Madison Square Bench Show. NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—More than two thousand dogs were benched at the Madison Square Garden to-day for the annual muster of the finest of their breed, under the auspices of the Westminster Kennel Club. Some new specimens of old breeds were shown, including old Irish wolf-

hounds, which have not been seen at a dog show in this city for years. Especially noteworthy were the Scotch terriers, which, heretofore, have been shown in the miscellaneous class, will be shown in separate classes this year and will be seen, hitched up.

In the bloodhound division many fine dogs are shown, including Dr. Knox's Mastiff, while both the St. Bernard and Great Dane classes are well filled. The presence of the Valley Farm Kennel dogs from the Russian wolfhound classes has resulted in the largest entry list ever seen in New York in this breed. In the foxhound division were shown the Grafton hounds and those of the Wavell, Kennels and of the Middlesex Hunt Club. Among the pointers are several champions, including Val Verde, Farewell, George Bleistien and W. T. Payne.

San Francisco sent two collies of Wm. Ellery, including Val Verde, Farewell, which are expected to hold their own against eastern champions. Thursday night the dogs recently added to the New York Police Force will be exhibited, including a patrolman, attacking a suspect, and stopping an escaping prisoner.
