MINTO POR THE MONTH OF JULY.

(American Agriculture)

wheat, oats, barley, etc., should be begun before the grain is fully ripe, as it is less liable to shrink and is therefore heavier and of better quality. The straw is worth more if the crop is cut before the grain is tul'y rips, an important consideration on every farm where straw is used for fodder. There is also ion waste for the shelling of the grain in the process of harvesting; while the work can be performed without that hurry and rush which ment be experienced if the grain is left until fair season will begin in a little over two later. A delay from unfavorable weather does | months, and it is none too early to consider not involve a serious loss when the work is the matter. The local fair, whether county began early, and in season.

Corn .- The cultivator should be kept going, to both kill the weeds and pulverize the soil and keep it damp and mellow. When the corn gets large the horse should be maraled that he may not be nibbling at the corn and forget his work among the abundant green fodder. It should be kept in mind that the work of cultivating the corn crop has a great influence upon the growth of the crops that are to follow. The full returns for the work done in the corn fields are not all in when the corn is gathered, a point that should always he borne in mind.

Summer Fallow.—A summer fallow was formerly considered the proper preparation for a wheat crop. Where noed crops are inproduced into a regular rotation of crops, the desired cleaning of the land and pulverization of the soil may be affected without resorting to the more expensive method of fallowing. This being the case, the increase in the amount of roots grown will diminish the acreage devoted to summer fallow.

Wheat.-When wheat follows oats in the rotation, the stubble may be stirred with a caltivator to give the scattered oats's chance to sprout before plowing for the wheat crop. If the oat crop is harvested before the grain is fully ripe, as it should be, there is less need of this precaution.

Turnips.—Flat turnips may be sown this month for early feeding. Although not so profitable for the main crop as Swedes or mangels, they have their place in a tarm system that economizes labor by its uniform distribution throughout the season. Flat turnips are not to be recommended as feed for cows giving milk, but they are valuable for sheep, especially in making a gradual change from grass to the dry feed of winter.

Fodder Corn may be sown in succession directed in June, as late as the middle of this month. The small quick growing varieties are to be preferred. The latter part of July and through the month of August, in our northern climate, the pastures get dry in average seasons, so that a modified soiling system is desirable to secure a full supply of feed for the cows and horses.

Fodder Crops in the shape of Millet or Hungarian grass may be sown during the early part of this month, and as the hay crop is very light in many places, a fodder crop of some kind will be more than usually important this year. The soil for a fodder crop should sither be naturally rich or made so by manuring, or it will not pay to prepare it for any of these quick growing grains which have but little time in which to make their growth, and must get to a good size in order to be Meadows.—As soon as may be after the hay is gathered give the meadows a good top dressing of fine manure. This will produce a thick bottom growth to shade the ground and prevent the soil from drying up and injuring the roots of the grasses.

Water Supply.-An abundant supply of oure water is essential to keep animals in a olthy and thriving condition. The impor tance of pure water for animals is too often overlooked. Impure water is a fruitful source of disease to animals as well as man, and the quality of milk is impaired when cows are compelled to drink at stagnant pools.

Cows giving milk should not be allowed to fall off in quantity from insufficient feed. 1t as more difficult to increase the flow of milk after a shrinkage from lack of full feed than to keep up a high activity of the secretion by artificial feed. When the habit of diminished milk secretion at a particular time of year is established, as it will be by repetition, it is act always easy to prevent it entirely by liberal feeding. The habit will also be transmitted to the offspring as a family characteristic that will diminish the value of the animal as a producer of milk. Give the cows extra feed so soon as the pasture begins to get short.

Horses need good care in these hot days of mid-summer. They should be kept clean by trequent currying and occasional washing of the legs and feet. The flies will cause the most inconvenience, and while working in the field some protection from them in the shape of nets or thin blankets (sheets) is a great comfort to the animals. Keep the stables clean that they may not harbor the flies or develop any bad odors. Horses that are at regular farm work need good foodbetter than grass alone will give. Oats or ground feed of some kind must supplement the pasture at night.

Sheep can care for themselves if they have a shady pasture supplied with good water. The matter of a ram to be used later in the season should be considered now and secured in time, if not already on hand. A full-blood will often improve the flock.

