The Silent Barrier

(BY LOUIS TRACY.)

"I must go and see the last of Millicent. It will cheer me up," he said to himself.

When he entered the foyer Millicent was already in the verandah, a dainty picture in furs and feathers. Somewhat to his surprise, Helen was with her. A good many people were watching them covertly, a quite natural proceeding in view of their strained relations overnight.

Millicent's first action after quitting the salle a manger had been to worm out of Leontine the full, true and particular history of Etta Stampa, or so much of the story as was known to the hotel servants. The recital was cut short by Helen's visit, but resumed during packing operations, as Millicent had enlarged her store of knowledge considerably during the process of reconciliation.

So, alive to possibilities going far beyond a single check, even for five thousand pounds, at the last moment she sent a message to Helen.

"Come and see me off," she wrote. "It will simply paralyze the dowager brigade if we hug each other on the mat."

Helen agreed. She was not sorry that her critics should be paralyzed, or stupefied, or rendered incapable in some way of inflicting further annoyance. In her present radiant mood, nearly all her troubles having taken unto themselves wings, she looked on yesterday's episode in the light of a rather far-fetched joke. Bower with a quite respectable fury.

"I fear she brought winted the famous cat must decide. Here, boy," he went on, alling a village urchin, "where is Johann Kllucker's house?"

The boy pointed to a track that ran close to the right bank of the tiny Inn. He explained volubly, and was rewarded with a franc.

"Do you know this path?" asked Bower. "Klucker's chalet is near the waterial, which should be a fine sight, owing to the melting snow."

It was Holen's favorite walk. She would have preferred a more frequented by the boy was quite near, and she could be a fine sight, owing to the melting snow."

It was Holen's favorite walk. She was the path was quite near, and she could whave preferred a more frequented by the bo she looked on yesterday's episode in the light of a rather far-fetched joke. Bower stood so high in her esteem that she was sure the outspoken announcement of his intentions was dictated chiefly by anger at Millicent's unfair utterances. Perhaps he had some thoughts of marriage; but he must seek a wife in a more exalted sphere. She felt in her heart that Spencer was only awaiting a favorable opportunity to declare his love, and she did not strive to repress the wave of divine happiness that flooded her heart at the

After much secret pondering and some shy confidences intrusted to Mrs. de la Vere, she had resolved to tell him if he left the Maloja at once—an elastic phrase in lovers' language—and came to her in London next month, she would have an answer ready. She persuaded herself that there was no other honorable way out of an embarrassing position. She had out of an embarrassing position. She had come to Switzerland for work, not for love-making. Spencer would probably wish to marry her forthwith, and that was not to be thought of while The Firefly's commission was only half completed. All of which modest and maldenly reasoning left wholly out of account Spencer's strenuous wooing; it is chronicled here merely to show her state of mind when she kissed Millicent farewell. Millicent farewell.

It is worthy of note also that two young people who might be expected to take the liveliest interest in each other's company were steadfast in their determination to were steadfast in their determination to separate. Each meant to send the other back to England with the least possible delay, and both were eager to fly into each other's arms—in London! Whereat the gods may have laughed, or frowned, as the case may be, if they glanced at the horoscopes of certain mortals pent within the mountain walls of the Upper Engadine.

Engadine.
While Helen was still gazing after Millicent's retreating carriage, Bower came from the darksome foyer to the sunlit from the darksome foyer to the sunlit verandah. "So you parted the best of friends?" he said quietly.

She turned and looked at him with shining eyes. "I cannot tell you how pleased I am that a stupid misunderstanding should be cleared away!" she said.

"Then I share your pleasure, though, to be candid, I was thinking that a woman's kiss has infinite gradations. I may savor of Paradise or the Dead Sea."

"But she told me how grieved she was that she had behaved so foolishly, and appealed to me not to let the folly of a day break the friendship of years."

"Ah! Millicent picks up some well-turned sentiments on the stage. Come out for a little stroll, and tell me all about it."

