"K.O." FOR PHIL SCOTT—BRITISH "HOPE" DEFEATED BY SPANISH WOODCUTTER.

Dramatic Sequel To His Three Victories In A Week.

Britain's hopes to find a challenger to Dempsey in Phil Scott, the London ex-freeman, received a set-back yesterday.

Scott met Paolino, the Spanish woodcutter, at Bilbao, and was knocked out in the sixth round. He was on the defensive practically all the time.

The crowd showed some disappointment at the display put up by the boxers. The match was refereed by Carpenter.

Scott claimed a foul after his knock-out, but this was not allowed.

SPANIARD FORCES PACE.

Scott Alleges "Questionable Blow" After Being Knocked Out.

BILBAO—The heavyweight boxing match, between Paolino Ukudun and Phil Scott, was decided here to-day before 12,000 spectators, with Carpenter acting as referee.

The public showed some disappointment at the contest, which was apparently not as fine a display of boxing as they had expected.

In the first round neither man had the advantage, both confining themselves to feinting tactics. In the second round Paolino began to force the pace, but without much result, the Englishman defending himself with his left.

The Spaniard made a furious onslaught in the third round, resuming it in the fourth, which ended up in some in-fighting.

In the fifth the Spaniard again resumed the offensive, and Scott clinched.

At the beginning of the sixth the Spaniard repeated his forcing tactics, and seemed to be pressing the Englishman hard. That Scott fell.

He alleged that there had been a questionable blow, but Paolino was proclaimed the winner. Both boxers were loudly cheered.—Routier.

Hope To Fight Dempsey.
Scott's defeat by the Spanish woodcutter is another set-back to the boxer who considered him a British "hope" capable of meeting Dempsey.

It comes as a dramatic sequel to his "week of victories" in London, when he defeated three opponents at the London Ring in six days.

After his last fight—with Gipsy Daniels—however, it was reported that he had injured one hand, and this may have proved his undoing against Paolino.

Scott has had speedy success as a boxer. He was formerly a fireman, but proved so successful in friendly bouts that he turned professional and was promptly picked out as a "hope."

Recently he posed for medical students as a model of anatomy, and also underwent tests for the benefit of science.

Paolino, his vanquisher, was formerly a woodcutter. He is noted for his amazing strength rather than for his skill.

Townsend's Victory—In a heavyweight contest at Stockholm, Jack Townsend defeated the Swede, Karl Johnson, by a knockout in the first round.—Routier.

Points for Britain—British runners secured six places in four of the principal races at the Paris international athletic meeting recently but failed to score a win.

PROMOTERS AFTER ENGLISH FIGHTER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—The arrival of Tom Milligan, English welterweight, has set the managers by the heels. There was a general scramble to be the first to invite Tom to "walk into the parlor." Would he agree to that? There was nothing they wouldn't do for him if he'd only sign on the dotted line.

But Tom, anything but a chuckle-head, said he'd jolly well look the bally place over before he talks business. They say he is a really great fighter. England could certainly use one, in her right night now. The bottom fell out of England when the brave little "atom," Jimmy Wilde, pitched forward on his face in front of the late Pancho Villa.

Buried in Sand

Boy's Terrible Death at Broughty Ferry.

Archibald Paul Welsh (8) lost his life at Broughty Ferry under peculiar circumstances. While he was playing on the beach with an elder brother the sand suddenly subsided, and the boy was entombed. The sea-front was fairly busy at the time, and help was quickly forthcoming.

Several men who were in the vicinity made strenuous efforts to rescue the unfortunate boy, who, however, died from suffocation before he was extricated. All efforts to bring back life proved unavailing.

Return of Prince Blocked by Snow

TRAIN FORCED TO REPAIR TO SHELTER IN CHILEAN MOUNTAINS.

LOS ANDES, Aconcagua, Chile, Sept. 16.—(C.P.)—A storm raging in the Cordillera prevented the Prince of Wales from crossing the Andes yesterday. He was on his way to Argentina, but had to turn back.

The Prince left Valparaiso Monday night after some delay owing to heavy snow in the mountains and reached Los Andes, the Chilean terminus of the Trans-Andean Railway, about 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning. Rain was falling heavily, but the line was reported clear.

As soon as the special train began to take the grade the rain changed to snow and at Juncal Station, on the Argentine border, 6,750 feet altitude, it became evident that the train was not going to get through without considerable difficulty. It proceeded, however, and about 12 miles from the summit of the pass a gang was sent ahead to clear the road, while the train was backed into one of the numerous shelters constructed on the mountainside as a protection against blocked lines by the fall of masses of snow.

Returned to Juncal. Shortly after the train returned to Juncal with the idea of attaching a snowplow, but it was finally decided to go back to Los Andes in the hope of making a fresh start to-day. Snow had been falling steadily all morning, and the pilot train, which set out a short time before the royal one, got through, but snow slides blocked the road between the two trains. Los Andes was reached at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Prince witnessed quite a thrilling incident while walking in the streets of Los Andes after the return of his train. He was passing a shop, but stopped to watch an affray between two men. One of them drew a knife and, stabbed the other. The wounded man fell to the ground, but, rising quickly, hurled a large stone at his assailant, then collapsed and was taken to a hospital. The man with the knife was arrested.

Advices from Mendoza say that a landslide occurred at Kilometer 55 on the Trans-Andean Railway yesterday morning a few minutes before the train bearing the Prince of Wales as due to pass. The slide, which completely blocked the line, occurred soon after the snowplow and pilot engine had passed.

