Letter of Thanks To Kind Helpers

(To the Editor)
Dear Sir—Kindly allow me space in the columns of your esteemed and widely read paper to publish thanks to the people of New Melbourne who so kindly went and saved my motor boat which severed her line and drifted from the schooner off Cape Bonavista in a heavy sea which ran on my returning voyage from the Labrador.
Mr. George W. Mansfield while on some business from New Melbourne saw a motor boat filled with water drifting towards the cliffs. He was now about three miles from his home. He succeeded in getting the boat into a small cove and immediately proceeded to the harbor and secured the following men, namely: Messrs. John C. Mansfield, Luther J. Mansfield, Eli Goodwin, Wm. H. Goodwin, Sr., George Goodwin, James Goodwin, Sr., Reuben Goodwin, Elisha Button, W. J. Button, Jabez Clarke, Joseph Clarke, Caleb Reid and Chesley Avery.
Not many men being available Messrs. Elisha and W. J. Button left their extensive business and travelled a distance of 3 miles, to do their utmost in saving the boat. On arriving at New Melbourne Mr. James Goodwin, Sr., was kind enough to proceed with his motor boat and tow the boat to harbor. While at New Melbourne I was treated with the greatest hospitality especially by Mr. George W. Mansfield and wife where I lodged. I also would like to make mention to the beautiful church which I visited, and am sure is a credit to the place and people which I estimate at between 50 and 60 families and also a credit to the builder, Mr. Augustus Callahan of Winterton. My special request in writing is to thank the rescuers of the motor boat, and for their abundant kindness shown me during my stay. I am,
Yours very truly,
WILLIS G. BUTLER.

"Alas! I have no friends," sighed the pessimist. "It must be tough to have no one to tell your troubles to," said the optimist.

Laurier Delivers a Stirring
Address to French Canadians

MONTREAL, Sept. 30—About 15,000 people gathered in the open space on St. Joseph boulevard, between Fabre and Garnier streets, Maisonneuve last night to hear the Liberal chieftain, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Mr. Alphonse Verville, M.P., and others in an open air meeting arranged by Mr. Verville, the well known labor representative in Parliament. Sir Wilfrid's address was partially political and strongly patriotic in the cause of Britain and her Allies, in the war, and that he regarded it as the duty of French Canadians to assist therein.
Sir Wilfrid, at the outset, claimed that the Liberals fell from power in 1911 because of their devotion to duty, and the Conservatives had won because the public mind had been blinded by appeals to prejudice distortion of facts and untruths. Touching on the navy bill, he stated that the Borden Government had not changed its idea, except to extend the principle after the war started, when Vancouver and Victoria became frightened and obtained authority to buy two submarines to defend themselves against possible attack.
Sir Wilfrid reiterated his declaration of some months ago: "When Great Britain is at war, we are at war." "Further, it is our duty to defend our country and the best place to defend it is beyond the frontiers of our country."
As to the Nationalist view that Canada should not take part in the wars of the English, Sir Wilfrid referred to the fact that Great Britain is fighting for France and Belgium.

Hun Socialists Discuss Peace Conditions

Berlin, Sept. 26, via London Sept. 27.—A significant paragraph discussing peace conditions appears in the speech delivered at the recent Socialist conference by Philip Scheidemann, former first vice-president of the Reichstag. The speech was published here to day in full.
While strongly emphasizing the fact that Socialists are opposed to a policy of annexation, the Socialist leader admits that it is impossible to expect that the war will leave all borders unchanged.
"Shall we insist," he said, "that Poland must remain absolutely Russian even if there is a possibility of making her free and independent? That would ill be come us as Socialists. In the peace negotiations there will be deliberations about the Balkans, western Asia, Africa and probably about the readjustments of power over the entire world. Can we therefore demand that everything under all circumstances remain just as before the war? Agreements for making changes can be acceptable at least to us, provided they do not create anger or new wars or do any violence to any foreign people."
Scheidemann said that the Socialists approved the course of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg in repeatedly declaring Germany's willingness to make peace but they wanted to hear him speak more clearly regarding peace terms.
"It could only serve a good purpose," he said, "if the government would declare that, although Germany's power of resistance is unlimited, still Germany is in no wise think of demanding humiliating or degrading peace conditions. Like Premier Asquith asserted, it would certainly give an impetus to the peace movement in various countries if the chancellor would unequivocally declare that Germany wishes peace without annexation."

