

THE PAPER FROM HOME

There lay on a stand in the marble hall of a city mansion with towers tall, a country paper in its wrapper plain, Almost unnoticed, or scorned with disdain By the liveried servants there, Amid the splendor of wealth it lay In its humble garb, the long, long day;

Till the master came at eventide To lay for awhile his cares aside, Afar from the city's din: When he saw the paper a kindly smile Weathered his face and for a while In calm content he settled down With the paper that came from his old home town

That he loved in days of yore, As he scanned its homely pages through On memory's mirror appeared in view Familiar scenes and the faces of friends With the glad delight that memory sends To a heart that is ever young, He was back once more in the summer days

With the chums he knew in boyish plays, Diving into the swimming pool Below the mill, with its depths so cool In eager youthful play, He roamed again 'mid woods and fields Through orchards with their fruitful yields, Through meadows green, and down the lane

Where flowers wild still bloomed again, As in bygone days The Sabbath evenings calm and still— The country church upon the hill, Where he humbly knelt by his mother's side,

Before his footsteps roamed aside To seek ambition's goal, Those treasured memories, kin to tears, So often lost through passing years, Crept softly back with pleasure rare To smooth the lines that time and care Had written on his brow.

So the simple sheet with its homely face Goes forth by time to find a place In the heart of a man whose eyes grow dim With tender memories brought to him When the paper comes from home.

SHE SCORES AT LAST.

Margery's school reports weren't very good, so her father said, "The first time you get a hundred I'll give you a dollar."

Time went by and the award could not be claimed. Then one day the child was taken ill. When the doctor had gone she asked, "Mamma, am I very sick?" "No dear, your temperature is a little over a hundred, but the doctor thinks you'll be better tomorrow."

Margery's face lighted up. "Then, mamma, I can have my dollar, can't I? Papa said he'd give it to me if I got a hundred in anything."

HEALTH BEFORE MARRIAGE

Possibly the value of the recent suggestion of Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general of British Columbia, to make a certificate of health a requirement in obtaining a marriage license, is somewhat over-estimated, though doubtless a good suggestion. It touches a subject wherein reforms must be fairly gradual to accomplish permanent good. There is always a danger of such legislation having the effect of increasing the number of persons who dispense with the legalities of marriage; also many couples can simply go elsewhere to be married where the requirements are less strict. But the need of the law indicates that parents and guardians lack a sense of their responsibilities in this matter.—B. C. Veteran.

MY FAVORITE HYMN

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN Dear Sir.—This invitation of yours to your readers to furnish you for publication their favorite hymn deserves a generous response and it should prove a most interesting feature. I am pleased to note, too, that you have not restricted your request to any one particular language, which enables me to quote my own "first favorite". To those of your readers, from whose education the language of Paradise has not been excluded, the following old hymn forcibly will appeal especially when sung to either "Old Derby" or "Crugbar"— "O fryniau Caersalem ceir gwelod Holl daith yr anialwch i gyd; Pryd hyny daw troion yr yfia Yn telus i lanw fy mryd; Caf edrych ar stormydd ac ofnau, Ac angau dychrynllyd a'r bedd, A minna'n ddiahangol o'ur cyrhaedd Yn nofio mewn caiiad a heidd.

Yours truly, M. TAMPLIN

CANADA'S UNDERWATER "GRAND CANYON"

The Canadian Government has been asked to make a special survey which it is expected will prove by scientific measurements that Canada, among its other distinctions, is the possessor of the deepest river in the world.

Hidden beneath the amber waters of the upper Ottawa River is one of nature's most curious phenomena, rivalling in its way the Grand Canyon of Colorado, the Natural Bridge of Virginia, the Falls of Niagara or Zambesi. It is a gigantic chasm cleft in the surface of the earth in a period which must have approached the earliest in the earth's history, for the bed reveals sandstone of the Palaeozoic Age.

If the Ottawa River were to dry up the chasm with its walls 6000 or 7000 feet high would eclipse the wonder of Colorado. As it is the Deep River Reach of the Ottawa claims the distinction which it is hoped will soon be scientifically confirmed, of being the deepest river in the world.

In several places over a distance of twenty-three miles, five thousand feet of towboat lines have failed to give an anchorage.

By comparison the Great Lakes are but duck ponds and the famous fjords of Norway and the East American Atlantic Coast are quite eclipsed. Lake Erie has a depth of only 272 feet. Lake Ontario is not much better with 738 feet, Lake Michigan has 789 feet. Lake Superior, the deepest of all great inland seas, is only 1007 feet, or about one-fifth as deep as the Deep River Reach will probably prove to be. One of the East Atlantic fjords shows 3000 feet, and the Sogne Fjord of Scandinavia is 4000 feet.

Deep River Reach of the Ottawa is north of Pembroke and is traversed by serviceable steamers. The southern stretch of it is found identified on most maps as Upper Alouette Lake. This part of the river course is dotted with hundreds of beautiful islands furnishing summer homes for urban residents. They are at this point on the northwest edge of civilization. Toward the North Star and Hudson Bay lies only wilderness broken only at one midway point by the National Transcontinental Railway, which with its still rusting rails will one day give Canada depth as well as breadth. To the southwest lie the Plains of Petewawa, famous as a military training ground, particularly for artillery during the war.

Farther on you enter Oiseau Lake (locally called "Weese") surrounded by a series of the most picturesque mountain peaks to be found anywhere in the whole Laurentian range. Prospect succeeds prospect in a never ending panorama, while the tang of the wilds is like wine in the veins.

A point called Des Jo Achim is the upper limit of the Great Chasm. Here the river makes a right angled turn, and is transformed from a madly surging rapids to the restful slow moving deep current of the Grand Chasm.

Does It Pay To Grow From Certified Seed It has been fully proved from carefully tabulated records that growers can increase their yield of potatoes from 50% to 100%, by planting carefully selected stock grown from certified seed that has been inspected and certified WHILEST-IN-GROWTH, instead of planting seed grown haphazard, with no record taken of any disease the seed may have had when growing. We would advise all potato growers, to stop planting seed they have no record of, and plant government certified seed only. From all reports at hand, owing to low prices experienced the past years, a large quantity of growers in all districts both in Canada and United States are discouraged, and the tendency is they will plant a smaller acreage than usual. This probably means that potato prices next Fall will be on a much more remunerative basis. We have a quantity of Government certified Green Mountain seed on hand, every bushel of which should be used by Annapolis Valley growers, price on application. HERBERT OYLER KENTVILLE NOVA SCOTIA

PEACHES TO LONDON

The Beaumont district of Riverside County, California, is developing a rather remarkable fresh fruit export trade, according to Better Fruit. The local fruit growers' association recently received word that peaches and pears shipped Sept. 6 to London, England, had arrived in fine shape and were being sold at phenomenal prices. They recently shipped two carloads of French prunes to London. Just previous to that, they sold 300 boxes of Delicious apples, 72 to