It is again snowing heavily on the Chilean side of the mountains.

'Judgment of the Storm'

A WONDERFUL STORY.
Thrilling Feature Voted the Best Seen in This City This Season.

As already stated in these columns, "Judgment of the Storm" a super special now showing at the Majestic Theatre, is by far one of the most outstanding films of its kind screened in this city. The dramatization was indeed very impressive, and from start to finish, the audience last night enjoyed a series of thrills seldom offered in any one subject.

The story was written by a young Pittsburgh girl and was chosen as the best from several thousands of photographs submitted to the Palmer Photo-play School. An extensive publicity campaign has been mapped out by F. B. O. to back up the picture.

There is an excellent cast headed by Lloyd Hughes, Hughes is capital as John Trevor and gets every ounce out of the part. Myrtle Stedman, as his mother, puts in a very convincing performance. Lucille Rickson, George Hackathorne, and Clair MacDowell render good support. There is an excellently staged storm, and throughout, the production is very good.

The story concerns a youth whose mother runs a gambling den. When he discovers this, following the death of a young man in the place, he offers himself in place of the man who was killed and works on the farm. In a terrific storm he saves the twins of the farmer lady and her son, and is reunited with his mother.

As there are three shows every week now at the Majestic Theatre, to-night is the last opportunity the public of St. John's have of seeing "Judgment of the Storm," and all should avail of this one and only opportunity to see the greatest picture shown this season.

Wedding Bells

VAIL-BECK. Gower Street United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday, when at 5.30 p.m. Rev. Hammond Johnson united in the silken bonds of matrimony Mr. Geo. C. Beck, well known young business man of Placentia Bay, and Miss Alma Vail of Lower Island Cove.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Hedley Garland of the G.P.O., was attired in sage blue satin, with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Miss Louise Beck, sister of the groom, who wore a gown of white silk Canton crepe with black picture hat. Mr. Lewis Hollett of Sound Island ably supported the groom.

After the ceremony the party drove to Quill Vidi and from thence to Bowring Park, returning at 7 o'clock to the Sterling Restaurant where supper was partaken of. The health of the bride was proposed by Mr. Garland in a happy speech and was ably responded to. A very happy evening was spent, after which the bride and groom repaired to the home of the groom's uncle, South Side West, where further entertainment for the many guests was provided.

The groom's present to the bride was a rope of beautiful pearls, to the bride a diamond pendant, and to the best man cuff links. The many valuable presents and congratulatory telegrams received testified to the popularity of the happy young couple, who left by to-day's express for Arnold's Cove their future home.

Mrs. Harmsworth Dead

MOTHER OF A FAMILY OF DISTINGUISHED SONS.

A gentlewoman of unique strength of character and sweetness of disposition has passed away in the person of Mrs. Harmsworth, of Poynter's Hall, Totteridge, widow of Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, and mother of the late Viscount Northcliffe. She had reached the great age of 86, and was a younger daughter of Mr. William Maffett, a Dublin land agent. The Maffetts were descended from a Scottish family settled in County Down. At the age of 28, when she married Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, then a master on the staff of the Royal Hibernian School, Dublin, Miss Maffett was a travelled and well-read woman, with a great talent for music. Three years after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Harmsworth moved to London, and made their home at Hampstead. The young wife did not feel that the career of an assistant schoolmaster was one worthy of her husband's abilities. She induced him to enter as a law student, first at the King's Inns, Dublin, and, in 1866, at the Middle Temple. He was called to the Bar in 1868. Fifty-five years later (1924) his widow and their eldest surviving son, Viscount Rothermere, presented £20,000 to the Middle Temple for the establishment of a benevolent endowment to be known as the "Alfred Harmsworth Memorial Fund" in his memory. The affection existing between her and her sons, her eldest, Lord Northcliffe, in particular, was a very deep one. Her influence was never used in the ignoble cause. Mrs. Harmsworth took the closest interest in her grandsons and granddaughters, and she was especially pleased when one of the former, Mr. Desmond Harmsworth, was returned to the House of Commons in 1919 as member for Thanet, which constituency he still represents. He was then 21 years and five months old, and was the youngest M.P. who had sat in Parliament for over a century. Mrs. Harmsworth's most interesting travel experience was her visit with her eldest son to the United States and Canada at the time of Theodore Roosevelt's tenure of office. She had lunch at the White House with the President, who treated her with exceptional distinction, and always retained a great admiration for her. The interment took place in St. Marylebone Cemetery, East Finchley, in the grave in which Mr. Alfred Harmsworth and Lord Northcliffe are buried. The chief mourners were Viscount Rothermere, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, Sir Leicester Harmsworth, Sir Wyndham Brand Harmsworth, Mr. Wyndham Harmsworth, Mr. Charles Harmsworth, Mrs. Mrs. Wild and Mrs. Burton, sons and daughters. Lady (Lucas) King and Mr. St. John Harmsworth were unable to attend. The first part of the service was held in the little church of St. Andrew at Totteridge, and was conducted by the vicar, the Rev. C. W. McLaughlin. On the coffin was a large cross of lilies, with a card inscribed, "With her children's everlasting love." Three large caskets were filled inside and out with floral offerings, which included tributes from the directors and staffs of the newspapers and other concerns with which Mrs. Harmsworth's sons are associated.
