AROUND THE CITY

A False Alarm.
The West End firemen were called out Saturday evening by a false alarm being sent in from box 214.

A Spaniard Coming.
A Spanish steamer left Boston yesterday for this port to load deals for John E. Moore and Co., for England.

A Mill Accident.
The main shaft in Haley Brothers' mill, Broad street, broke on Saturday. The mill will be down for a few days for repairs.

Buried Yesterday.
The funeral of the late John McIntyre took place yesterday afternoon from 273 Brussels street and was largely attended.

Repairs to the Milton.
The Union Foundry Company, which has been making repairs in the engine room of the steamer Milton, completed their work on Saturday.

His Condition More Critical.
Thomas Evans, who is lying in the General Public Hospital with a fractured spine, was reported last night as being worse and he is not expected to live.

Death of An Infant.
There is much sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramsey on the death of their infant twin, Florence Juanita, aged three months and fifteen days. The child was only ill one day and died Saturday night. The other twin is now critically ill, and it is feared that it will also die. The funeral of the infant will take place this afternoon from its parents' residence, 48 Elm street.

An Exciting Runaway.
Saturday afternoon a horse owned by Emerson & Fisher, and attached to a sloop, took fright at an automobile on Union street and ran away. Turning into Mill street it collided with Dr. Roberts' carriage. The carriage was badly damaged and the doctor was thrown out, but fortunately was uninjured. The runaway was stopped on Mill street.

The Census.
The census taking in the city of St. John has not been completed yet, and Commissioner G. K. Berton said last night that he did not know just when it would be finished. In reply to a question he said he had received no complaints from citizens, alleging that the enumerators had missed them. He was satisfied that the enumerators were doing their work in a thorough manner, and that nobody would be missed.

400 Brown Tails Captured.
The invasion of brown tail moths was larger than at first suspected. In all William McIntosh has received about four hundred of the pests, all captured in various parts of the city. Of this number not one female was found, so that the invasion has resulted in no injury to the trees in the city. The largest number captured by any one person was twenty-six; while another interested in the work captured twenty-four. The flight of the brown tail is practically over.

The Maritime board of trade meets in Moncton on Aug. 16th and 17th following days. It is claimed that the business men of the lower provinces have any of the snap and energy displayed by the grain growers of the west, this gathering of the board of trade of the three provinces should be large and its discussions interesting. Just now public interest is focused on Moncton in connection with the oil and natural gas developments near there, and it is understood that one item on the programme is an auto trip for the delegates to the wells.

DETECTIVE CRAWFORD MADE QUICK CAPTURE

Ex-Police Officer Solved Robbery at Welchpool, Campobello, in Creditable Fashion—Secured Two Prisoners.

Robert Crawford, who is head of a detective agency here made a quick and important capture on Friday last at Welchpool, Campobello.

On the night of the 11th inst. the hotel at Welchpool, conducted by Owen Watson, was broken into and about $75 and a quantity of liquor was stolen. The proprietor was awakened when the thieves broke into the cash register, and hastening to the place he grappled with a couple of young men and was roughly handled by them. He was, however, able to identify the men, and on Thursday last communicated with Mr. Crawford who went to the island Friday morning on the Eastern line steamer.

Friday afternoon, after Officer Crawford had been on the island a couple of hours, he managed to arrest Kenneth Johnson and Branwell Clark on suspicion of having made the break and committed the assault. He took the prisoners before Mr. Watson who identified them as the men he caught at the time of the robbery. Officer Crawford immediately took the prisoners to St. Andrews and placed them behind the bars.

A preliminary hearing was commenced in the court on Saturday morning; H. M. Cockburn represented the defendants, and W. G. H. Grimes conducted the case for the prosecution. The case was adjourned until Monday.

The quick manner in which Officer Crawford managed to place the two men under arrest is highly creditable.

SHORE LINE "WILD MAN" CAPTURED YESTERDAY

An Unfortunate Individual Slightly Demented, Though Seemingly Harmless, had Roamed the Woods for Several Days.

The demented man who has been wandering about the woods on the West Side for some time past, was captured yesterday and brought to Fairville and placed in the provincial asylum pending investigation on the part of the authorities. Early yesterday he went to the residence of Mr. Howe, on the Macpherson Road, about 15 miles down the Shore Line from Fairville and asked for food. The man came to the conclusion that he had sustained no serious internal injuries. It is believed that he will not be confined to his home for very long.

