

ANOTHER SESSION

Court of Appeal Last Evening

Few Reductions Are Made—Tonight Probably Last Meeting of the Court.

The session of the assessment court of appeal last night was rather protracted in its character...

Messereau & Clark, continued from Saturday evening in order to allow Mr. Clark to present evidence that his firm was excessively assessed...

A decision was expected in the B. Y. N. Co. but on account of the return of Alderman Adair, Mr. Davey, representing the company, asked that judgment of the court be reserved until he could present his case before the number who had been absent at the time it was heard...

K. G. Cox objected to his assessment because he thought it was fully six times larger than it ought to be. His stock all told will not exceed $400 or $500, consisting of wall paper, a few curtains and house decorations...

C. W. C. Taber and John L. Sale represented the Arctic Brotherhood in its appeal from the assessment against the hall of the brotherhood, which was placed at the unusually high figure of $15,000.

Not long ago I had quite a long chat with the pastor of our church on this subject. You know, Dr. Fourthly is quite an old man and has married quantities of people, so his knowledge of the matter is intimate.

John W. Woodside, the wealthy and affable Quaker, who at the turning point in a deal by which the great Mirzapah and Valley View ledges at Tonopah, Nev., were acquired by himself and Philadelphia associates...

How the interests were allotted between the lucky triodes is another story. Each acquired a slice that has since attained a valuation of millions, however, while the balance of the purchase money—well, that was provided by an army of leasers, who went to work on the ledges and in a breath, or a blast, blew over $5,000,000 from the vaults.

Meanwhile, Mr. Turner, believing that bigger results awaited the men who hold on, has kept his holdings in the proposition pretty much intact, while Mr. Anderson has feathered his nest against all needs of time, and, as the others, retains a part of his original allotment.

Yukon Affairs

Victoria, Oct. 7.—The deputy minister of the interior, Jas. A. Smart, accompanied by Mrs. Smart and child, arrived in the city last evening on their way from Dawson to Ottawa. They expect to leave this evening for the East.

He found affairs in the Yukon in a very satisfactory condition. As a gold producer, he thinks the development of the territory has only commenced. This year's production of gold he expects will reach $12,000,000. There has been royalty collected on $9,000,000 already, and before the close of the season he expects it will reach the former figure.

In traveling over the roads about Dawson leading to the various creeks he was astonished to find them in such a splendid condition. If the Dominion government had done nothing more for the miners of the Yukon than what they have done with respect to these roads, he thought they should be worthy of the greatest praise.

It was suggested that the government should undertake its construction, but there were difficulties in the way of this. It would be necessary to ascertain the bodies of ore available before such could be attempted, and this would involve a great deal of work.

With the adjustment of these many matters with which he was entrusted, the administration of affairs is left in the hands of Major Wood.

Well, the bride has at least one consolation. Her husband can't possibly be a greater fool than he looked while the ceremony was being performed. Thus spake a young woman to a Chicago Chronicle reporter emerging from a church where a couple of her friends had just been made one.

HEAVY FINE FOR A BLOW

Duties of Saloon Keepers to Customers

Thompson Knocked Out in the First Round When Intoxicated.

The duties of those who deal in spirituous liquors, and of all their employees, was plainly laid down by Mr. Justice Macaulay in the police court this morning, and strong address he made on the subject was evidently quite a surprise to the defendant in the case.

This was William Hempstead, who is the manager of the rear rooms of the Pioneer saloon used as a club room. He was charged with assaulting one Thompson by striking him in the face and knocking him down. Mr. Hempstead boldly answered "Guilty."

The complainant did not appear and Sergeant Smith said he understood that he did not wish to press the charge so he himself had laid the information. He then called one of his men, who said that he was told in the street that there was a row in the saloon in question and that he had better hurry up as a man there was being badly used.

When asked his business defendant said he was a miner, but Sergeant Smith said the man was in charge of the Pioneer club rooms. Thompson had been drinking there and had annoyed the accused who struck him and put him out of business.

Terminated in a Riot.

New Orleans, Oct. 7.—Violence started with the first attempt of the railway company to carry out the order of the mayor to run its cars today. Just before 7 o'clock the company started out three cars from the barns on Canal street. On each car, manned by a non-union motorman, there was a police force. Big crowds of strikers and sympathizers were on the streets. When the cars reached Miro street the tracks were blockaded, and when they came to a stop the crowd made an attack. A pistol shot was fired and the non-union men attacked. One of them, P. W. Scheenick, a conductor from Chicago, was badly beaten.

