NEWS FROM OTTAWA THE BEST

THE MARITIME PROVINCES HAVE

HEARD OF MANY A DAY

Friday, Jan. 27. St. John lumber merchants whom the Telegraph talked last evening were reluctant to speak of the tariff change in detail until they had seen the complete list of articles affected, which at that time was not available, but like most other people who had heard of the agreement, they warmly welcomed the prospect for free lumber, which they said would eventually be a great thing for the lumber interests of this province.

The Pike-lav, under which American lumber floated down the St. John river goes into the United States duty free goes into existence August 1 next, and if its abrogation is followed by the removal of the duties on all rough sawn lumber on both sides of the line, which will include both shingles and laths, the market for everything cut in New Brunswick will be very greatly widened, and particularly after the first few months will be greatly stimulated.

At the present time, in the face of the existing duty, most manufacturers of lumber have been shipping to the English market, but with the duty off, the nearest market will be the United States, and the demand for all New Brunswick lumber would necessarily be very much increased.

This would result in a direct benefit to all classes of New Brunswick lumber by reason of the increased activity in the market on the free list and that there are also to be reductions on such things as coal and flour, was very generally received as good news in St. John last evening for it was realized by all who heard that it if

Amendment to Original Petition Offered in Court and Admitted by His Honor

GIVES THE DETAILS OF SENSATIONAL CHARGES

Serious Accusation Against Members of Company—A. P. Hazen on Stand in Connection With Statements of President, Vice-president and Secretary—Provisional Liquidator—Court Adjourned Until Saturday Afternoon.

RECIPROcity WILL BE BENEFIT CANADA

President of New Brunswick Farmers and Dairymen's Association Elated—Manitoba Farmers See Boom Ahead—Montreal Witness Hands the Protected Interests Some Hard Knocks.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—The Witness after reviewing the blue print set up by the protectionists every time there was danger of a reduction of tariff, argues that reciprocity should benefit Canada more than the United States, owing to the larger market it affords this country, and adds: "Our protectionists, however, prefer to operate within barred wire fence so long as they can bleed the Canadian people to their own enormous and often immoral profit. Their cry of ruin, whenever there is any proposal to throw off any of the shackles in the slightest degree could be entertained with more patience if the industries they have under their thumbs had not been in many cases watered and over-watered so far as their stocks are concerned, and if the Canadian people did not have to pay dividends on that water in almost everything they use and wear."

"Yet we are asked to pity the poor millionaires whose companies are in some instances clearing over twenty per cent. and many in the neighborhood of ten per cent. on the capital invested but on lakes of water as well. We at least are convinced that this reciprocal agreement, if entered into, will be mutually advantageous to both countries, and will cement their friendly relations."

"As for depletion of forests, there is no danger of that if we have efficient forestry laws efficiently administered."

Means Much to N. B. Farmers.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 27.—The announcement of the tariff agreement was well received by all classes in this section, and has been much discussed today by business men and shippers. All seem to be in the dawn of a new era of prosperity for New Brunswick, especially along agricultural lines. It is also looked upon as a strong argument for the early construction of the St. John Valley Railway.

S. B. Hatheway, president of the Farmers' and Dairymen's Association, and one of the delegates who went to Ottawa, in conference yesterday afternoon, expressed himself as being delighted with the agreement reached.

"It looks as if we had got all we could get out of the tariff agreement," he said. "We told the government that we wanted free interchange of the products of the farm, such as potatoes, hay and turpins, and we also asked that rough lumber should be admitted to the United States free of duty. The agreement arrived at will be of the greatest benefit to New Brunswick, and will do much to improve agriculture generally."

C. N. Goodspeed, shipper of farm products, also spoke most enthusiastically in regard to the agreement.

Others who expressed their opinion that tariff changes would mean greater prosperity for New Brunswick, included George W. Hodge, F. B. Edgescombe, C. F. Chestnut and A. H. FitzGibbon.

Greater Prosperity.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—A. McLaurin of the Campbell Lumber Co., said—

"It is hardly believable that the treaty was agreed to. Should it pass the two houses it would be the greatest event favorable to the Canadian lumber trade since the war. The regulation re pulp is also a big thing for Canada. The only danger is that Americans may come here and build so many mills that they may over-produce. However, we can take care of them."

Mayes and Mr. Puddington are appointed joint liquidators. His honor said he would not consent to the appointment of Mr. Mayes since he was an employee of the company. With the view of a disinterested person appointed provisional liquidator the court was adjourned over until this afternoon, when this question will be again taken up.

RECIPROcity WILL BE BENEFIT CANADA

President of New Brunswick Farmers and Dairymen's Association Elated—Manitoba Farmers See Boom Ahead—Montreal Witness Hands the Protected Interests Some Hard Knocks.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—The Witness after reviewing the blue print set up by the protectionists every time there was danger of a reduction of tariff, argues that reciprocity should benefit Canada more than the United States, owing to the larger market it affords this country, and adds: "Our protectionists, however, prefer to operate within barred wire fence so long as they can bleed the Canadian people to their own enormous and often immoral profit. Their cry of ruin, whenever there is any proposal to throw off any of the shackles in the slightest degree could be entertained with more patience if the industries they have under their thumbs had not been in many cases watered and over-watered so far as their stocks are concerned, and if the Canadian people did not have to pay dividends on that water in almost everything they use and wear."

"Yet we are asked to pity the poor millionaires whose companies are in some instances clearing over twenty per cent. and many in the neighborhood of ten per cent. on the capital invested but on lakes of water as well. We at least are convinced that this reciprocal agreement, if entered into, will be mutually advantageous to both countries, and will cement their friendly relations."

"As for depletion of forests, there is no danger of that if we have efficient forestry laws efficiently administered."

Means Much to N. B. Farmers.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 27.—The announcement of the tariff agreement was well received by all classes in this section, and has been much discussed today by business men and shippers. All seem to be in the dawn of a new era of prosperity for New Brunswick, especially along agricultural lines. It is also looked upon as a strong argument for the early construction of the St. John Valley Railway.

S. B. Hatheway, president of the Farmers' and Dairymen's Association, and one of the delegates who went to Ottawa, in conference yesterday afternoon, expressed himself as being delighted with the agreement reached.

"It looks as if we had got all we could get out of the tariff agreement," he said. "We told the government that we wanted free interchange of the products of the farm, such as potatoes, hay and turpins, and we also asked that rough lumber should be admitted to the United States free of duty. The agreement arrived at will be of the greatest benefit to New Brunswick, and will do much to improve agriculture generally."

C. N. Goodspeed, shipper of farm products, also spoke most enthusiastically in regard to the agreement.

Others who expressed their opinion that tariff changes would mean greater prosperity for New Brunswick, included George W. Hodge, F. B. Edgescombe, C. F. Chestnut and A. H. FitzGibbon.

Greater Prosperity.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—A. McLaurin of the Campbell Lumber Co., said—

"It is hardly believable that the treaty was agreed to. Should it pass the two houses it would be the greatest event favorable to the Canadian lumber trade since the war. The regulation re pulp is also a big thing for Canada. The only danger is that Americans may come here and build so many mills that they may over-produce. However, we can take care of them."

Mayes and Mr. Puddington are appointed joint liquidators. His honor said he would not consent to the appointment of Mr. Mayes since he was an employee of the company. With the view of a disinterested person appointed provisional liquidator the court was adjourned over until this afternoon, when this question will be again taken up.