Helen hesitated. "It will soon be teal time," she said, with a zelf-conscious biush. She had promised Spencer to walk with him to the chateau; but her visit to Millicent had intervened, and he was not on the verandah at the moment.

"We need not go far. The garnishad the "We need not go far. The sun has garnished the roads for us. What do you say if we make for the village and interview Johann Klucher's cat on the weather?"

ther?"

His tone was quite reassuring. To her transparent honesty of purpose it seemed better that they should discuss Millicent's motive in coming to the hotel and then dismiss it forever. "A most excellent idea," she cried lightly. "I have been writing all the morning, so a breath of fresh air will be grateful."

They passed down the steps

They passed down the steps.

They had not gone more than a few paces when the driver of an empty carriage pulled up his vehicle and handed riage pulled up his vehicle and nanded Bower a telegram.

"They gave it to me at St. Moritz, Herr Bower," he said. "I took a message there for Herr Spencer, and they asked me to bring this to you, as it would reach you more quickly than if it came by the post."

Bower thanked the man and opened. Bower thanked the man and opened the envelope. It was a very long tele-gram; but he only glanced at it in the most cursory manner before putting it in a pocket.

At a distant corner of the road by the side of the lake, Millicent turned for a last look at the hotel, and waved a hand at them. Helen replied. them. Helen replied.
"I almost wish now she was staying here a few days," she said wistfully.
"She ought to have seen our valley in its

Laughs With Joy! No More Indigestion

Montreal Man So Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has the Travellers take hold of, it was a Kept Him Well Ever Since.

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common today: suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise, I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every who is suffering from dys-Your grateful servant, D. R.

Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, All who have weak stomachs, and who suffer with indigestion, headaches, billousness, can be perfectcured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills; 25c per box, at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kington, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y.

oright, was now a turbulent and foaming stream. Care was needed not to slip. If anyone fell into that miniature torrent, it would be no easy matter to escape without broken bones.

"Would you ever believe that a few hours' snow, followed by a hot sun, would make such a difference to a mere ribbon of water like this?" she asked, when they were passing through a narrow cleft in a wall of rock, through which the lin roared with a quite respectable fury.

with a quite respectable fury.
"I am in a mood to believe anything," said Bower. "Do you remember our first meeting at the Embankment Hotel? Who would have imagined then that Millicent would have imagined then that Millicent Jaques, a few weeks later, would rush a thousand miles to the Maloja and scream her woes to heaven and the multitude? Neither you nor I, I fancy, had seen her during the interval. Did she tell you the cause of her extraordinary behavior?"

you the cause of her extraordinary behavior?"

"No, I did not ask her. But it scarce needed explanation, Mr. Bower. I—I fear she suspected me of filtring. It was unjust; but I can well conceive that a woman who thinks her friend is robbing her of a man's affections does not wait to consider nice points of procedure."

"Surely Millicent did not say that I had promised to marry her?"

Though Helen was not prepared for this downright plunge into an embarrassing discussion, she managed to evade a direct answer. "There was more than a suggestion of that in her words last night," she said. "Perhaps she thought so in all seriousness. You seem to have undeceived her today, and I am sure you must have dealt with her kindly, or she take in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distake in such frank terms to me. There, now! That is the end of a very distance the report on street lighting for Ald. Richter, will attend a special meeting of the board on Wednesday afternon next to discuss some misunder-standing regarding the compressors. It seems that in his inspection Mr. Angus declared that the air compressors were not up to specifications.

agreeable episode. Shall we say no more about it?"
Helen was flushed and hurried of speech; but she persevered bravely, hoping that Bower's tact would not desert him at this crisis. She quickened her pace a little, with the air of one who has said the last word on a difficult topic and is anxious to forget it.

GAL 49—STORY

Bower overlook her. He grasped her is anxious to forget it.

GAL 49—STORY

Bower overtook her. He grasped her shoulder almost roughly, and drew her round till she faced him. "You are trying to escape me, Helen!" he said hoarsely. "That is impossible. Someone must have told you what I said to Millicent in the hearing of all who chose to listen. Her amazing outburst forced from me an avowal that should have been made to you alone. Helen, I want you to be my wife. I love you better than all the world. I have my faults—what man is flawless?—but I have the abiding virtue of loving you. I shall make your life happy, Helen. For God's sake, do not tell me that you are already promised to

[To be Continued.]

