KEEP HANDS OFF MANITOBA LISTS

SIFTON SAVES, BUT OPPOSITION WAS STRONG

Means Prorogation of Parliament Within 30 Days and No Elections This Year.

Ottawa, June 21.—(Special.)—The government has abandoned its intention of abolishing the provincial lists of Manitoba, for federal purposes, for the present at least. Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained the nature of the proposed amendment to the Election Act in his house-to-day. He said the changes were of a very light character, being nothing more than a technical correction of the New Brunswick Representation Act, and the application of the act to the constituencies of Algoma, Burrard, Yale and Cariboo, Saguenay and Chicoutimi and Gaspé, when voting takes place subsequent to the general elections. Some of those constituencies have been sub-divided by the redistribution, and it is therefore necessary to amend the election law to suit the new conditions.

"And in the amendment in regard to the Manitoba lists to be dropped," asked E. F. Clarke.

"It is not to be dropped, because it was not intended," replied the prime minister.

Changed Since Friday.
This statement from Sir Wilfrid does not harmonize with the information which he gave the house last Friday concerning the Manitoba lists. He stated that he had intended to propose legislation in regard to provincial lists prepared otherwise than under the jurisdiction of municipal authority. It was Manitoba, therefore, which Sir Wilfrid had clearly in view, and it was unquestionably the government's intention to legislate the provincial lists of Manitoba out of existence, and to have new lists prepared under the direction of government officials. The present Manitoba lists are very favorable to Conservatives.

Sifton is Savagely.
Replying to Mr. Sifton's assurance that legislation in regard to the Manitoba lists would be introduced in the Ottawa remedying this state of affairs, the Liberal organizations in Manitoba practically neglected the lists. Mr. Sifton did his utmost to make good his promises, and to a time appeared to have won out. The question came up for consideration in the House of Commons when the strong opposition of some of the ministers caused the rejection of the bill.

Mr. Sifton is reported to be savagely opposed to the decision, which means that in an election in his own constituency he will be greatly handicapped. While this fact is appreciated by his constituents, it may be that the government could not force through such a bold measure of interference with its own franchise without suffering loss of prestige throughout the country.

Prorogation by July 12.
Another rumor is that entered into the cabinet's decision was the well-known fact that the opposition would obstruct the business of the House for two months if necessary rather than allow the legislation to pass.

The withdrawal of the bill from the agenda in the election law means, therefore, that parliament will prorogue within thirty days, probably by July 12.

No Election This Year.
It also means, according to well-informed politicians, that there will be no elections this year. The government has decided to go to the country with the Manitoba lists so unfavorable unless general elections are pointed conclusively to the wisdom of such a course.

MORE RAISING OF RATES.

Adviseability of Preparing Mooted at C.O.F.F. Grand Lodge.

St. Catharines, June 21.—(Special.)—The grand lodge of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows began its annual session here this afternoon at Masonic Hall. The grand officers present were: J. A. Lapp, Brighton, grand master; Robert Clark, Troy, past grand master; W. H. Shaw, Toronto, grand secretary; Robert Fleming, Toronto, grand secretary; James Dixon, Hamilton, deputy grand master; Dr. Bincham, Toronto, grand medical referee; Duncan Young, Montreal, grand lodge representative; Charles Musson, Toronto, grand lodge representative; Markdale, grand auditors.

The C.O.F.F. has a membership number of nearly 45,000, and there is the usual increase in the number of members in the grand lodge for the year. The grand lodge has shown an increase all around.

Grand Master Lapp, in his address, spoke of the necessity of considering the question of raising the rates, as other societies are doing. It might not be necessary for them to raise their rates just at present, but it was just as well to prepare for the future. The grand lodge has a large number of prominent citizens as delegates to the grand lodge.

STORM NEARLY SPOILED TATTOO.

Cleared Away, However, and 5000 Saw the Spectacle.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 21.—Rain fell on and during the day rather interfering with the outpost and advance guard work which occupied the troops to-day. The manoeuvres were an exposition of Lord Dundonald's new system, and Col. Otter had the star considered the work of the men fine, and were loud in their praise of their efficiency. The men got on the plan of the work quickly, and fell into line with great adaptability.

