

LABYRINTH BATTLE LASTED 18 DAYS WITHOUT PAUSE

Men Fought Bare-Headed and in Shirt-Sleeves—Germans Almost Wiped Out—French Lost 2,000.

[Canadian Press.] PARIS, June 22.—4:25 p.m.—The fighting from the morning of June 19, resulting in the conquest by the French of the system of works and trenches which the soldiers call "The Labyrinth," is described today in a dispatch from an official observer at the front. "The Labyrinth," lying between Neuville, St. Vast and Fourie, formed a salient of the Germans' line, and its position, a strong one, was greatly reinforced, from time to time.

"French attacks on May 3 and days thereafter failed to notify the situation," the observer writes. "At the end of May the French decided to finish things, and the order was given to take 'The Labyrinth' inch by inch."

"This meant an operation of two principal phases of different nature. It was necessary first, by well prepared and vigorous assaults to get a footing in the enemy organization; and then to progress to the interior, by the communicating trenches, in repulsing the enemy step by step. These two operations cost more than three weeks and resulted in complete success."

"The débouché began May 30. It was necessary first, by well prepared and vigorous assaults to get a footing in the enemy organization; and then to progress to the interior, by the communicating trenches, in repulsing the enemy step by step. These two operations cost more than three weeks and resulted in complete success."

our line without interruption. Our reserves suffered, for in this upturned earth, where every blow from the pickaxe would disinter a body, one can prepare but slowly the deep shelters which the situation demands. We lost many men, but the morale of the others was unshaken. The men asked only one thing—to go forward and fight with grenades, instead of waiting, gun in hand, the unceasing fall of shells.

"Continued 'Little by Little.' "They were hard days, and it was necessary constantly to carry to the fighting men munitions and food, and especially water. Everybody did his best, and we continued our progress, indicated by a cloud of dust resulting from the combat of the grenades, brought us to an extremity north of the 'Labyrinth.' The fighting continued in the Eulenburg and other trenches, and ultimately the 'Labyrinth' belonged to us.

"The Germans lost an entire regiment. We took a thousand prisoners. The rest were killed. A Bavarian regiment also was decimated. Our losses were two thousand men, among whom many were slightly wounded."

"The resistance was as fierce as the attack. Despite the nature of the ground and the organized defence which lasted in preparation for seven months, and despite the artillery, the bomb-throwers and the snipers, we remained the victors."

"Without a step from May 20 to June 17 they fought on this ground, full of big holes and filled with death. The combat never ceased, either day or night. The attacking elements constantly renewed, and the Germans with hand-grenades and demolished their earth barricades. There was not an hour of truce nor an instant of repose. The men were under a sun not in the trenches that they fought bare-headed and in their shirt-sleeves.

"On each of these bloody days there were acts of incomparable heroism. From three sides at a time we attained what the Germans had dug, ten metres underground, formidable shelters. The enemy artillery continued firing on

GERMANS FIRE 1,000 CARLOADS OF AMMUNITION IN TWO HOURS

ASTOUNDING ATTACKS MADE ON THE RUSSIANS IN GALICIA ARE DEFEATED IN THEIR OBJECT—CESAR'S TROOPS WIN SIX DAYS' BATTLE ALONG DNIESTER.

[Canadian Press.] LONDON, June 22.—"The Russian leaders continue optimistic over the situation in Galicia, where the German desire to meet and destroy the Russian main forces in a pitched battle has been frustrated by steady retirement, not at the bayonet point, but quietly by night after due warning and thorough preparation," says the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent.

"The Russian strategy of the past fortnight," the correspondent continues, "was decided on in advance by the Grand Duke Nicholas and his advisers. The only element of surprise in the German onslaught was the artillery attack, which remains astounding and inexplicable. How any army could fire in a couple of hours a thousand rail-carloads of ammunition and continue normal artillery work for weeks afterwards with similar extraordinary outbursts at frequent intervals certainly amounts to a military miracle."

A dispatch to the Central News from Petrograd gives the following Russian official communication, made public Tuesday:

"In the Dniester district a complete success has been attained after six days' fighting near Snovidov. The Russians captured over three thousand prisoners."

"On the Zaleschol (Zalo Szczyky) front during the night of the 20th and after fierce fighting the Russian troops captured 2,000 prisoners."

DETROIT CLUE MAY EXPLAIN OUTRAGE

PROVINCIAL OFFICERS TRACING WRAPPERS AROUND EXPLOSIVES.

Two men and a woman Big Car Resembled One Seen Near Scene of Walkerville Outrage.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WINDSOR, June 22.—Mayor Jackson of Windsor stated this afternoon that he received early this year, an anonymous warning that attempts would be made to wreck public buildings in Windsor and adjoining towns.

"I considered it nothing more than a joke at the time, but I handed it to the provincial police for what it was worth," said he.