MUNICIPAL POT IS

Mayor Coleridge, of Ingersoll, Will Be Urged to Run Again.

[Special to The Advertiser.] assoll, Dec. 7.—Already considerming municipal elections. Councillor Walter Mills has announced that he will in all probability seek re-election. Mr. Mills has served the municipality in various ways for a number of years, and feels like staying in harness.

Judging from the sentiment expressed

Local Option Issue, From present indications there will be no important issue at the elections apart from the vote on local option. A vote will also be taken to change the name and increase the powers of the electric commission. This, however, is simply in eccordance with the statute, and is not likely to involve any opposition.

Commissioner J. G. Gibson has re eived a telegram from Ottawa, in which the Duke of Connaught expressed his pleasure at the successful opening of 'Connaught Hall."

Want Factories.

The necessity of greater efforts looking to industrial activity have been empty of the second sec phasized by a number of businessmen The feeling exists, that while Ingersoll is a busy, hustling town, with worldwide prestige in several respects, more should be done to increase the number of industries. All the industries here are busy to capacity, and some are running extra hours to keep pace with their or-

The hockeyists are anxiously awaiting a conference with Mr. Mason in regard to the privileges of the rink for the sea-The boys are desirous of taking up training in a systematic way, but they do not feel justified in going ahead with their work until the question of securing the rink has been disposed of.

TRAVELLERS' CLUB ENTERTAINED FRIENDS

Over a Hundred Members and Guests Were in Attendance.

The board of directors of the Travellers' Club entertained the members of Utah, but owns a farm in London and a large number of visitors in the clubrooms last evening. Over 100 were in attendance, and like everything else pronounced success.

The first portion of the evening was spent in cards and smoking. Progres-

That have great medicinal power, are raised to their highest efficiency, for purifying and enriching the blood, as they are combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.
40,366 testimonials received by actual count in two years. Be sure to take Hood's Sarsaparilla Get it today. Sold by all druggists everywhere. 100 Doses One Dollar.

WATER COMS. WILL GET FROM UNDER

Street Lighting Matter Is To Be Sent to the Hydro Electric Commission.

A MEETING IN LONDON

Prof. Angus' Bill for Inspecting Pumps Here Will Be Paid at Once by the Commissioners.

The water commissioners will pay the bill rendered by Prof. R. W. Angus. Toronto, for the inspection of the pumping machinery at the Horton street plant. Prof. And who is a brother of Mr. Harry Angus, E. E., been paid. In the meantime the amount

At the board on Friday Mr. Angus asked that his account be paid, as it was long overdue. He offered to come to London and explain the situation. "We will have to pay Mr. Angus' bill," explained Chairman Pocock, "We had better have him come to London, and we might perhaps find out something to interest us." The other commissioners agreed with the chairman, and Prof. Angus will be present on Wednesday next. Street Lighting. Chairman Pocock explained that the ydro-electric commission would sit in London at some future date to hear the protest of the city council against charging $20,000 for street lighting. He thought that not only the rate for 1912 should be settled, but that for 1913 should be struck. "I am in favor of placing a light on each pole," said Mr. Pocock, "I think we had better memorialize the council to do this and let the hydro-electric commission settle the rates. It would be a good thing for the city."

"With the cut in power we might BEGINNING TO BOIL get the city lighted this way for $30,On motion of Clared the mayor. Commissioner Stevenson the suggestion of Chairman Pocock was adopted, namely, to have a light on every pole Street Watering.

There is a dierence of $1,000 between the council and the water commissioners on the cost of water for street watering purposes. The aldermen claim that since a large number of streets were oiled last year, a deduction of $1,000 should be made in the charge able interest is being manifested in the for water. General Manager Glaubitz will take the matter up with Ald. Wright, chairman of the committee, and will report back next week. The board agreed to furnish free water to the playgrounds at the St. George's, Chesley avenue and Victoria schools for skating rinks. General Manager Glaubitz reported that the commission would have 5.000 Niagara power customers by the end of the year. The peak load now registered 3,300-horsepower bought from the hydro-electric commission.