Pigs. -A run in a good clover stubble will be beneficial. The yards should be kept as clean as possible. A quantity of copperas sprinkled about the pens will deodorize and disintect the place very satisfactorily and cheaply. Young pigs should be pushed now at they are for early market. A rapid growth secured now is of the greatest importance. If the stock is not what is described begin to improve it at once by securing a pure-blood boar of some good breed to use in the herd.

Poultry.-Chickens hatched this month will, if well cared for, be large enough to get through the winter safely. It is not best to set any hens after July. Vermin breed very fast in hot weather and great cleanliness is Late Potatoes will need constant watching for the beetle, which should not be allowed to do any damage; kill the insects at their first appearance by an ap .lication of poison. Buckwheat, as a late crop to fill out with, when another has been removed or failed to grow, can be sown up to the middle of the month. A bushel of seed per acre is an abandance to sow.

WORK, garden, should make it a part of his pro-gramme to take a vacation, and this from

FARM AND GARDEN excellent use to make of it—or it may be turned to good account in making visits to others engaged in the same pursuits. A grape grower, for example, can make no better investment of his time and money than to go to Hammonsport or some other town an Lake Keuks, and from there visit the many (American Agriculture) neighboring vineyards. The nurseryman Harvesting.—The work of harvesting the should go to Bochester or Geneva, N.Y., where he will find the largest nurseries in the country. Other cultivators can readily flud centers where special attention is given to the things in which they are interested, and a visit to these will not only afford recreation, but will be very sure to pay in the instruction that an intelligent observer can always gain from seeing the operations of others. Another matter should receive early attention-preparation for the autumn fairs. The or other, should receive the attention of every cultivator, whether he belongs to the class "amateur," or to the "professionals," as those who cultivate plants of any kind as a business are called. A lively competition for the prizes, no matter how small these in themselves may be, is the only way in which a fair, large or small, can be made useful to the community. Every cultivator should make it a point to show his best products, and if any one exhibits better ones than his own he may be sure that there is something about varieties, or their cultivation, that he should learn. Besides these smaller fairs, those engaged in any branch of horticulture as a bustness, should show their products at the State or other large Fair, if only for the sake of making himself and his business known. It is none too soon to decide what shall be exhibited at the coming fairs, and what prizes upon the schedule are to be competed for, and to give the articles early attention in order that the exhibit may be a creditable one. If one competes for varieties of pears, as an example, the half dozen or dozen to make the "plate" should be selected before hand, and all smaller and poorer fruit near them on the tree be removed in order to secure the greatest possible development of those selected. So with other fruits, and a like course is to pursued with vegetables, flowers, etc.—American Agriculturist.

ORCHARD AND NURSERY.

Budding .- So soon as the bark of the stock will "run," that is, when it raises readily, and the buds are well formed, the budding may be done.

Thinning.-It will pay to thin the fruit from overloaded trees, even though it is get-ing late. The fruit that remains will be of better size and quality, and the benefit to the tree, especially if it is young, will make it pay for the labor of thinning.

Grafts will need to be looked to; they must not be interfered with by surrounding branches, some of which may need to be cut away. All grafts growing too vigorously should be pinched.

Pruning can be done during this month. An open head to the tree should be kept in mind, that the air and sunlight may readily reach the interior.

Marketing.-The early fruit will be largely marketed this month. Too much care can not be exercised in having it put up with neatness. Tidy packages neatly marked and filled with selected fruit, always bring a good price, even when the market is full of inferior fruit. Get and hold a reputation for uniformly good fruit--as it pays.

Tent Caterpillar .- The nests that have escaped the earlier rounds should be destroyed or these greedy "worms" will rapidly strip the trees of their leaves, and thus greatly retard their growth.

THE CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal, July 5.

