The value of Wine for the use of invalids and convalescents cannot be over estimated. The Red Wines especially, while containing sufficient stimulants, derive from the skin and seed of the grape a desirable tonic, and are also nourishing and invigorating.

In an admirable treatise on Cheap Wines, lately published in London, by Dr. Druitt, and dedicated to Mr. Gladstone, he thus spoke of the uses of pure Wines:—They increase the appetite; they exhilarate the “Spirits; they tend to fill the veins with pure, healthy blood. How often “have I wished that the patients coming from a dispensary, or out-patients’ “hospital room, could have a bottle of pure Wine instead of the ‘mixtures’ “they carry in their dirty bottles!”

The Wines of QUETTON ST. GEORGE & Co. have received the most gratifying support from the members of the medical profession, and also from numbers of gentlemen, well qualified, by European travel, to judge of what Wine should be.

Wine for Sacramental Use.

During last season we had numerous enquiries for a pure Wine to be used in the Holy Communion. A number of Clergymen concurred in selecting the “ALICANTE” as most suitable for this purpose, and it has been used in many Churches in this Diocese. We have taken special pains in our importation of ALICANTE this year,—Mr. St. GEORGE having purchased it from a Vineyard near Villeveyrac, in the District of L’Herault, where it is produced of the finest quality. From the vineyard it has been forwarded to us direct in our own Casks, and we are thus enabled, from our personal knowledge, to guarantee its purity.

The ALICANTE is a sweet Red Wine, of delicate flavour, and is nearly identical with the TINTILLA, so generally used as Communion Wine in England, under the name of “Tent.” The price is $2 per gallon, or $6 per dozen in bottles.
