected a scene, as the vindicated preacher had not received permission from the bishop of the diocese to take charge of his old flock. Father Geoghegan, however, received no objection, the rector who has been in charge not appearing. He was assisted by Rev. Dean Massey, late of St. Luke's Church. He made no special reference to his enforced absence from the church, but in the course of his sermon he made a number of references to those who he feels apparently have persecuted him. His sermon was based on Proverbs, xvii, 22: "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine, but a broken spirit drieth the bones. It was somewhat forceful and pointed, but not eloquent. He spoke with no uncertain sound on war, and said it is just as unchristianlike, he said, for two nations to settle their disputes with the sword as it is for two men to settle a difference with their fists, although he felt at the moment as if he should have been speaking to certain men in that fashion.

At the close of the sermon about 25 persons received communion, the first one being Dean Massey, Mrs. G. Geddes, Miss Geddes.

BOERS' SIDE OF THE STORY

Interesting Views of the War as They Are Held at Pretoria—Boer Army Strength.

EXPECTED 25,000 COLONIALS.

Tales of Small Boer Losses and Great British Losses—Boers After the Diamonds.

New York Sun: Following are some extracts from letters written by an American who has been living at Pretoria, and who has opportunities to obtain accurate information on the subjects about which he writes:

"Well, the war is on in all its awfulness and unjustness, and although some of the people here profess that I cannot, I suppose you are being surprised with British victories. I have heard of none yet, in the exception of those I have read of in the Cape and Natal papers that have drifted here.

"I suppose that you, with the rest of the world, were amazed at the nerve of President Kruger in sending his now famous ultimatum to the greatest power on the earth. I will not attempt to go over the merits of the case, but have precipitated this anyhow war on these poor people, but I will recite shortly what has been done since the war has become a reality.

"Some very funny things, many of them, showing the simplicity of these people, have just passed by a surrounded war. For instance, in the Volksraad some two or three weeks before the war, a member called up his motion requesting the State to send a committee to the high command at Cape Town (Sir Alfred Milner) as to why the British were so far from the border of the republic, and in the course of the discussion the motion was carried by a vote of 20 to 10. The member who made the motion was not ready to go war, whereat another member, whom I know very well, said, 'I am not ready to go war, but I will take the risk of the thing did not strike the Dutch for some little time.'

"Now, as to what the troops have done. When war was declared Gen. Joubert had some 10,000 men, and the Boers had 6000 or 6000 on the western frontier, and the Free State on their western and southern borders. It is estimated that the Boers had 25,000 men, and as they march forward into Cape Colony and Natal, as they have done, they have destroyed 10,000, 10,000 or possibly as many as 20,000 Colonial troops. The Boers have advanced past their homes, as they would be considered guilty of treason if they were to do so, and they have been seen in the territory of Natal on the march from Dundee, he had but 700 men, and when he arrived below the town, he had over 7000 men in his little band, and he had a special force of 1000 men, but from the Natal farms as he passed them.

"The first skirmish the Transvaal forces had was at Mafeking, on the western border of the Cape Colony, and resulted in the capture of Mafeking, and the British were wounded on either side. The next was at the battle of Mafeking, and the British were killed and many wounded, and as a result 200 prisoners were taken in a Kaffir camp near the town. The result of any consequence was that of Mafeking, and the Boers have been steadily advancing in the order of command there, with 23 others, was killed and something like 220 were taken prisoner.
