Your Oven Gains
by Our Oven Test

Your oven becomes a certain producer of more bread and better bread. We can promise that. For from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. We grind it into flour. We take the flour into bread. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it. There is no guess-work about our promise of more bread and better bread from flour bearing this name.

"More Bread and Better Bread" and
"Better Pastry Too"

So Many Things.
So many things to do,
So short the days,
So many duties laid,
Through unknown ways,
One step thou canst but see,
But faithful still,
Take it all bravely
At his dear will,
So many things to do!
Thou, day by day,
With willing heart and true,
Make glad the way,
Whichever thy footsteps lead,
To help another's need,
While blessing thine,
So many things to do,
But, hour by hour,
God will thy strength renew—
The falling snow,
The falling dew,
And forward go,
To help each understand,
But, day by day.

Women's Institutes.
The Department of Agriculture of Nova Scotia, keenly alive to the best interests of Nova Scotia, introduced into the Province this year a new movement along rather different lines from any work undertaken in the past. The work was the establishing of Women's Institutes, an organization inaugurated some fifteen years ago in Ontario as an offshoot of the Farmer's Agricultural Societies, for the purpose of imparting to the women of Ontario information more closely related to home life and women's work. Intended originally for the farm-wives and daughters, the organization has gradually enlarged until it includes as its members women in every walk of life, who have at heart the welfare of home and community. From Ontario the movement spread into other provinces and wherever an Institute has been established the good accomplished, not only along practical lines but also tending towards greater sociability in rural districts, has been almost incalculable. While the organization has been meeting with success in other places, it has never been found possible or expedient to establish it in Nova Scotia. This past summer, however, the Department of Agriculture, being in a position to establish the work on a firm basis, arranged for a series of meetings to be held in Pictou, Colchester and Cumberland counties during July. The result of these meetings was so encouraging that the Department determined to push the work as rapidly as possible. It was not, however, until the middle of September that it was found possible to arrange another series of meetings, this time in the counties of Hants, Kings and Annapolis. Miss Susie Campbell, of Toronto, Ont., who has been successfully connected with Institute work in that Province for several years, was associated with Miss Jennie A. Fraser in this work. Three districts in Hants, four in Kings and three in Annapolis were visited, meetings were held and many personal calls made. With this campaign did not meet with the complete success that crowned the first journey, still it was felt that good work had been accomplished. The fact that the women of some districts who felt that their time was already overtaxed could not see their way clear to take up Institute work, requested the Department to have the workers visit them on the return trip, was sufficient guarantee that they had seen the necessity and importance of the work. Out of the ten places visited, six were ready to establish and maintain an institute and the interest and enthusiasm displayed when the object was fully understood, was most encouraging.

To Facilitate Farm Credit.
The New York Post says that the first item in President Wilson's programme for the next regular session of Congress calls for legislation for the institution of a system similar to that in existence in certain European countries, under which credit can be easily supplied for farm operations. Acting on a suggestion from him the Banking and Currency Committee of the House will take up this subject immediately. The President will have no farm credits of his own, but will keep in close touch with the men who will undertake this preparation of the legislation. The commission that studied the subject in Europe last summer will soon have its report ready. The report is to be made the basis for the legislation. It has been suggested that the members of the sub-committee make a tour of the United States during November, with the view of informing themselves as to whether the legislative plan, which the commission will suggest, will fit conditions in the United States.

A Million Dollars for Good Roads.
COUNTY COUNCIL OF ESSEX, ONT., PRESENTS BY-LAWS FOR IMPROVING 150 MILES OF ROADWAY.
One of the most important of the many road improvement plans now under way in various parts of Canada, is that just launched in Essex County, Ontario. At a meeting of the Council, on Thursday, October 16, a By-Law was drawn up for presentation to the voters next January. This By-Law calls for the raising of a million dollars to provide for concrete roadways covering no less than 150 miles, and connecting all the important communities of Essex County. The proposed routes of the concrete roads will completely encircle the County, and afford the finest type of highway connection to the farmers for reaching Windsor or in any of the smaller towns.
With the assistance of Engineer Huber, of the Ontario Government, the committee appointed at the last session of the council went over the different roads proposed for paving. Having his recommendation upon the fact that the route will be used for much heavy traffic, Mr. Huber made his report in favour of using concrete throughout.
An interesting feature of the plan as outlined, is the provision of a continuous route of good roads. There have been instances in other communities where otherwise excellent road development ideas were, in a measure, spoiled by failure to have the good road a continuous good road. The Essex County Council have shown their wisdom and far-sightedness by providing for the complete connecting up of the proposed concrete stretches so that in the complete project there will appear no interruptions of unimproved or bad roads. While not in a straight line, the complete series of the road will be in effect, one long, continuous highway all of concrete, and taking in practically the whole of Essex County.
There would seem to be a peculiarly enterprising spirit in the vicinity of the Detroit River. On one side of the River we have Wayne County, Michigan (the principal centre) with approximately one hundred miles of concrete County highways. This magnificent series of highways has been a model for other communities, and has attracted visitors on inspection tours from all over the world. Now comes Essex County, a sister community, on our side of the river, with a plan which bids fair to fully equal that of Wayne County, and which will perhaps, eventually eclipse the splendid road system that is the pride of Michigan. The building of one hundred and fifty miles of concrete highways as Essex County is to have, means a model county from the view point of intercommunication between towns. Doubtless we will find deputations of municipal officers visiting Essex County to obtain pointers on how best to link together the farm communities with the market places. The eyes of all North America will turn toward Essex County and watch with growing interest the completion of this project.

