PROGRESS IN ART.

During the past few years there has een noticeable all over America the development of a keener interest in native art, a truer appreciation of the work of home talent and an inclinaion to assist; so far as the public can assist, in encouraging greater effort. There is also noticeable a broader ninded view as to the value of paintng and sculpture as a factor in educaion, and from time to time municipaliies are known to expend for monuments, or on exhibtions, sums of ments, or on exhibitions, sums of money which if laid out for the same purpose only a few years ago would have been considered thrown away. In almost all of the provincial and other exhibitions held during the past season greater attention than ever has been given to the art exhibits and in some instances these have been recorded as among the most prominent.

She mastered young Vindictive; oh! the gallant lass was she, and won the race, as near as near could be; But he killed her at the brook against a pollard willow tree, Oh! he killed her at the brook, the brute! for all the world to see.

And no one but the baby cried for poor Lorraine, Loree!

PEN AS RAZOR. LONDON, Jany. 1. — An amusing story is told by a convict just released from Parkhurst prison of how he managed to have a clean shave every day, to the astonishment of the governor and warders. When employed in the tinsmith's shop of the jail he secreted an ordinary steel pen nib, flattened the nib out and put on a double edge equal to the best of razors. In the cell he hid the pen on the wall by covering it with a flattened-out piece of soap, which happened to be of the same curiously drab color as the wall, and when his tin of water came round he reser-

The new order does not apply to lobsters.

About a score of the clam diggers held a meeting today and declared that they would not submit to the edict, but no definite course of action was agreed upon.

It is claimed by the State Board of Health that claims taken within certain limits, especially from flats under the course of the sewer outlets, contain considerable quantities of bacteria of a harmful nature.

Clams were being dug by the Indians when the first white settlers arrived in Boston harbor.

LEFT MUCH FOR CHARITY

NEW fORK, Jan. 2.—A despatch from London, says the Daily Mail, quotes intimate friends of the late Lady Burdette-Coutts as saying it is unlikely that her will contains large bequests to charity and that the bulk of her fortune will go to her husband, Wm. Lehman Ashmead Bartlett-Burdett-Coutts, who is a son of the late Ellis Bartlett, of Plymouth, Mass.

September fair was for the first time made one of the leading attractions.

This feeling, which it is to be hoped will grow, is the direct outcome of a campaign adopted by leading magazines, nearly every publication of importance in America has for the past few years been devoting more than the ordinary amount of attention to the work of native artists, and the continued reading of such articles as named Hindrik Von Meurs. He came second class, but he had $7,500 on him. He was a Masseur, and he could not speak English. Becoming downhearted at not seeing any of his own people, he decided to return home the same day by the Empress of Ireland, sailing for Liverpool.—Halifax Echo.

RAISULI STILL AT LIBERTY.

TANGIER, Jan. 2.—There is no truth in the report that Raisuli has been captured. One of his cadies (or chiefs) was made a prisoner on the charge of sending inflammatory appeals to various tribes inciting them to Holy War. This arrest led to the rumor that the bandit chief was in the hands of the government forces.