Early this morning five secret service men arrived in Windsor, and co-operating with the police at Walkerville, Ford City and provincial officers Nash and Smith. They made a thorough search of Market avenue, Windsor, and several streets in Ford City, where foreigners reside. They would not speak of the result of their search, but intimations that arrests might be made at any time.

Clue Leads to Detroit. One clue obtained leads to Detroit, the last possible moment, and retired Detective-Sergeant Reid, left for Detroit. He hoped to find where the explosive was sold to the dynamiters. It is said that the marking on the wrappers around the explosive point to its purchase or theft in Detroit.

Major Robinson, who is in charge of the Essex regiment, declared that the attempts to destroy buildings had been the Windsor young men to a sense of their responsibilities. During the day volunteers from all over the county were in line at the armories to offer their services.

Many men were from Detroit. One, who had lived in Detroit ten years and had been receiving more than $5 a day in wages, declared that the attempt to blow up the armory had decided him to enlist. He said that other British sympathizers at his factory would enlist at the end of the week.

Dynamite Brought Sunday. One theory to which the police are giving particular attention is that dynamite was brought over to the Canadian side Sunday afternoon in a gas-line launch and left at a riverside restaurant for the evening. It was reported that two men and a woman were seen taking two suitcases from a launch up the river, opposite the head of Belle Isle. Two hours later they left in a big automobile very much like the one which was seen six weeks before the Walkerville explosion. The man was within a hundred yards of the Peabody plant at the time of the blast Monday morning.

Many residents of Windsor blame the Government for increasing the size of the guard at the armory. During August and September of last year, two entries were posted around the building at night. Orders came that two men were not necessary, and one was taken from his position.

AUSTRIA RUSS ARE DIVIDED

AUSTRIAN HEADQUARTERS, June 22, via London, June 22.—1:35 a.m.—Despite the Russian resistance, the general Austrian advance in Galicia continues at the normal daily pace. The Austro-German troops have swept before Lemberg and are now within artillery range of the city.

The Russians along the whole line are abandoning as much Galician territory each day before the energetic offensive as their infantry can cover in twenty-four hours' marching. The normal rate of this advance has been the Russian line on the lower San River. The Russians here defended the Sieniawa positions against the assaults of Archduke Francis Joseph's army until only when the front farther to the south had been broken. Their tenacity enabled the disrupted troops to the southeast to make fairly creditable retreat to the fortified lines some distance in the rear.

As a consequence, however, a big hole has been opened between the two Russian armies, which are now fighting separately and are unable to effect a junction on this side of the Russian frontier.

Russian prisoners explain that the comparatively small booty in artillery was due to the orders from Russian headquarters to the battery commanders to save the guns at all hazards. The officers, however, were informed that they would be held personally responsible for the loss of every gun.

ALFRED NOYES SUED BY WOMAN FOR COMMISSION

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 22.—A civic action for the collection of a commission alleged to be due to a local lecture bureau caused the nominal detention for a short time yesterday of Alfred Noyes, who was attending the Harvard commencement exercises. Today the English poet is under bonds of $500 to appear in court.

Mr. Noyes had just concluded the reading of his poem written for the Phi Kappa Society, when a constable tapped him on the shoulder. At the same time he exhibited his writ. The officer, however, consented to accompany Mr. Noyes to the fraternal dinner, which followed the meeting of the society, and of which Hollis R. Crown and Edmund A. Whitman of this city, alumni of Harvard, furnished the required sureties.

The action was brought by Mrs. A. E. Barrett, who represented that the defendant was likely to leave the state unless held by legal procedure. She claims a commission of $100 in connection with the lecture engagement of the poet in the Lowell Institute course.

CROWN SEEKING LIGHT ON WHITBY MURDER

WHITBY, June 22.—Harry Birmingham, chum of William Stone Jun., the Grand Trunk Railway telegraph operator, who was shot in his office at Whitby Junction station, on December 10, 1914, was the chief witness at a six-day inquest today and was subjected to a severe examination as to his movements and certain revolvers which were said by witnesses to have lain in a drawer in the operating room.

Crown Attorney Greer intimated plainly that in his opinion Birmingham's answers "were not satisfactory," and said "my opinion is that you have forgotten a lot of things the jury would like to hear." Fred Thompson, Grand Trunk Railway foreman, Birmingham's brother-in-law, said he raised no objections to Stone visiting his house during his absence. He could throw no light on the tragedy.

Mrs. Thompson spent two hours in the box and was closely interrogated regarding her relations with Stone, which she declared were of a most innocent character. Her memory appeared defective on a number of points. Stone, she said, had not visited her house on the night of the shooting.

THINKS WIFE ELOPED WITH THE HIRER MAN

Wealthy Elgin County Farmer Consults Authorities.