At 10 o'clock a gale of wind blew with great violence and this was followed by a tremendous rainstorm, the clouds sending down sheets of water. It would have been postponed, but seven or eight excursions came into camp, and about 5000 people having gathered, and the weather clearing at 8.30, the program was carried out.

The different regimental bands playing their several tunes, formed up in the centre, and when massed played "O Canada." The Canadian boundary question, but the 28th had charge of the arrangements. The bugle bands were also massed in one and parade. The 28th and 30th cavalry bands also were massed and gave a splendid account of themselves. About 3000 worth of fireworks were set off.

To-morrow the troops will be exercising at battalion drill, all the men being engaged together.

AUDITOR-GENERAL TO RETIRE UNWILLING TO FACE RISKS INVOLVED IN G. T. P. DEAL

Has Had Frequent Collisions With Government During the Past Year.

Ottawa, June 21.—(Special.)—The coming retirement announced to-day of J. Lorne McDougall, from the office of auditor-general, was not unexpected. It was the logical termination of the differences that have existed for a long time between the auditor-general and the government. The difficult over the Cornwall Canal lighting contract was only one of many things that prompted Mr. McDougall's resignation. He had frequent collisions with the government during the past year, and it is no secret that Mr. McDougall would have resigned when the government undertook to take his authority down a little, if he could have obtained favorable superannuation. The government declined to grant him those superannuation privileges which have been accorded many other officials, and Mr. McDougall decided to work out the time necessary to secure the superannuation he desired independent of the powers which he had obtained.

G. T. P. Has Its Risks.
The chief cause of Mr. McDougall's resignation was an unwillingness to face the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway contract in connection with this work many millions of dollars will be spent under the direction of the government. Mr. McDougall realized that if he courageously discharged the duties of his office in regard to these gigantic expenditures he would be accused of neglecting the interests of the country. If, on the other hand, he did not antagonize the government he would be accused of neglecting the interests of the country. He was in a very difficult position, and he was not prepared to take the risk of making a mistake.

Was Appointed in 1878.
In April 1878 the law relating to the office of auditor-general was amended with the object of making the office independent of political and departmental influence. In August, 1878, just before the general election, Mr. McDougall was appointed by the Mackenzie government to fill the office under the new constitution.

REPUBLICANS AND TARIFF "STAND PAT" TO WIN LODGE'S DRAFT PLATFORM

Reciprocity Clause Already Objected to—Boundary Question May Be Touched.

Chicago, June 21.—The Republican national convention, the thirteenth in the party's history, met in the Coliseum at noon to-day and organized. The grand climax, the nominations, will not be reached until the third day.

Henry C. Payne, chairman of the convention, was presented with a handsome gold gavel by the citizens of Chicago.

Hon. Elihu Root was chosen temporary chairman. At 2 p.m. the convention adjourned, after formal proceedings, until to-morrow.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks is the ticket and, according to Secretary of the Treasury Shaw: "The tariff will be the issue upon which the Republican party will win in this campaign. Conditions now are no different from what they were in 1900, and with the reiteration of the utterances of the party as to politics I can see nothing to prevent our again being victorious. It is a case of 'stand pat' with us on the tariff."

All about of the nomination of Senator Fairbanks for vice-president was virtually removed to-day. Railroad influence was so conspicuous to-day in support of Fairbanks that many men who are in position to know what is going on behind the scenes in national politics wonder if Fairbanks is the man the railroads and financiers have picked out for president in 1908.

Grand Master Lapp, in his address, spoke of the necessity of considering the question of raising the rates, as other societies are doing. It might not be necessary for them to raise their rates just at present, but it was just as well to prepare for the future.

The draft platform.
The committee on resolutions met in the grand room of the Auditorium Annex Hotel immediately after the convention adjourned and began by electing Senator Lodge of Massachusetts as chairman, Senator Clark of Wyoming as secretary and D. G. Proctor of Massachusetts as clerk. The full committee then adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow.

