Montreal, Feb 4.—(Special)—Cables from Liverpool and London on Canadian cattle were weaker, and prices show a decline of %c per lb, with sales at 12c. Exports of iast week from Portland and St. John were 8054 cattle. Receipts to-day were 1400 cattle, 50 milch cows, 100 calves, 100 1 were Stock cattle. Meccipts to-day were 1400 cattle, 50 milch cows, 100 calves 100 sheep and iambs and 1100 hogs. In sympathy with fixner advices from European sources on Canadian bacon, and on advance in prices of 1s to 2s in Livergool and Loudon, there was a steadler feeling in the local market for live hogs to-day, and prices showed no change, as compared with those paid last Wednesday. Supplies were fair, for which the demand from packers was good, and sales of selected lots were made at $7$ to $7.25 per 100 lbs, weighed off cars.

WEB OF THE SPIDER.

The Many Uses to Which Its Singular Spinner Puts It.

Spiders form good subjects for rainy day study, and two hours spent in a neglected garret watching these clever little beings will often arouse such interest that we shall be glad to devote many days of sunshine to observing those species which hunt and build and live in the open fields. There is no insect in the world with more than six legs, and as a spider has eight he is therefore thrown out of the company finds himself in a strange asse Even to his nearest relatives he bears little resemblance, for when we realize that scorpions and borseshoe crabs must call him cousin we perceive that his is indeed an aberrant bough on the tree of creation.

Nature has provided spiders with an organ filled always with liquid, which on being exposed to the air hardens and can be drawn out into the slender threads which we know as cobweb. The silkworm incases its body with a mile or more of gleaming silk, but there its usefulness is ended, as far as the silkworm is concerned. But spiders have found a hundred uses for their cordage, some of which are startlingly similar to human inventions.

A list of all the uses of cobwebs would take much space, but of these the most familiar is the snare set for unwary flies—the wonderfully ingen-ious webs which sparkle with dew among the grasses or stretch from bush to bush. The framework is of webbing, and upon this is woven the sticky spiral which is so elastic, so ethereal, and yet strong enough to entangle a good sized insect. How knowing seems the little worker as, the web and his den of concealment being completed, he spins a strong cable from the center of the web to the entrance of his watchtower. Then, when a trembling of his aerial spans warns him of a capture, how eagerly he selzes his master cable, and jerks away on it, thus vibrating the whole structure and making more certain the confusion of his vic

Those spiders which leap upon their prey instead of setting snares for it have still a use for their threads of life, throwing out a cable as they leap to break their fall if they miss their foothold. What a strange use of the cobweb is that of the little flying spiders! Up they run to the top of a post, elevate their abdomens and run out several threads, which lengthen and lengthen until the breeze catches them, and away goes the wingless aeronaut for yards or for miles, as fortune may dictate! We wonder if he can cut loose or pull in his balloon cables at will. A most fascinating tale would unfold could we discover all the uses of cob-web when the spiders themselves are through with it. Certain it is that our ruby throated humming bird robs many webs to fasten together the plant down and lichens which compose her dainty

Search the pond and you will find swimming about at ease beneath the surface, thoroughly aquatic in his habits, but breathing a bubble of air which he carries about with him. When his supply is low, he swims to a submarine castle of silk, so air tight that he can keep it filled with a large bubble of air, upon which he draws from time to time.

And so we might go on enumerating almost endless uses for the web, which is nature's gift to these little waifs who ages ago left the sea and have won a place for themselves in the sunshine among the butterflies and flow ers.-C. William Beebe in New York

Herodotus tells of an ingenious ruse employed to carry an important mes-sage through the lines of the enemy, Histiaeus, being anxious to give Aris-tagoras orders to revolt, could think of no means to send the message to his ally, as all the roads were carefully guarded. Finally he hit upon a scheme. Calling his trustlest servant to him, he ordered that the man's hair be shaven off. He then pricked the desired mes-sage on the scalp of the slave and, waiting until his hair had grown out. dispatched him upon the errand. The messenger passed safely through the lines, and when he reached Aristagoras his head was again shaved and the message read.

· Perfumes.

Perfumes exercise a peculiar influence over one's nervous system. A faint, subtle odor is nearly always enervating, while a pungent, rich perfume often has a bracing effect. Civet musk invigorates and the perfume of the aloe and the citron is positively soothing and comforting. The delicate, spicy odors of pinks, carnations, apple ms and sweetbrier are thought to be beneficial.

Mr. S. Lawrence, M.E., who submitted a report after examination of both properties, says that on the South property there is "a strong vein eighteen inches wide." SECOND TO NONE. Deputy Minister of Education Colque houn On Canadian Papers. A high tribute was paid to the newspaper press of Canada by Mr. A. H. U. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education, in his address before the Daughters of the Empire at the Canadian Institute in Toronto recently. Mr. Colquhoun's subject was "The Press of the British Empire," and he said that he considered the Canadian press, for sincerity, earnestness, and said that he considered the Canadian press, for sincerity, earnestness, and unselfishness, to be easily in the first rank in the Empire. The Canadian press was frank in its expression of opinion, but intelligent in its opinions, and the speaker knew no country where public opinion was so accurately reflected in its articlicity.

ions, and the speaker knew no country where public opinion was so accurately reflected in its periodicals. Canadian papers were, perhaps, less brilliantly written than those of England, but they were nearer to the life of the people.

The cost of production was one of the greatest difficulties of a Canadian newspaper. High import duties had to be paid on inks, presses, and type-setting machines, though there was no justification of such a duty, as such machinery was not manufactured in Canada. Moreover, the Canadian press had to compete with hundreds of United States periodicals.

The great characteristic of the colonial, and especially of the Canadian press, was its free discussion of Imperial matters. Such freedom should be encouraged, and it would be found that the newspapers of Canada would be the most valuable and efficient agents for the cause of Imperial Federation.

In Australia, the population was

be the most valuable and efficient agents for the cause of Imperial Federation.

In Australia the population was chiefly in the cities, thus producing wealthy and powerful newspapers. The tone of the great Australian dailies was very similar to that of the English ones; the problems were English problems transplanted—not new ones, as in Canada. They were rether heavy papers; not so readable to the South African papers little was known in America, nor did they exert much influence outside the colony, though they were often well written and ably conducted.

The press of Great Britain the speaker considered to be the ablest in the world, as it was the oldest. Of recent years a certain amount of American disregard of accuracy has been introduced, and some American violence of tone, but, on the whole, the English press was likely to remain dignified, able, and respectable. It was one of the greatest influences which England was exerting upon the world.

Why We Blend Ontario Red Winter Wheat With Manitoba No. 1 Hard

NE might be led to believe, from the fact that Manitoba Wheat flour contains more phosphates, gluten and other food elements than all others, that it would make the best bread and pastry. But it's not so-far from it.

An all Manitoba Flour lacks flavor - that's why we blend with it the soft-shelled Ontario Red Winter Wheat, which imparts to bread and pastry made from "Kent Mills" Flour the delicious, delicate flavor so agreeable to the palate of the epicure.

Then too, an all Manitoba flour requires so much water to be mixed with it, on account of its extremely dry, absorbent nature, that it's really difficult to make good bread and pastry.
