The Temple Fair.

In spite of the weather the Temple Fair was in full swing yesterday afternoon and evening. The great Egyptian seeress, Madame Zuleika, was there and by palmistry, told the past, present and future of all who wished to know. This is Madame Zuleika's first public appearance in St. John, and as her foretelling was accurate in the days of the ancient Egyptian kings and even farther back in the dim distant days of antiquity, her sayings must be true. The door prize for last evening was a large ham and for this evening a half barrel of flour will be offered.

Halloween in the Y. M. C. A.

All Halloween was celebrated last evening in the Y. M. C. A. with all the time honored customs and rites. About 65 boys, dressed as devils and ushered into a room to meet the ghosts and goblins. Some of the boys were rather started at the sights they met. From this room the boys were led to an apartment decorated with advertising signs minus the heading and were provided with paper and pencil to write a heading for them. Jim Hazen won with S. Gilbert second and A. Stammers third. There they also met the greatest of all the horrors, namely a witch, which proved most mysterious. Photo was also in the room and after shaking hands with him the boys indulged in games, ducking for apples, eating pie with their hands held behind their backs. A programme of music was enjoyed and refreshments were served at the close by the young ladies' league.

EXHIBITION IN ST. ANDREW'S RINK A VERITABLE REVELATION IN THE POSSIBILITIES OF NEW BRUNSWICK AS AN APPLE GROWING COUNTRY.

The N. B. apple show in the St. Andrew's rink being held in connection with the annual convention of the New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association, was gotten well under way yesterday and by the afternoon quite a lot of the judging had been finished. The attendance was fairly good but not nearly as large as the exhibition merits, for to all who are interested in the development of the agricultural and horticultural resources of the province, the showing is a most interesting and enlightening one.

Larger than last year, and better in every way, but particularly in the manner in which the apples were packed for market, thus showing the benefit of one more year's experience on the part of the younger fruit men, the exhibition has much to interest even if one is not particularly versed in apple culture and not familiar with the varieties of the fruit.

All the brands for which this province will build up even a greater reputation than it at present enjoys, are to be seen in abundance, and while it is generally understood that only the choicest fruit is shown on such an occasion as this, yet the excellence of the fruit on exhibition is such that it is fair to infer that the apple crop generally this year is of a very high quality.

Although impossible to individualize, it may be said that the county exhibits are particularly good. The apples are splendidly colored, and very well displayed. This is notably the case with Albert county which, while not so generally well known as the St. John River Valley, as a fruit growing centre, makes, nevertheless, a very fine showing of brilliantly colored apples, perfect as far as all external are concerned.

In uniformity of size and appearance, the river counties' apples seem to have rather the best of it but the finest display in the whole show is that of the provincial department of agriculture. This exhibit was gathered by officials of the department from the demonstration orchards of the province. It consists of 415 boxes of choice apples and should prove a great eye opener as to the apple growing possibilities of the province.

It is safe to say that nothing finer can be seen even in Ontario or Nova Scotia than this display, and it, as well as the whole show, reflects great credit on the agricultural department from the commissioner, Hon. Dr. Laidry, down to all the officials who had to do with the carrying out of the government's wise and aggressive policy of encouraging fruit culture.

If any criticism can be made of the show it is in the department where probably the greatest advancement has been made since last year, namely by the packing of the fruit. It has been said that this department is where the fruit growers of New Brunswick are behind their brethren in other provinces, but every year shows an improvement, although at the present time the packing of the fruit is not as well done as it must be. If apples of New Brunswick are to win that place "in the markets of the world" to which their flavor, color and good keeping qualities entitle them, some of the boxes shown are as well packed as the finest specimens to be seen in Ontario or Nova Scotia. The apple shows but the general average is lower in this department than in any other.

More attention to packing and a larger crop, which means an increase in the orchard acreage, and the apples of New Brunswick can more than hold their own against the best in the world.

Among the well known members of the council who retired are Couns. Branscombe Havelock; Frank Freeze, Cardwell; W. A. Smiley, Sussex; J. A. Ureghar, Springfield; E. A. Flewelling, Kingston, and Ballantine Westfield. The two last named have been connected with the county council for a long term of years. Coun. Branscombe who was warden in the council previous to the one now retiring, was also one of the old timers.

The new council contains about 20 Conservative members and 10 Liberals.

FRUIT GROWERS OPEN THEIR ANNUAL MEETING

Session Held in Connection with N.B. Apple Show, Yesterday Afternoon -- Futurity Prizes for Apple Orchards.

The annual meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association, held at St. Andrew's rink yesterday afternoon was well attended. The treasurer's report showed that the total receipts, including the balance carried over from the previous year, were $76.90, and the expenditures, $27.76. President Yroom in his annual address referred to the increasing interest being shown in fruit raising and predicted that it would become one of the most important industries of the province.

A long discussion took place on the question of giving futurity prizes to the best two acres and the best six acres of orchards planted in 1912 and 1913, the judging to take place in 1916 and 1917. The executive of the association was delegated to take up the proposition with the department of agriculture, and try to arrange to have the suggestion carried out. It is proposed that a prize of $1,000 be offered for each competition.

The matter of defining a standard size for No. 1 and No. 2 grades in the different varieties of apples was discussed by Tappan Adams and others, and the question will be further considered. The election of the officers was postponed till today.

Symptoms of Defective Eyes

Are not always found in poor vision. Many people enjoy clear, distinct vision and still have defective eyes, of which they are not conscious.

Headaches, nervousness, neuralgia, indigestion and many other disorders are frequently symptoms of serious eye troubles which a pair of glasses properly correcting the defects in the eyes will entirely relieve.

Better let us examine your eyes and tell you if they are in need of help.