[Special to The Advertiser.] ST. THOMAS, June 22.—A wealthy farmer living in the eastern portion of the county made a trip to St. Thomas today to interview the authorities concerning the disappearance recently of his wife and hired man. According to his story, his better half left some little time back to make a visit with relatives in the city, and when his hired man also departed he came to the conclusion that they had eloped.

To further strengthen his suspicions he had been informed by an acquaintance that his wife, with their young child, had been seen in London recently.

AUTO ROLLS DOWN BANK, INJURING DOVER TP. MAN

DEATHAM, June 22.—F. Garron, a Dove Township farmer and the young son of Joe Gamble, were badly injured yesterday afternoon, when an automobile rolled several times on a steep embankment and finally plunged them into a ditch-bottom. Garron was badly cut about the arms and head, while the boy passenger had his left leg broken.

SARINIA FEAR OF SMALLPOX OUTBREAK

Infected People Wander At Will About City, It Is Said.

[Special to The Advertiser.] SARINIA, June 22.—"Considerable trouble is being kicked up by residents on South Vider street owing to the action of the board of health in removing a smallpox patient to that section of the city from a hotel, and putting him in a tent in the backyard of a home in this neighborhood."

It is alleged that while the lady of the house takes care of the patient, she at the same time goes between the tent and her own house, while some of her relatives, who reside in the house, have been allowed on the streets, and her grandson and son have been working at the Imperial Oil Works, while at the same time living at the home with the woman.

London Visitor Causing Outbreak. A couple of weeks ago a man visited Sarinina from London, and stopped at an hotel. After a brief sojourn here he returned to London, and was later taken to the isolation hospital in that city, as he was suffering from an attack of smallpox. It is understood that this hotel was fumigated at the time, but on Saturday last the new case broke out, the authorities removing the patient to the residential section on South Vider street, instead of putting the tent up at some place outside of the city.

At the present time the hotel is being fumigated again.

CHOKES TO DEATH AT MEAL. SARINIA, June 22.—An elderly man, whom it is thought is Herman Kroppf of St. Hill, died at the table of a sudden today at the boarding-house of Mrs. Thompson on Christina street, while eating his dinner, a piece of meat lodging in his throat.

The victim's pocketbook contained some money, and also a receipt for dues paid into the Norwich Oddfellows Lodge, No. 317, at that village, which showed that his dues had been paid up until June of this year.

The body was removed to Phillips' morgue and an inquest opened this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

THOUSAND TURKS SIGHTED IN ATTACK

Expected To Clear Out Allies With Explosives, But Failed.

LONDON, June 22.—11:45 p.m.—"Between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening of June 19," says an official communication from the headquarters of the Mediterranean expeditionary force, "the Turks expended some 50 high explosive shells on our left and centre trenches, and were seen massing for an attack. The enemy's heart failed them, and the attack degenerated into a fire action."

"At 7:30 o'clock one of our brigades attacked a Turkish trench, but were unsuccessful, and the Turks in counter-attacks effected a lodgment in their lines at an awkward salient captured by us on the 4th. As the brigade was unable to recover the lost trench, the Fifth Royal Scots, assisted by a company of the Worcester Regiment, came to their help. This attack was ably organized and brilliantly carried out to a successful issue."

"Prisoners state that the Turks expected that their bombardment with high explosives would have cleared us out altogether, and were much disappointed at so little impression being made, though the trenches were much damaged."

"The Turkish dead are estimated at three hundred in front of our position alone, and one thousand in all parts is a low estimate."

GENERAL ATTACK NEAR

PARIS, June 22.—Although operations on the Gopoli Peninsula have assumed the aspect of siege warfare, local attacks and counter-attacks continue, says a Havas dispatch from Athens dated Monday. Fighting was particularly intense last Wednesday, when the Allies repulsed a Turkish attack and took 700 prisoners.

The allied trenches at the southern extremity of the peninsula, the dispatch states, are four miles from Seddul Bahr and form a square near Avl-Burnu.

Great activity has been noted in the allied fleet for the past few days, leading to the belief that a general attack on the straits is imminent.

To The London Advertiser Readers

Here is a thought for the man who is tired of the city's grind and the rattle and bang of things—the man who is nearing fifty and knows that his productive years as a "salary man" are coming to an end. To lose his position might mean going away off among strangers to hide the fight with poverty and old age. But why go "away off"? Take a ride on any of the suburban lines and see the hundreds and thousands of acres of idle land lying close in—held for speculation—not farmed—not used for anything—and all within a half hour's ride of your lifetime associates. What is the matter with a few cows that you can own? Ten acres which you can lease? What is the matter with a neat bungalow and garden, and, if necessary, a man to help you do the work? Ten cows are a living for a good-sized family and their own up-keep. Chickens thrive where cows thrive, and what with milk, butter, eggs, chickens and garden truck—all you can use and plenty to sell—the prospect of living just outside of the din is anything but disheartening. Our book tells you just what to do about these things.