When the rioting spent itself three cars were left standing on the track, guarded by policemen. All the windows were smashed. The mob captured Scheenick and his motorman and both consented to join the union. Some of the policemen were hurt by flying stones.

When news of the rioting reached the city hall the mayor issued a call for a meeting of the police board. It is understood that the object is to swear in emergency policemen.

Gov. Heard will order out the militia when he is notified by Mayor Capdeville that the situation is beyond his control.

As the company temporarily abandoned the attempt to operate cars on the Canal street line the situation quieted down. The union headquarters will be kept open to receive any offer of negotiations looking to a settlement.

J. H. Eidson, of St. Louis, said to be connected with a detective agency in that city, was one of the cars during the rioting. Eidson pluckily climbed on top and adjusted the trolley pole when it was first pulled down. The mob made a rush for him when he descended, but the police managed to protect him, and he was taken to the central station in a patrol wagon, hooted and jeered at by the multitude.

Whale Wore Armor. In Austria-Hungary a most interesting study has been going on for two years in the fossil fields. Beside the remains of a great prehistoric dolphin found in Croatia, there have been discovered the fossil skeletons of ancient whales of enormous size, which once swam there when Europe was an ocean full of immense and fantastic monsters.

The strange discovery about these extinct whales, however, is the fact that they were armored. The skeletons show that the huge back fin had a sort of skin armor over it, presumably like that carried by the armadillos of today. Certain portions of the back were covered with it also. Now scientists are trying to find out if the armor was a survival of a still older type, in which the whales were completely covered with mail. If this is so, they must have been tremendous creatures, and our ironclad ships of today are not the first things of their kind to swim the sea.

Students of natural history have another problem in this. If there were ancestral whales with armor, they want to know if they descended from mail-clad land animals, or if they gradually developed the armor after they changed from amphibians into ocean dwellers. About the time that they must have done this the huge 80-foot sharks and other hungry giants roamed the sea, and the whales needed all the armor and other protection that they could get.

The Minnesota Republican primaries resulted in several surprises, some of the old guard being defeated. This is another indication of the upheaval which is going on in the party on account of the tariff question. The dissatisfaction in Minnesota is even greater than in Iowa.

Doctrines Thriving

London, Oct. 4.—Reports concerning the progress of Mormonism in Europe will be made at tomorrow's conference of Latter Day Saints in London.

Elder Francis M. Lyman, of Salt Lake, president of the mission department of the Utah church, will tell the delegates that the doctrine of Smith and Young are now firmly planted in Great Britain, Germany, Scandinavia, Holland, Turkey, Palestine, Italy and Switzerland, constituting an organization that supports 500 elders, owns extensive property in various capitals and is recognized generally as the most aggressive religious movement in Europe.

Mr. Lyman said today, "While we have been long established and are strongest in England and Scandinavia, our ramparts are everywhere throughout monarchial and republican Europe. We are still pilloried as polygamists and foreign intruders, notwithstanding that we have long abandoned both the act and advocacy of plural marriages and pray as zealously for kings and kaisers as for the president of the United States."

"Germany and Switzerland suspect us of being an emigration society in disguise, intent on peopling Western America with Mormon recruits. That is not our mission. We are spiritual propagandists. It is true we are gathering people because we believe God appointed the United States to be the land of Zion where in the kingdom of heaven on earth will be re-established in the later days. But we are not urging any Europeans to leave their homes. On the contrary, we want them to stay there and spread the gospel of Mormonism among their own people."

Many thousands are annually voluntarily fleeing from oppressive conditions and settling in the United States and Canada. They are the best colonists in the world. President Diaz of Mexico, Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada; the governors of Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Washington feel something more than sympathy with the hardy men and women capable of subduing the sagebrush as did Young and his followers, who reclaimed the desert of Utah."

Lyman ridicules all efforts to make the Mormon church responsible for the murder committed by William Hooper Young on the basis of blood atonement. He says the murderer is a renegade Mormon who long ago disavowed the church. He declares that the only blood atonement Mormonism advocates is capital punishment which is authorized by law.