When the sub-committee met Senator Lodge for the first time presented his draft of a platform, saying that it was intended largely as a basis for action by the committee. His draft included a plank strongly commending the established Republican policy on tariff and presenting in terse language the necessity of maintaining the protective policy in the interest of American labor and American industries.

There also was a mild declaration on the subject of reciprocity and a pronouncement against trusts, but with a reservation in the interest of "established and legitimate industries."

No Recurrence to Canada.
Mr. Lodge's draft did not contain any declaration on the success of arbitration in the Canadian boundary question, but the other members of the committee suggested a plank covering that point. The remark being made that the fact that Senator Lodge had been a member of that commission should not stand in the way of a proper presentation of it in view of its importance.

The tariff plank is attracting more attention than any other feature of the platform. Already objections have been raised to the wording of plank, and Representative Dalzell and Senator Hansbrough are opposed to the clause relating to reciprocity.

Mr. Dalzell does not want any reference to the subject, while Senator Hansbrough is contending for the suggestion contained in his resolution that was an adjustment of the tariff should be made with regard to enlarged commercial relations with foreign countries.

ADVENTURE SOME VAGABOND CAPT. MARTE OF QUEBEC

Was in Toronto Yesterday En Route, (in a Sailing Skiff, to Chicago.

From Quebec to Toronto in a 17-foot sailing skiff, a gentleman announcing this feat to his credit arrived here yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. He came, and also went, in so unobtrusive a manner, that not more than one or two people around the Yonge-street dock, where he moored his craft and disembarked, were aware that the elderly gentleman who seated himself on Geddes' wharf to calmly await the Lakeshire's hour of outgoing, had travelled hundreds of miles in the means. Yet that was the story he told to a casual passer-by, adding that his name was Captain Marté, and that he was a cousin of the former minister of works.

As to his identity, of course there could be no voucher, since he was recognized by no one, nor did he make reference to any friends or acquaintances in Toronto. Of his French nationality, however, there could be no question, his accent and appearance were testimony enough to that.

The water-worn appearance of the skiff, its utensils, supplies and, above all, the miniature tent it contained, all spoke strongly corroborative evidence of the truth of his assertion about the length of his trip.

Captain Marté became voluble when conversation got a start, and gave much information regarding his method of making the trip, and the way he went up, and moved only by daylight. He explained that his eyesight was poor, and that he could not trust himself to steer a straight course without lights had to be lit. He landed regularly at night, speared his tent and had a good sleep. He secured a supply of food as he travelled.

Very much he enjoyed the trip much, and he wanted to set there in good time, and so was having the skiff taken over the lake by boat. When he got there he was going to take up his solitary journey again. From Chicago he was going to the St. Louis Exposition.

"I suppose you have had some queer experiences?" ventured the interested listener.

The captain laughed, and replied yes, that one of them had been when he had been in the woods and had moored his skiff to a tree.

The captain, who gave his age as 65, is described as having been a well-dressed and carrying a handsome gold watch. He by no means looked his years, and had engaging and sprightly manners.

The Lakeshire was about an hour and a half late in leaving. When the steamer started, he carried away the bold mariner and his cockleshell craft, to begin, if his story be given as true, the second of his long winding course over the waterways to the Windy City.

MR. FLEMING EXONERATED.

William Davies & Company Deal in Boarding of Corner was Proper.

The Wm. Davies & Co., deal, re-rounding of street, was proper.

In the World of June 8, 1904, a letter purporting to be signed by one John Dean of Balm Beach, was published. This letter made charges against Assessment Commissioner Fleming in connection with the building of the Wm. Davies & Co. lot, corner Broadview-avenue and Gerrard-street, and alleged that a much greater price had been paid for the same than the record price mentioned than the property is worth.

Since the publication The World has investigated the whole matter and is satisfied that the letter is a gross libel on Mr. Fleming, and that the agreement made by the Wm. Davies Company was entirely straightforward and proper. The price was largely made of damages, which the Wm. Davies Company claimed and were evidently entitled to by reason of the fact that they had commenced building operations, and the taking of the land by the city caused an entire change of value.

