

religion into a patriotic, closely-welded and united whole. In no part of Canada have I found a better feeling prevailing between all classes and sections of the community."

"Apart, excluded from all exterior influences, installed at the feet of her majestic mother, Canada dreams her dream and forbodes her destiny - a dream of ever broadening harvests, multiplying towns and villages and expanding pastures; of page after page of honourable history added as her contribution to the annals of the Mother Country and to the glories of the British race; of a perpetuation for all time upon this Continent of that temperate and well-balanced system of government which combines in one mighty whole as the eternal possession of all Englishmen the brilliant history and the traditions of the past with the freest and most untrammelled liberty of action in the future."