About eight carloads of cattle were received at St. Gabriel Market this morning, most of which were grass-fed, and were taken to the Viger Market, where a fair demand was experienced from butchers at 3c to 4c per lb, live weight, as to quality, some inferior beasts selling at lower figures. Good shipping cattle sold at 5c to 51c per lb. N. Kennedy bought 9 good beasts for export from Mr. Cornell, of the Townships, at 51c per 1b, and several other lots from different dealers at 41c to 5c per lb. Jno Stagg, of Brockville, sold 19 small grass cattle to R J Hopper for $547.50, or at about $29 each, and five good cattle to butchers at $45 each, or at 3%c to 4c per lb. He also sold to Mr. T. Crawford, for shipment, 350 fine sheep for next Monday's delivery on p.t., but believed to be at about 5c per lb. Napoleon Taillefer sold to Howard Bensliack 3 choice cattle at $55 each, or at 41c per lb. Hogs were in limited supply at 5c to 54c per 1b. For last week total receipts of live stock at Point St. Charles were 126 carloads of cattle, 30 do of sheep, 5 do of hogs, and a few head of horses. Of these 103 carloads of cattle and 30 cars of sheep were for shipment. Calves are in very small supply, and prices remain firm. Several lots of lambs changed hands to-day at $2.50 to $3.50 each, and sheep brought from $4 to $6.50 each as to size and quality. Dealers having cattle for sale were:—J W Starg, Breckville, 2 carloads; Samuel Waddell, from Toronto, 1 cardo; James Eakins, Port Hope, l car do; E Devlin, Ottawa, 1 car do; Wm Roberts, Lennoxville, I car do; Michael Boland, from Ailsa Craig, 1 car; Geo Patterson, Guelph, 1 car.

A report of the Albany market dated Saturday, July 3rd, says:—The market for the week closing to day presents at least one feature of more than usual importance, inasmuch as the arrivals of cattle have been by The cultivator, whether of the orchard or far the largest ever known to the oldest dealer at West Albany. On Sunday, the opening day of the market, 305 loads came necessity must come in mid-summer. This in, and on each succeeding day the rush has san be devoted merely to recreation—a most continued until to-day receipts brought the total supply for the week up to the unprecedented number of 1,120 car loads or 19,040 head—last week's supply being 13,056 head. The rapidity with which the arrivals came in has made matters lively for the yardmen; but for-tunately the capacity of the yards was sufficient to accommodate all the stock that came in, and the business has suffered no interruption whatever The supply has included almost everything in the way of cattle, there being 210 loads of common stock among the arrivals. The offerings of native cattle have not, perhaps, averaged as heavy in weight as for several weeks past, the sales for the most part covering bunches ranging from 1,140 to 1,300 lbs and of fair to good quality. Much of the large supply of the week has come forward in the hands of shippers, or for disposal at the seaboard to those engaged in the export trade. The main range on fair to good natives has been from 4jc to 5]c per lb, the latter being the outside price of the market, except on lots for exports, and several bunches finding sale at that figure.

THE HORSE MARKET.

MONTREAL, July 5. We have to report a further decrease in the horse trade of this city during the past week, the shipments to the United States amounting to only 65 horses, costing $6,179, against 84 horses costing $7,213, the week previous. The average price paid per head during the week was $95. The following were the principal shippers:—A. Malbouf, Chicago; W. T. Hicks, Gardner, Mass.; J. F. Baker, Boston; M. Hicks, Holyonk, Mass; V. Standley, Worcester, Mass.; Geo. J. Leonard, Canton, Mass.; Chas. Clapp, Lowell, Mass.; S. J. Benoit, Springfield, Mass. The following were the shipments of horses from Montreal to the United States for week ending July 5th :- June 28th, 1 horse, $87; 8 do, $757; June 29th, 14 horses, $1,285; 6 do, $551; 9 do, $876.50; 3 do, $267.50; 8 do, $737.50; 7 do, $727.50; 6 do, $540.50; 1 do, $100; July 2nd, 1 horse, $90; July 3rd, 1 do, $160.80. Saturday's Albany market is reported as follows:—"The supply is liberal and the demand moderate. P. L. Eastman sold during the week one heavy worker at $200; one worker at $125; one do at $160; one do at $150; one do at $175, and two drivers at $225 each.

10 shares of Ontario sold at 761, with the closing bid of 76, a decline of 1, and Com-merce was firm, with a sale of 20 shares at 1204. 24 stares of Imperial sold at 993, and the bid for the Standard advanced 1 to 821.