HERE'S TO LAUGHTER.
Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the leaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bead of the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues and mingles melancholy, for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what makes kings envy peasants, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty envy the innocent; it's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the ripple on the water's delight; the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for it's a glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swansong of sadness.

JOSEPH MORRIS of Trinity has recently placed his order for one of our latest type DAYTON MONEYWEIGHT SCALES.
Mr. Morris has been in business at the same premises for about half a century. He is not afraid of "New-fangled notions" when he knows it is necessary, and will be a money-saver in his business. Mr. Morris leaves the details of the business to his two sons, who insist on exact weights in every transaction. This firm has one of our large size Oil Tanks and self measuring Pumps for handling Kerosene, which they have used for several years, this outfit always gives exact measure, prevents leakage and evaporation, and has never caused a moments trouble or delay.
When our representative visited Trinity recently, he found the store full of old Scales of various kinds. It is impossible to estimate the loss sustained by the use of such scales for 50 years. As soon as the new Scales arrive, Mr. Morris' customers can be sure of getting exactly what they pay for.

THE WAR AND THE BIBLE

(To the Editor)
Dear Sir—A thrill runs through us as we hear the words "The Glorious Three Hundred," etc. These names mean much. The history of a nation is written in them. Deeds of gallantry, heroism and self sacrifice are always glorious, and are recorded as such in God's book and in the world's history. We would not for a moment dub the conscientious objector to military service for the defence of the Empire, including heart and home, a coward; for probably he is nothing of the kind, but we do consider that he misreads scripture.
In the sermon on the Mount various laws are dealt with, including the laws of oaths and retaliations, and the same root principle runs through all. The law of oaths is the law of truthfulness. God's word permits solemn oaths and laws, and God himself confirms His word by an oath. A man's word should be as trustworthy as his oath, and our Lord teaches that every oath is an appeal to God and should only be used for a solemn and definite purpose; and that those who wish to please God should never use a needless oath to paint either a story or an order. The yea should be yea, and the nay, nay.
So in the law of retaliation or revenge. This law does not include a righteous war at all. As in the matter of oaths the great law of truthfulness should be our guide; so in the punishment of wrong, the great law of love should be our guide. A right minded man will turn his back on feelings of revenge and would rather bear unkind treatment personally than violently, revenge himself. The whole principle of that which used to be called the daily fund is contrary to the spirit of the gospel; but the punishment of sin and evil remains, and to this end our Lord said, "Let him that hath no sword sell his garment and buy one."
Yours truly,
EDWARD J. KNIGHT, R.N.R.

French Generals Are Jubilant

Paris, Sept. 27.—French jubilation over the continuous successes of the allied armies is reflected in the following symposium of views expressed by foremost military critics and observers:
By General Berthaut:—The fall of Combes and Thierval on the same day destroys the validity of the German claim of invincibility. The German defensive is crumbling, and the allies are methodically hammering away. Still more decisive successes are ahead.
By General Cherfils:—Prince Rupprecht is not yet at the end of his troubles. The Germans so far have felt only a part of the weight of pressure we are preparing to bring to bear to force their retreat.
By Lieut.-Col. Roussett:—Yesterday's gains have a very appreciable tactical value, which has changed the situation considerably in our favor. I do not believe I shall be mistaken in predicting that the consequences will soon appear.
By Gustave Herve:—The German armies will be completely wasted before they reach the Meuse. The moment will arrive when the wall will be breached and our victorious armies will bury the Germans under an avalanche. Let the God of armies give us six weeks of fine weather and we shall see what the Germans will get.
