The church fair given by the R. C. congregation of the village on the church grounds Wednesday and Thursday was very well patronized and was a grand success. The grounds and booths were prettily decorated. The refreshment tables were attended to by very attentive waiters. A fancy table managed by Mrs. S. J. Melanson and Mrs. A. J. Melanson was one of the attractions. Ice cream, candy and cooling drinks were also disposed of. The election to decide who was more popular, a town or village young lady, occasioned much interest in the campaign by the friends of the pretty contestants, Miss Rita Wilbur and Miss Aggie Melanson. The latter, who was the villagalady, was elected. The contest increased the funds by about $700.
