FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 13.

Woman and Teacher.

Is there a want in the human system that only tobacco can supply, or is the appetite for it wholly unnatural? It would seem as though it were one of the necessities of life, judging from the disgusting manner in which it has begun to be used by those to whom custom forbids the use of smoking and snuffing. The women of the United States, deprived by fashion of the right to smoke, are adopting the vile practice of "snuff dipping" to an extent that seems almost incredible. One New York firm alone manufactures over 150,000 pipes of this vilely prepared snuff for "dipping" purposes, and there are many firms engaged in this increasing business. There are two kinds of snuff made for this purpose, salt Scotch and fresh Scotch, one having common salt mixed with it. The practice is called "dipping" because the pipe is dipped into a tin of snuff, and the pipe is held in the mouth and the snuff is drawn up into the nostrils. The following nauseating description is given of the New York method of dipping:—"The dipper is provided with a small spoon, about half the size of a common teaspoon, with which she dips a sufficient quantity of snuff from her bottle, holding her lower lip with the thumb and forefinger of her left hand, she draws it well forward and fills the cavity with the bonne bouche contained in the spoon. There she lets it remain until it is gradually diffused through her mouth, expounding the while in a manner that would do credit to a veteran." The other method, the one employed in the Eastern, Middle and Southern States, is to dip the snuff up with the chewed end of a stick and rub it on the teeth and gums.

CURRENT COIN.

The Standard laments the absence of a barter in St. Andrews, and the Herald has a column devoted to the subject. An English paper reports that the great fire in Nottingham was caused by workmen who had a prejudice respecting the patent machinery used at the works. Jurists are beginning to take insurance officers that when they take a man's money, and agree to make him whole in case of loss, fraud alone can stand between the insured and the cash.

The Westmorland Agricultural and Horticultural Society held their annual exhibition on the 12th and 13th of next month. All New Brunswick and Cumberland Co., Nova Scotia, are allowed to compete for prizes.

Dr. J. D. Ross writes to the Moncton Times that the Harris family, who took so suddenly sick after a heavy meal, were poisoned by exposure to the sun's rays. Poisoned potatoes can be detected by their green appearance.

The Government Programme.

The feeling of the administration party, in reference to the Louisiana case, is undoubtedly in favor of putting down the revolutionists with an iron hand. There is no pity for the people who have had to endure the rule of one who was foisted on them by a corrupt Federal Judge, in the administration party of the North, and the military occupation of Louisiana unequivocally demanded the following from the Boston Journal of Wednesday evening fairly and forcibly expresses the spirit of the party in this crisis:

We are within the range of civil war against the State Government has been subverted by an armed mob, and the Federal Government has not done one thing to suppress and the insurrectionary movement. Of course I can do but one thing. The insurrection must be suppressed, and the perpetrators of the law-abiding citizens. New Orleans is not a free State, it is a military occupation. We have gained nothing by our country of free government as called, we held nothing to-day that we call our own by a secure tenure—neither our property, our rights nor our lives are safe. It will take the legal authorities and then assume to offend the State or community from their own ranks, and have their monstrous delusions respected and obeyed. What are these New Orleans mob doing to their aid when they pretend that because they have been at first successful in their audacious matter is all ended and peace is restored! They will find that there is no peace till the defiant wrongs are crushed and its perpetrators dealt with as their guilt demands. All the available power of the army and navy, and the field in person, if it is necessary. This is the true spirit for the hour. The very foundation of the nation and the promptings of patriotism will make the loyal masses of the nation a unit, and support of whatever vigorous measures their Government shall see fit to take in this crisis.

On the other hand the Democratic papers unanimously oppose Federal interference. They declare that the wrongs that have been endured by the people in consequence of Kellogg's election frauds and the corrupt and tyrannical decision of a U. S. court justify the action they have taken, and deprecate the doctrine that such a rising of almost the whole people for the overthrow of a usurping Executive is rebellion or mob rule. Even the most philosophical and patriotic of the Democratic press—papers who were loyal to the Union and the cause for which Grant fought in the Wilderness, Lincoln died at Washington, and Sherman marched to the sea, cannot be doubted, declare that no public interests, and nothing but partisan aims, necessitate any interference with the internal affairs of Louisiana in assisting a teacher who refuses to allow a boy to attend school barefooted. The boy has shoes, his father is able to provide him with shoes, and the boy is sent barefooted because the father wants to make the teacher back down. The Trustees do not de-side that a barefooted boy may not attend the public schools, but only refuse to interfere in a private quarrel between a teacher and a father! This is in substance, the Courier's defence of the Trustees. "A private quarrel!" Just as though an official body, the representatives of the people, and the guardians of the people's rights and money, should recognize a private quarrel between a servant of the public and a citizen, or allow any matter to influence their action on a matter involving a grave principle! It is childish, criminal, idiotic, for a Board of School Trustees to uphold a teacher in doing wrong because he will have to back down by doing right. The Board should either admit that he has done wrong, or else teach that teacher a lesson that he needs badly. A private quarrel!