Those present at the meeting were: Chairman Philip Pocock, Commissioners J. H. Chapman, John Marr, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Mayor Graham, General Manager Glaubitz and Secretary Ell-

WILLIAM TAYLOR WAS FOUND NOT GUILTY

London Township Farmer Left the County Court With Clean Character.

William Taylor, farmer, of London Township, charged with collecting $313 elonging to Eugene W. Patrick, and onverting the same to his own use, stepped from the prisoner's box, a free man, after his trial had lasted for three hours at the county assizes on Friday afternoon. The defendant was charged with committing the alleged offences in the years of 1908, 1909, 1910 and 1911. He was committed by Squire Chittick on Aug. 30 and furnished bail, $800 by himself, and two other sureties for $400 each.

Changed His Opinion.
Mr. E. W. Patrick, the plaintiff in the case, stated in his evidence that the did not think that the fraud was committed intentionally by the prisoner, but at the time of entering the suit he had held a different opinion.

Mr. Patrick is a resident of the State

ECZEMA

Also Called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pruritus, Milk-Crust, Weeping Skin, etc. ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY The first portion of the evening was spent in cards and smoking. Progressive euchre for a prize was indulged in and was won by Mr. Tom Haygarth, at ter an interesting play.

The second was devoted to a must sleal program, in which Ed. Crawford I Ed. Webster, Chris. Pink and Ken Murray took part. The vocalists are convenient in the condition of the evening's entertainment. It might simply be said that chance to show you that I know what I amount their portion of the evening's entertainment was excellent. Mr. Miller, of the woodstock, a visitor, also favored with a solo in fine voice. Mr. Bert Weir acted as accompanist.

Fresident J. K. Spry welcomed the guests in a brief speech, and assured in the mid that a good time was to be their portion. The committee in charge worked faithfully to make the "At Home" at them that a good time was to be their portion. The committee in charge worked faithfully to make the "At Home" at the charge of the smoker committee, C. H. Firth, H. W. Lind, A. H. Moran and others looked after the comfort of the guests in a most capable manner.

The direction of the evening's entertainment was excellent. Mr. Miller, of my mild, soothing, guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day that a solo in fine voice. Mr. Bert Weir acted as accompanist.

Fresident J. K. Spry welcomed the guests in a brief speech, and assured for you. Just try it and you will see I apportant the portion of the evening's entertainment was excellent. Mr. Miller, of my mild, soothing, guaranteed cure that will end to show you will read the portion of the evening's entertainment was excellent. An advance of the smoker committee of the smoker committee, C. H. The committee of the smoker committee, C. H. Sp. Firth, H. W. Lind, A. H. Moran and others looked after the comfort of the guests in a most capable manner.

The direction of the evening's entertain and the program in the progra and when I say cured, I mean just what I say—C-U-R-E-D, and not merely patch-

WILL MAKE YOUR CHRISTMAS HAPPY

This Small Amount Will Send Home a Handsome

Mason & Risch Piano

"The Piano With a Soul"

And Will Tend to Make the Year 1913 and Each Succeeding Year Happy for Your Entire Family.

Hundreds of music-loving people in London declared that Christmas, 1911, was the last one they would ever spend without music in the home. Many have carried out that resolution and purchased Canada's Premier Piano, a MASON & RISCH. If you have not carried out your resolution you have yet three weeks in which to do so. To assist purchasers who have so many ways for their money at this particular time of the year, providing all the comforts of the home for 1913, of which a piano is the most essential part, Mason & Risch, Limited, will arrange terms to suit your pocketbook. To you we extend this invitation, which we trust you may accept before the new year.

MASON & RISCH, Limited, 248 Dundas Street.

PIANOS

GRANDS VICTROLAS and RECORDS.

OPEN EVENINGS.