The price paid for the land which was taken from the Wm. Davies Company was the same as the price paid for the land which was taken from the Wm. Davies Company.

As the letter reflected on Mr. Fleming's integrity in the matter, and as it stated that the Wm. Davies Company had been guilty of a gross libel, the charges which appeared therein were entirely withdrawn, and in justice to Mr. Fleming, it is published.

The World desires to express its appreciation of the publication appeared. It was published in good faith, but from most careful enquiries it is found that the charges which appeared therein were entirely withdrawn, and in justice to Mr. Fleming, it is published.

Canada won.

London, June 21.—The Graphic, referring to the resignation of Sir Charles H. E. Eliot, says an epidemic of painful self-consciousness has broken out in the higher ranks of the imperial public service. It was thought to have been isolated in a very violent form in Canada, but somehow the microbes has found its way to South Africa, where the commissioner developed symptoms closely resembling what prostrated Lord Dundonald last week. The Daily Chronicle has invented the phrase "Dundonalding" to designate the resignation of Sir Charles H. E. Eliot. The latter, it declares, has acted more correctly, for he resigned before speaking out to speak out with the clearness of Lord Dundonald and Sir Charles H. E. Eliot, mistaking whether Canadian or British would be pardoned for holding discipline.

SMALLPOX IN TEMISKAMING CARELESSNESS AIDS SPREAD

Official of a Local Health Board Failed to Notify Provincial Health Authorities Promptly.

The provincial board of health report an outbreak of smallpox in the Temiskaming district. The secretary of the board visited Wainnapiet and Sudbury a short time ago and upon enquiry became convinced that the cases of smallpox seen by him owed their origin to unreported cases in or around Halleybury and New Liskeard. An inspector of the board left for the district last week, and so far reports four cases from the steamer Meteor, the crew of which have been quarantined, the vessel fumigated and an assistant medical officer despatched to look after the cases and institute vigorous precautions, the chief of which will be vaccination and isolation of cases and detention of exposed persons.

The regrettable feature of the case is that although the matter was brought to the attention of one of the members of the local board of health by a medical man reporting a case of smallpox, which case the M. H. O. stated subsequently was simply one of impetigo and hence the precautions which ordinarily are instituted, in smallpox, and the board in April passed a resolution referring the whole matter to the provincial board of health, yet thru some neglect or fault on the part of an officer of that local board, the question was not brought to the notice of the provincial authorities. Hence to-day the matter is in the hands of the provincial board of health, and it is due the fact that smallpox has spread in this district to an extent which under a proper course of action it would not have attained.

Now that the provincial board has taken action, it is assured that the local board will assist in every way possible to circumscribe the outbreak, but it will be best if the matter be brought before the full extent of the outbreak is fully ascertained.

VETERANS WERE AT THE STATION TO BID LORD DUNDONALD GOOD-BYE

He May Not Come Back—A Public Testimonial is Mooted.

Major-General the Earl of Dundonald left the city for Ottawa at 10 o'clock last night. His lordship was accompanied by Captain Newton, A.D.C., and his private secretary. A considerable number of citizens gathered on the platform among them a deputation representing the old soldiers of the city, imperial veterans, as they said, who had only heard at 6 o'clock of Lord Dundonald's departure, or they would have numbered a couple of hundred more. They refused to give their names, as it would not be fair, they stated, to others who would have been glad to be present if there had been time to notify them. One of the men wearing a medal with six bars, and standing head and shoulders over everyone else, was Corporal John Cameron, late of the 2nd Life Guards, Lord Dundonald's old regiment, in which Mr. Cameron served under him for seven years.

"This is my second parting from him," he said, "and if he leaves Canada I'll go to Ottawa to see him off. The last time I left him was at Windsor."

Half a dozen of the veterans had been received by Lord Dundonald at the Quebec Hotel, and were entertained at the reception he gave them.

