Extract from Report of Colorado Committee on Unemployment and Relief:

"Of more immediate importance, however, was the relief extended. When the work was begun in April, thousands of men, women, and children were face to face with starvation. When the funds were exhausted in June, new opportunities for work in other and normal lines were manifesting themselves, while the destitution and suffering which otherwise would have been disastrous had been reduced to a minimum. In Las Animas County seventeen hundred and eighty men were given employment, extending aid to more than one thousand families. In Huerfano 470 men were employed and 360 families assisted. In Boulder County 1100 men were employed and 634 families assisted. In Weld County 200 men were employed and 141 families assisted. In Fremont County 500 men were employed and 400 families assisted. In Gunnison County 150 men were employed and 100 families assisted. In Garfield County 50 men were employed and 30 families assisted."
