POLICE COURT
Several Cases Gone Into—Evidence About Break in Lunch Wagon

In the police court this morning a case against James Devlin and Arthur Perry, who are charged with breaking into Coleman's lunch wagon in North Market street, was resumed. Detective Saunders said that on last Saturday morning, about 5.30 he heard a noise near the lunch wagon. It sounded like a cash register bell. On approaching he saw the shadow of two people inside. He said he went in, but the two ran to the other end of the wagon to an open window. The detective said that he told them to stop or he would shoot. On hearing that they halted and they were arrested. The detective also told of making his rounds at 4.30 and finding the door and a trap door securely fastened, but investigating after the break, he found both open and the locks broken. He said that his place was broken into a short time ago and $5 stolen, so the police were keeping a close watch on it. Ernest Weldon, an employee in the lunch wagon, told of fastening the doors the night before and of finding them broken as Detective Saunders described. He also told of a break a short time ago when the money was taken, but said that no money was stolen this time, as the cash register was left empty.

Isaac Ross, another employee gave corroborative evidence. The case was postponed until Tuesday morning.

A case against William Sharkey, J. Collins and Tony Mavarakos, charged with assaulting Policeman Keirstead, July 28, was resumed.

Dr. R. J. Dolan told of Policeman Keirstead being brought to the General Public Hospital and of his condition. By request of E. S. Ritchie, counsel for William Sharkey, the doctor examined Sharkey in court and said he found a scar on his nose and one over his eye, but could not tell how long ago the injury had been inflicted. The case was postponed until Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock. Thomas Sweeney and E. S. Ritchie appeared for the defendants.

A case against James Moore, William Moore and a youth charged with breaking and entering a box car in the C. N. R. yards and stealing goods was resumed. William Ward, Sergeant Detective Power gave evidence and the case was postponed until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

STEAMER SERVICE ON ST. JOHN RIVER

A Well Founded Reply to Criticism—What Lightning Did—A Box Social

Between thirty and forty people from the city motored to the Landing on Wednesday evening to attend the box social and dance in the pavilion. One party of twelve young people went up in a motor bus. There were also parties from Ingleside, Belyca, and Brown's Flats, and a group of young men in a yacht from Newforth. The pavilion was filled with dancers who enjoyed themselves till nearly midnight.

The frame of the new pavilion at Ononette stands out attractively, as seen from the river steamers. It will soon be completed. A large number of passengers went up river on the Ononette on Wednesday. Indeed that is a daily experience as the river traffic is so heavy for a number of summers past. Many city people are scattered along the Reach greatly enjoying the summer days. No steamer on the river ever had a better working team than Captains Flewelling and Taylor of the Ononette. Not only are they careful navigators, but so personally obliging that they will go out of their way to do a kindness for any patron of the service, which is a great boon to the people between the city and Wickham.

Captain Taylor, referring to some published criticisms of the general inadequacy of the river steamer service, readily assented that there was room for improvement, but pointed out that in the first place the war had reduced traffic for more than four years; and in the second place that neither the critics nor anybody else seemed eager to invest money in such a service as was desired. There was an opportunity to put money into steamers and hotels, but it would mean a large initial expenditure. If instead of knocking, everybody would boost something might be accomplished.

There is a great birch tree on a hillside behind Public Landing many of whose leaves show the yellow of autumn against an otherwise unbroken sweep of green in field and foliage. This tree was struck by lightning in a recent terrible storm, and strips of the bark were found more than 170 feet away. The same stroke caused the death of a calf near Charles Parker's barn. It was tethered in the grass. It showed signs of illness for two days and then Allan and investigation showed that the hair had been burned off one side of one of its fore legs and the flesh seared as by fire. Mr. Parker himself, in an adjoining field, felt dazed for a moment after the blinding flash.

ALLAN-TOTTEN

A wedding of interest took place on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Reformed Baptist parsonage, when Rev. W. W. Howe united in marriage William Allan and Miss Marjorie Totten. The bride looked charming in blue silk trimmed with white and white hat. She was attended by Miss Elsie Farris, who wore blue silk with pink hat trimmed with grey. The groom was attended by his brother, William Allan. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the groom, where a sumptuous supper was served. Only immediate friends and relatives were present. The wedding presents, which were both costly and numerous, consisted of cut glass, silver, china and furniture. The bride's gift from her parents was in money. The groom, who is a returned soldier, served several months in France with the 26th Battalion, later being transferred to the 25th. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Allan wish them many years of happy married life.