AUCTIONS.

The DAILY TRIBUNE and all the most popular Canadian, English and American newspapers and magazines can always be obtained at the bookstore of Mr. W. K. Crawford, King Street.

Personal.

A. M. Reed, of the Boston Daily News, is in the city. He leaves for Yarmouth this evening, and will return in time for the Montreal race.

Rev. Mr. Barras has resigned the Pastorate of the Baptist Church, Moncton. Samuel Watts, Esq., editor of the Woodstock Sentinel, is in town.

Brevities.

Thermometer—at noon to-day—57°.
The Apron Fair was closed last evening by an action. It was very successful.

Henry Leary, a lad living in Pond Street, was run over yesterday afternoon by an express wagon and seriously injured.

The Windsor and Annapolis Railway and Messrs. Small & Hatheway have arranged an excursion from Halifax for the Brown-Morris race. The excursionists can leave Halifax on Thursday and return Saturday.

Mr. Knowles says that the Iceland celebration passed off with great eclat.

Lee's Opera House should have a good audience this evening and to-morrow afternoon, as the performances will afford much innocent amusement to old and young.

A heavy east coast storm is reported to-day on the coast, and the storm drum is up in consequence.

A sailor attempted to manage a sailboat in the harbor, yesterday afternoon, and dived her with water. For some time he was in imminent danger of drowning, but was rescued by Mr. Harry King.

The St. John and Atlantic base ball clubs play their second match on the championship this afternoon, on the Barrack Square. Won't the championship question get a little mixed before the season closes?

A betting case was settled in the City Court yesterday afternoon. William Corbett was stakeholder, in a bet made at the time of the Nicholson-Logan scull race, between McKee and George Adams. McKee was the winner, and Corbett, imagining the race was a fraud, refused to hand over the $15, hence the suit. Judge Peters decided in favor of McKee, as there was no evidence to prove the race a fraud.

Tickets for Mr. Warner's lecture on Shakespeare, at the Academy on Tuesday evening, are 25 cents.

Shakespeare & Co. have just set in running order a new press for book and job work. It was purchased in England, and is built on a new and greatly improved principle as regards motion, arrangement of tapes, etc. This is the second press imported by this firm within a year, and we are glad to notice that their enterprise is rewarded by a steady growth of business.

Gentlemen owing horses, and leaving the same in Prince William street without fastenings, while they run Buxley, the Judges have also been notified that their enterprise is rewarded by a steady growth of business.

At the last races at Moosepath a protest was made against Pump, as it was claimed that the horse was entered under an assumed name and had a false record. The protest was made by Messrs. S. T. Godding, Judges, and was supported by the Directors of the Park, who will give their decision in a day or so. At the time of the races Godding protested against Blamack on account of the record gained at the Spring meeting. In answer to this Dr. Christie shows that the Directors advertised, at the Spring meeting, that any record made should not, during this year, prevent the horses from entering in similar races at other meetings. The Judges sustained Godding's protest, and this decision will also be held before the Directors. In case the Park Directors should decide with the Judges, and refuse to give Godding the money, he will enter a suit against the Association. The trial will be very interesting, and will, perhaps, throw a little light on horse racing in general and at Moosepath in particular. Godding says the Judges are altogether wrong, and that he can produce the best evidence that Pump is all right.

Provincial Appointments.

John C. McClintock, Esq., to be Registrar of Deeds for the County of Victoria. F. R. Munton to be Judge of Probates, pro vice, for King's County in the case of the estate of John J. Ford. James K. Pinderto be Labor Act Commissioner under Act 514 Vite. Chap. 7, for the Parish of Southampton, in room of T. F. Longstaff, and Charles Wright to be Labor Act Commissioner under the same Act, for the Parish of Canterbury, also in room of T. F. Longstaff.

If you want a fine-flavored, prime Havana Cigar, give Lawton Bros. a call, King Square.

To Advertisers.

The present is a good time to make contracts for yearly advertising. The Autumn trade is now coming on, and after it follows the Holiday season. During these two periods wholesalers and retail dealers do more advertising, and probably require more advertisement space for expenditure in that way than in all the rest of the year.

The DAILY TRIBUNE is admittedly one of the best mediums for advertising. Making its daily visits to the counting-rooms, stores, workshops and homes of the people, it is eagerly looked for and read by citizens of every shade in politics and by all intelligent classes of society.

