Sensitiveness of the Compass.

Here is a strange tale of the sea revealed in a recent admiralty order. In compass of one of H. M. ship's suddenly became strangely and violently deflected. After a host of imaginative speculations the helmsman bravely wondered whether his magnetic compass had anything to do with the matter. Investigation disclosed the fact that this instrument was highly magnetic and was being used for the various purposes. So the sailor was to be sent to the wheel. May this discovery supply the key to any nautical mystery never yet satisfactorily explained in London path.
