aining sentences like this:

"The canker of corruption has eaten too deeply into the heart of Canadian politics to have the malgady cured by any judicial pronouncement, be it never so just, or by any enactments of parliament, be they never so wisely framed. A boodler here or there might be discovered and punished, a grafter here or there might be cut off, one government might be destroyed and another set up; but all that would touch only the surface eruptions of the disease, it would heal but slightly the hurt of the body politic. The poison is in the blood, the heart beals falsely, and no remedy will avail that does not strike down to the springs of our political thought.

Another section declares that this Globe is bogus, and that the real stuff is to be found here:

"Under the circumstances it was decided to go around bellowing about corruption, and claiming that it was univerzal thruout the province on the Liberal side, and that to it the government owed its existence. As has been said, it would be an ill-service to public life to treat such offences lightly, but it is, to say the least of it, an equally ill-service to endeavor to make the people of the province believe that people of the province believe that corruption was widespread, and that the politics of the province were saturated to the centre with it."

It is naturally confusing to have one Globe accusing another Globe of bellowing around about corruption, one declaring that corruption has eaten to the heart of politics and the other that this is a Tory yarn. We think that the publishers of the bogus Globe, whichever it is, ought to be severely punished.

ON EVE OF LLECTIONS

Another sign of the coming fe election is the issue of the first officit Liberal pamphlet. It is called "Political Pointers No. 1—seven years of Lib cal Pointers No. 1—seven years of Liberal administration contrasted with eighteen years of Conservative rule." It is a book of 46 pages, with a portrait of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the cover, and contains some good reading for the stalwarts. The policy of the government is declared to be prosperity, economy, fair taxation, development of resources, peace and harmony betwen various elements of the population. As a background, there is a gloomy picture of conditions in 1896, trade depression, corruption and the ministerial bott. Then there are statistics resembling those of The Globe's finger posts of prosperity, growth of trade, bank circulation and discount savings, railways, letters posted, immigration and development of the West, prosperity of manufacturers, imports of raw material. Conservatives are charged with making false predictions of ruin to industries. Credit is claimed for the British preference, for the abolition of cattle quarantine, and for cold storage and other aids to the export trade in farm products, for the enlargement of the canals and the improvement of transportation facilities, establishment of lighthouses. The working man is reminded of the abolition of the sweating system on government contracts, the establishment of the Department of Labor and The Labor Gazette. The Railway Commission and the new railway act are described. Eight pages are given to the questions. Conservatives are charged with these crimes, and their record compared with that of Liberals. The new ballot law is described and illustrated with a diagram of the ballots. In the long dark winter nights the weary Liberal editor and stumper will peruse this volume. eral administration contrasted

And as silently steal away.

The decision of the Court of Appeal in the case of the extension of time for the hearing of the North Norfolk and North Perth election petitions was handed down yesterday. Mr. Justice Osler granted an order postponing the hearing of the petitions till Jan. 31 next, and this was appealed against by the Liberhis, who claimed that a date for the trials ought to have been fixed, and as the six months' limit had been passed the petitions should fail. The Chief Justice, in announcing the decision, said: We have come to the conclusion that the orders were properly made, under the circumstances, and that the discretion of Mr. Justice Osler to extend the time was rightly exercised. His order is confirmed. The whole court agreed. In a lengthy written judgment it was found that the duty of fixing the time and place of the trials belonged to the judges, as the Conservatives contended, and that the demands of justice required an extension. The fact that, owing to other engagements the judges were unable to commence the trials within the time limit should not prejudice the petitioners, and probably the only motion open to them under the circumstances was to extend the time. The judgment goes on to say:

"It was argued that the petitoners have shown no diligence in preparing