The news of the capture quickly spread about the city and as the first reports were to the effect that Mr. Murdoch's injuries were of a very serious nature, there were many expressions of regret. Mr. Murdoch has figured in quite a number of driving accidents in the past and has been badly injured a number of times. Some time ago he secured a new horse, and it was generally supposed to be a reliable animal. Up to Saturday it had been given no indication that it was liable to take fright, and its behavior on Douglas avenue was altogether unexpected.

AN ENJOYABLE OUTING AT WOODMAN'S POINT

Natural History Society Members had a Pleasant Time in a Field Day Excursion on Saturday.

An enjoyable outing was held by the members of the Natural History Society at Woodman's Point on Saturday. The party numbering about 65, left the city by the 1:10 o'clock train for Lingley Station. From there they went in autos placed at their disposal by J. A. Likely, James Doody and F. Peters to Woodman's Point.

Arriving at the Point the afternoon was spent in exploring and many interesting specimens, botanical and others, were gathered by members of the party.

After supper an interesting paper, dealing with the geological history of the neighborhood, prepared by Dr. Matthew, was read by Wm. F. Burditt in the absence of Dr. Matthew.

Rev. Mr. Winters, an English clergyman connected with the work in the east end of London, and who is visiting this province for the first time, was present at the outing and gave an interesting talk contrasting the scenery at Woodman's with that of Italy where he visited last summer. Dr. G. U. Hay gave a few remarks

CITY ENGINEER MURDOCK INJURED WHILE DRIVING

He was Thrown Out of His Carriage on Main Street, Saturday Evening—Mrs. Murdock also Hurt.

Main street was the scene of a bad driving accident Saturday evening, as the result of which William Murdoch, the city engineer, sustained serious injuries, and Mrs. Murdoch, his wife, was giving a bad shaking up. Mr. Murdoch was badly cut about the forehead and was rendered unconscious for some time, but last evening he was reported to be resting comfortably.

During the afternoon Mr. Murdoch accompanied by his wife, drove out to Spruce Lake, on his regular trip of inspection. A little before nine o'clock, as he was driving homeward along Douglas avenue, his horse took fright, apparently at the shadows of some trees thrown across the roadway by the electric lights near the residence of John Russell, Jr. As it shied across the street one of the wheels caught in the street car tracks and was badly twisted, causing the vehicle to wobble in a fashion which increased the fright of the horse.

In spite of Mr. Murdoch's efforts the horse became unmanageable, and tore along the avenue and into Main street at a furious pace. Unable to check the beast, and fearing that the injured wheel would give way, Mr. Murdoch tried to steer the horse into a telegraph pole in front of the Bank of New Brunswick building, in the hope of checking his wild career. The horse just missed colliding with the pole, but the front wheel of the wagon caught, and it was overturned bodily, throwing the occupants violently to the ground. The horse, taking the shaft with him, kept on as far as High street where he was stopped, and was taken in charge by a man named Hammy.

Mr. McLean, a brother of Lieut. Col. McLean, who witnessed the accident, called assistance, and both the victims were carried into Dr. Roberts' office.

Mr. Murdoch was unconscious and it was found that he had sustained a slight concussion of the brain. His forehead was badly cut, and close to the wounds Dr. Roberts had to put in six or seven stitches. Mrs. Murdoch, though badly shaken up, was found to have sustained no serious injuries, and she was soon able to assist her doctor and the nurse in their efforts on behalf of Mr. Murdoch.

Immediately after the accident, G. Murdoch, the son of the city engineer, started for Loch Lomond in an automobile to bring in a daughter of Mr. Murdoch, who is a trained nurse. By the time he returned with his sister, the city engineer had recovered consciousness. He rallied quickly from the shock and about midnight he was placed in an automobile and taken to his residence on Leinster street.

Mr. Murdoch had no bones broken and Dr. Roberts after examining him came to the conclusion that he had sustained no serious internal injuries. It is believed that he will not be confined to his home for very long.

The news of the capture quickly spread about the city and as the first reports were to the effect that Mr. Murdoch's injuries were of a very serious nature, there were many expressions of regret. Mr. Murdoch has figured in quite a number of driving accidents in the past and has been badly injured a number of times.