We gave him our names and the names of our regiments, and he said he was pleased to see us, and we were the sort of men that made the country what it is. We told him there were some of the Trent men there, who came out in 1861, and we informed him there was a letter waiting for him in Ottawa with a resolution passed last Thursday night by the veterans."

No Autocrat.
It was the first time he met him, and he said, "I am glad to know what an officer is from old experience. He's no autocrat, and you can tell that to the ministers or anyone."

To Organize a Testimonial.
There is a movement among prominent and representative citizens to organize a testimonial of some kind to Lord Dundonald, and it is probable that a banquet and reception will be given to him when he returns to Ottawa. Nothing definite will be settled until parliament has disposed of the question of his dismissal. The committee which is being spoken of will represent every shade of sentiment, and will contribute a tribute to the man, apart from other considerations.

PREFONTAINE WILL ENQUIRE ON BOURASSA'S REQUEST

Member for Labelle on Trail of British Consul Who Didn't Recognize Canadian Ensign.

Ottawa, June 21.—(Special.)—The angry passions of Henri Bourassa, M.P., are once more aflame. A British consul somewhere down in the Argentine Republic applied the torch.

As Mr. Bourassa cast his eyes over the columns of Le Canada to-day, he read of a captain of a Canadian ship who, putting into a port in the Argentine Republic, was required to haul down the Canadian flag and replace it with the British flag.

The member for Labelle explained that the Canadian flag had been duly authorized by an imperial act, for which reason he regarded the action of the British consul in question not only as an insult to Canada, but a defiance of the law.

He demanded an enquiry, and this Hon. Raymond Prefontaine assured him would be made without delay. If the facts were as reported, and if there was any remedy the minister of marine promised that it should be applied.

WAR CORRESPONDENT WAS PRISONER IN PORT ARTHUR

Tells of His Capture and Confinement—Russians Treated Him Kindly.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 21.—The News to-day received from its special war correspondent, Hector Fuller, who effected an entrance into Port Arthur, where he was imprisoned five days before he was ordered from the fortress, a special cablegram, dated Chefoo, June 21, in which Fuller gave his experience, as follows:

"After being rowed across from the Miautao Islands, in an open boat, by two Chinamen, I landed at Louisa Bay. The bay is near Port Arthur, and is separated from it by a range of hills. The bay was occupied by a Russian fleet of four torpedo boats, two destroyers, and two cruisers. I landed at daybreak on the morning of June 19 without detection.

"With the full coming of the day I could see that every hilltop near the shore was alive with soldiers, busily engaged in strengthening the already formidable fortifications, which occupied every point of vantage. It looked at first as though it would be impossible to pass thru the lines and make my way over the hills toward Port Arthur, but by keeping down in the narrow valleys, which were free of soldiers, I gradually made my way into the interior of the peninsula. In this way, after a day and night of effort, I succeeded in reaching Port Arthur, and in the morning of my position became so obvious that the same day, Saturday, June 11, I was present on the return to Louisa Bay. I am presently camped in sight of the body of Russian infantry, when I took refuge in a Chinese village, where I found a hiding place until danger was over.

Reached Port Arthur Blindfolded.
I had proceeded far from the village when I came upon a small party of sappers. In order to avoid them, I made a dash up a hill, only to run into another regiment, engaged in digging entrenchments. Instantly I was surrounded. There was no possibility of escape. The officers in command detailed a guard to take me to Pigeon Bay. There I was searched. I was stripped of my arms and all my garments were subjected to the closest scrutiny. My money was taken and all the papers in my possession were examined. Thereupon I was blindfolded and marched to Port Arthur. The route taken was over the military road, which has recently been constructed. In spite of the bandage over my eyes, I was able to note that the road is of admirable construction, along which troops and artillery could move easily and rapidly. Port Arthur was full of life and gaiety, quite out of keeping with the stories of distress that had reached Chefoo; indeed, nothing of this sort was observable. There seemed to be abundance of supplies, and fresh supplies were coming in from Chinese sources. The Japanese blockades not having been effective, the harbor city had been effective. The harbor city had been effective. The harbor city had been effective.