The WEEKLY TRIBUNE is to the agricultural districts what the DAILY is to the crowded city—a welcome visitor, always bringing to the homes of our country the news of the city and outside world, fresh, crisp and entertaining. Its value as an advertiser is first-class, and is worth the patronage of judicious men of business.

Rates for advertising in the DAILY and WEEKLY editions of the TRIBUNE may be ascertained and contracts made at the Counting Room, No. 51 Prince William Street.

Arrival of George Brown.

The Halifax champion arrived last evening by the steamer Empress, about 10 o'clock, having been delayed by very rough weather while crossing the bay. A large crowd met to prevent the champion from falling into the water. The result was that he was fined $20. The vessel is consigned to G. W. Stewart & Co., and a young man from that firm was with the captain. He promised to send the money up, but the Magistrate looked a little dubious, and informed him that his firm had played him out. A sailor of one of their vessels had been put in jail for desertion and kept some weeks, eating good roast beef, soup, &c., at the expense of the county, and they had allowed the vessel to go without paying the bill, and the sailor had lost all his clothes. He had written to the county officer about the affair, but had received no answer. For this reason he was not allowed to let the fine stand any time. If the young man would promise to send the money not later than to-day the captain might depart. The promise was given and they left the court room.

Two men women had a dispute to settle. Each one was attended by a boy and a husband, and for a while the room was filled. The Magistrate took a fatherly interest in the boys, and made one promise not to beat the other, which was the cause of all the trouble, and told all to go home. The old fellow was not inclined to be dismissed so summarily, and each told a long story. Mrs. Lane had threatened to pull all Mrs. Morrison's hair out, and the latter had called her a "dirty Catholic." Then the men had a round of abuse, in defence of their wives, until the Magistrate tired, and blessing the children, bade them all depart and live in peace.

A Vested Right in Light—Important Equity Suit—Burg vs. Pagnely.

Quite an interest is manifested in an equity suit now pending in the County Court. The defendants, the Messrs. Pagnely, are putting a French roof on a block of buildings in Wellington Row, adjoining the residence of S. Bang, Esq., and the roof partially covers the windows of the attic rooms in the house. An injunction has been granted by Judge Wetmore to compel the defendants to stop work. The plaintiff claims that the roof obstructs light that has been freely admitted to the building for over twenty years. On the 12th inst. a motion was made before Judge Weldon, at Chambers in Fredericton, to dissolve the injunction. W. H. Tuck, Esq., will argue in favor of the injunction being made perpetual, and on the other side are arrayed Messrs. Pagnely, Crawford, Pagnely, C. N. Skinner and S. R. Thomson. The case is one bristling with legal points, and the decision will be awaited with much interest by many who are interested in the vexed light question.

Impropriety of Physicians.—

It has always been said that physicians rarely require any remedy, however valuable, which they did not originate themselves. This has been disproved by their course towards Dr. J. C. Ayer's preparations. They have adopted them into general use in their practice, which shows a willingness to countenance articles that have intrinsic merits which deserve their attention. This does the learned profession great credit, and effectually contradicts the prevalent erroneous notion that their opposition to proprietary remedies is based in their interest to discard them. We have always had confidence in the honorable motives of our medical men, and are glad to find it sustained by the liberal welcome they accord to such remedies as Ayer & Co.'s invaluable remedies, even though they are not ordered in the books, but are made known to the people through the newspapers.—New Orleans Delta.

Cupid and Creeds.

A fresh impetus has recently been given to the war of creeds in Westmorland County by the conversion of a daughter of an Episcopalian clergyman, Rev. D. M. Bliss, Rector of Westmorland, to the faith of the Church of Rome, and her subsequent marriage, by a Catholic priest, to a professional gentleman of that faith. What seems most to have aroused the ire of the parishioners is the report that the ceremony of receiving the fair one into the true Church was performed at the residence of her father, by his request, the Catholic clergyman having been driven from Amherst, through a heavy rain storm, for that purpose. After the prospective bride had embraced the faith, a special indulgence was sent per telegraph by the Archbishop to permit the marriage to be performed outside of the sacred walls of the Church.

This is the way a colored preacher at Richmond arranged his hearers for mutual convenience: "De fore part ob church will please sit down so de hind part ob church can see de fore part, de hind part can see de fore part, de hind part can see de fore part, de hind part can see de fore part."

Shipping News.

Point Lepreau, Sept. 13, 9 a. m.—Wind E. N. E., strong breeze, cloudy. Scher Ellis G. McLean and three other schooners outward.

New Sackville Vessel.—Capt. B. A. Read's new vessel, the barque Annie Mand, was launched on Thursday last. She registers 445 tons in English Tonnage, and classes A. 1, 7 years.

The barque Willie, belonging to Capt. Miller and others, will be ready for sea in a few days.—Post.