Ready For Christi

It is none too soon-Buy now, we will deliver when wanted. Remember, selections are large now and you can get the pick. In accordance with OUR USUAL CHRISTMAS CUSTOM, we have arranged SPECIAL EASY CREDIT TERMS during these sales so as to allow everybody a chance to give their dear ones sensible Christmas presents and not miss the money whilst paying for them.

THREE ROOMS FURNISHED __Any three you ant. Prices $87.50 and Up

EASY PAYMENTS ARRANGED.

FOUR ROOMS FUI VISHED-Any four you select. Prices start from EASY PAYMENTS ARRANGED.

TOYS AT WHOLESALE. This department of our business is maintained for the benefit of our many hundreds of customers and friends who have children to provide for and who want to supply their little ones with a variety of Toys without paying out much money. We do not sell Toys for profit, our prices are wholesale prices. We have all of the popular Toys in stock and carry a full line of Doll Cabs and Kindergarten Sets, Autos and Golden Oak Bookcase and Writing Desk, has large mirror top, elegant bookcase section and new style desk section. For this sale, special terms—$2.00 down and $1.00 a week cleans them out.

Parlor Suites in three and five pieces, covered in silks or plush, and carved and polished in birch mahogany. To clear out these Parlor Suites we offer them at greatly reduced prices during our great holiday sale. One like cut only $22. $3 down and $1 weekly.

Large assortment of Brass Beds, ranging in prices from $14 up to $50. Small payment down and small payment a week secures you one of these during our Christmas sale.

Large assortment of days

styles in Child's Reed and Golden Oak Rockers, ranging in prices from 60c up.

on a Baseburner. We show the world famous line of Penbest Canadian makes, and guaranteed up-to-date. Our prices are right, and easy $1 a week while they last.

Parlor Chairs, all Parlor and Pedestal kinds, in assorted Tables, in oak or ma-French silks and hogany, to clear at senvelours. From $3, sational prices for this great sale. Any Par-$4, $5 up to $10. Any one Parlor lor Table in the store Piece in the store $1 per week, Only 15 more down and $1 a week shopping for this great sale. Christmas.

IT PAYS TO TRADE AT THE BIG We want to figure with you STORE WITH THE LITTLE PRICES.

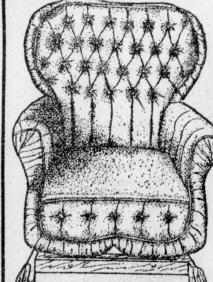

Any article purchased at our store for cash or credit will be held in hand, or be deinsular Stoves and Ranges, livered the same day at your home if desired. LOOK FOR THE BIG STORE WITH LITTLE PRICES.

credit terms. $3 down and SPECIAL EASY CREDIT TERMS FOR THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

Well-known Toronto Couch, upholstered and tuffed, in Spanish leather, with a full set of steel springs. Regular Large Leather Rockers, upholstered in Spanish leather, with wide arms and large frames. At all prices, $5.75, $6.50, $8.75, $10, out they go while they last for $1 down and 50c a week.

cash disbursements and collections evidence, found no reason for a charge in the township of West Nissouri, and made by him. Some of the items were to be laid against Mr. Taylor, and sold a stallion to the defendant in The suit of James Henderson vs. W.

PHONE Nº 2988K

was settled out of court. In this case Judge Macbeth, in summing up the the plaintiff is a horse breeders, living George Farnsworth repares lace April, 1910, for the above amount. The plaintiffs claimed that the defendant

> Five cases remain to be held at the December assizes.

NEW FOX FARM

Ridgetown for Raising Them, [Special to The Advertiser.]

Ridgetown, Dec. 7.-Mr. Geo. Farns had not paid anything toward the horse worth has just completed the building and brought on legal action according- of a five-foot cement wall around a worth has just completed the building A settlement was made out of acre of ground for Messrs. W. D. Bats and Wm. Watson, on the lake shop, who will establish a black fox farm. It the inclosure are built cement dens and other buildings, in reality the place r sembles a fortress. The land is cov ered with bushes, and will make an ideal place for raising them. place for raising these valuable