Drunkness Always Dirty.
Drunkness is always dirty and always unclean. When a tough gets drunk the saloon kicks him out and the cop locks him up. A gentleman in his exclusive club or at his dinner-party away from home gets drunk by his friends, aided by stewards, waiters and chauffeurs, get him gently to his automobile and thence home to bed, and the next day it is all a joke. Such distinctions are born of hypocrisy. It is for the sake of social or material gain you change the name, but it cannot change the deed. We can sweep up the bun and cart him off to the penitentiary. Our wives and daughters are at the mercy of the gentleman drunk when he chooses to allow himself to get drunk.

We are short and another week comes around if you talked last week, you need not fall this week. Make your resolutions and keep them. And as you go through all the weeks of the year, be a worker.'

A Look.
Not long since someone queried me as to my favorite bits of verse and prose. I could and did reply readily: Tennyson's 'In Memoriam' and Kipling's 'The Light That Failed'—the one the very antithesis of the other. Tennyson's 'In Memoriam' for its true worth—for its thoughtful yet simple philosophy, not less than for its unsurpassed literary polish. There are those who say—thinking people—that 'In Memoriam' is the finest piece of poetry ever written in English letters. I think they are correct. 'The Light That Failed' I would appreciate the more were it less vividly colored with the outline of that red slaughter of humans, which only Kipling's magic brush can depict. But, after all, the reader is not brought into direct touch with the shock of conflict until 'Pis' catches the eye; and to follow that almost lovable character into a maelstrom of whirling death, to see him meet an untimely and disappointing end, teaches a grand lesson in itself. Perhaps we are wasting words in reviewing this strong tale; it has been read universally. However, it is well worth the recounting. Here we find the same uncutting, rugged garments in which 'The Man From Nowhere' has ever clothed his thoughts. But Kipling dips deeper into the wells or real human nature in this narrative than in any other product of his pen. The scenes through out are startling in their contrast. The big river, with the simple to grip the reader's attention; occasional situations dovetail into floods of pathos. 'Men are but children—grow up!' and the odd charac'eristic and quaint rash pranks of the young Soldier of Fortune created by the Master in Mod'ern Letters, to dwell within his finest work structure, so far as he is concerned, renders that waxen a trueness.

Miss Ruth Rector.

Considered to have the most luxuriant and beautiful hair in New York, Miss Rector says: 'I find a certain pleasure in recommending Saginee as I know Saginee to be a real benefit to women. I had a very hard time trying to dress my hair nice before I used Saginee. It didn't matter what style the hair was being worn my hair was always too dry and lifeless to dress properly. I suffered with dandruff more or less and my hair fell out until it was thin and ragged. My mother urged me to use Saginee as a number of persons had recommended it to her. I used it finally and was only sorry I had not learned of it long before. Saginee has made my hair just as nice and thick as you see it. I have been complimented very much on its unusual beauty. Saginee is now sold in Wolfville, N. S., and costs only 50c. a large bottle. Be sure to go to Hugh E. Callahan's drug store—other stores don't have Saginee.'

Sure Remedy.
A traveller called at a roadside inn in Cheshire for refreshment and rest. 'Bring me a quart of beer,' he said, 'and a bit of bread and cheese.' They were brought to him. 'What is the damage, landlord?' 'Eightpence,' was the reply of the innkeeper, who was a greedy, grasping man. While the traveller was enjoying his repast the landlord happened to complain about being pestered with rats, and the havoc they caused. Said the traveller:— 'Can you tell me how you can get rid of them?' 'I should be very grateful to you if you would,' replied the landlord. 'Oh, its easy enough,' said the traveller. 'First catch one alive; give him a quart of beer and a bit of bread and cheese, charge him eightpence, then let him loose among the others. He'll tell his pals, and you'll never be plagued with rats again.'

Something I can do you, sir? said the floor-walker to a man anxiously walking up and down every long aisle in the big store. 'Well, yes,' answered the man. 'I seem to have lost my wife.' 'Third floor, third aisle,' said the floor-walker. 'You'll find a full line of mourning goods there.'