A Prize taken at Sea.—Captain West of the brig. Delta, which arrived at Halifax, 15th, reports that on the 10th inst., the captain of the bark Ranger, bound to New York in ballast, spoke and told him that he had on board the crew of an abandoned bark, which had been dismantled in the gale of Monday, the 7th inst., and that after her crew left her put on board a crew from his own vessel, and the prize crew were bringing the bark to Halifax. The Ranger had her mainmast and rigging-mast when Captain West saw her. She is, no doubt, the Ranger of Yarmouth owned by Messrs. Dennis & Doane, and commanded by Capt. Scott, from Belfast for New York.

English Steamer.—The steamer Prussian, from Liverpool, arrived at St. John's, N. F., on Wednesday, and left at 9 p. m. for Halifax.

Miss De Moorhead at the Institute.

The success of this lady was as great last evening as on any previous occasion, and the Inst. it was crowded. She had an excellent lot of subjects, and her entertainment was almost entirely new. She influenced several persons in the audience, two of whom she drew to the platform. One of the parties resisted for some minutes, but "she" got to her feet, and at length he walked to the stage. She had a village school opened on the platform, which, with the subject who thought himself the Prince of Wales, another being Harum, another a clown, &c., kept the audience in continuous roars of laughter. There will be another performance this evening.

A Boy Arrested on a charge of Murdering his Playmate.

Last week we noticed the drowning of a lad named Bygos at Upper Sackville. Facts have since come to light which place a different phase on the cause of the child's death. On Tuesday a boy named John Manship was arrested for assaulting a son of Mr. Daniel Wheaton, when it was made known by Manship that he had beaten Bygos, since deceased, and had thrown his body into the brook. The charge for assaulting Wheaton was dropped, and information was taken before Justices Wm. Kinnear and Heuben Chase. The examination which commenced yesterday will be continued to-day. We forbear to make any comments on this unfortunate case until all the evidence is taken before the Justices. The advocates of "blissful enterprises" have an opportunity of furnishing their patrons with something sensational.—Borderer.

Parliamentary Police Court.

Ann Carey was found wandering round the streets yesterday, apparently a little under the influence of the ardent, but not enough to be called drunk. It was supposed she was insane, but the doctor refused to give her a certificate that she was, and she was discharged.

City Police Court.

Mary Ann Lock, a squaw, was called to answer a charge of drunkenness in Union street. She said she wasn't very drunk, but the policeman disagreed with her and insisted that she was both very drunk and disorderly. She was fined $6 or two months in the penitentiary. To a kind inquiry of the Magistrate as to where she bought her rum she only said, "Two'n't run at all—'twas ale."

James Stewart confessed to drunkenness in St. John street, and was fined $4.

Andrew Chitley accounted for and his appearance in Court lately by saying that he had been laid up for seven weeks with a sprained knee. He was fined $6 or a couple of months at the crusher for drunkenness in Charlotte street. His young men and his father generally appear together.

Michael Coughlan was charged with assisting Joshua Earle. The complainant is a sailor on the ship King George, lying at Robertson's wharf, and Coughlan is a mate. The mate did not strike him, but butted him in the head, like a "two horned ram," as the Magistrate put it. The assault was not a serious affair, and Earle had been evidently trying to bluff and disgrace his opponent. The officer, a fine of $5 was imposed.

Paulus Pauline was charged by Inspector O'Brien with discharging ballast from the bark Brilliant without a sufficient tarpaulin to prevent the ballast from falling into the harbor. He was warned several times by the Inspector, but, instead of putting out a proper canvas, he chose to go on in his own way. The result was that he was fined $20. The vessel is consigned to G. W. Stewart & Co., and a young man from that firm was with the captain. He promised to send the money up, but the Magistrate looked a little dubious, and informed him that his firm had played him out. A sailor of one of their vessels had been put in jail for desertion and kept some weeks, eating good roast beef, soup, &c., at the expense of the county, and they had allowed the vessel to go without paying the bill, and the sailor had lost all his clothes. He had written to the county officer about the affair, but had received no answer. For this reason he was not allowed to let the fine stand any time. If the young man would promise to send the money not later than to-day the captain might depart. The promise was given and they left the court room.

Two men women had a dispute to settle. Each one was attended by a boy and a husband, and for a while the room was filled. The Magistrate took a fatherly interest in the boys, and made one promise not to beat the other, which was the cause of all the trouble, and told all to go home. The old fellow was not inclined to be dismissed so summarily, and each told a long story. Mrs. Lane had threatened to pull all Mrs. Morrison's hair out, and the latter had called her a "dirty Catholic." Then the men had a round of abuse, in defence of their wives, until the Magistrate tired, and blessing the children, bade them all depart and live in peace.
