Consul Myers was again visited yesterday by the kidnapped sailors of the schooner Robert Louis. Their various stories were only corroberative of that of the day before. They say they are very anxious to get down to San Francisco, but see no way to do so at once. They claim to be without any means whatever and say they would have had a hard time to exist while here but for a sailor who went good for them at the Occidental. The Consul was unable to assist them, as there is no provision made in the regulations for such cases. The men say that if they had known as well as they do now, how little power the union had to really harm them, they would never have allowed themselves to be handled in the way they were. Being strangers in this portion of the world, they readily believed that any appeal for help would not be listened to, as the very boldness of Union men led them to think that the public must favor they would not go the strangers in the strangers in the listened to, as the very boldness of Union men led them to think that the public must favor they would not go the strangers in the strangers in the listened to, as the very boldness of Union men led them to think that the public must favor they would not go the strangers in the strangers in the listened to, as the very boldness of Union men led them to think that the public must favor they would not go the strangers in the strangers in the listened to, as the very boldness of Union men led them to think that the public must favor they would not go the wires recently; they are "self-explanatory":

In consequence of some difficulty having arisen in getting the trains from the East examined on arrival at Vancouver, the Provincial Health officer has decided upon taking another, and possibly a more effective, method of accomplishing the same object. All these trains come through infected districts—Calgary, for instance—and are a source of danger unless properly inspected. The remembers of Parliament and Cabinet ministers. The group is excellently executed in every respect, and as a political souvenir is quite unique.

The Directors' Action Endorsed.

At a general meeting of the shareholders of the Thunder Hill Mining Company, held yesterday morning, the action of the directors in buying new machinery, etc., and making other improvements, was endorsed. There are over 1,000 tons of one on the dump awaiting the arrival of the 50 ton concentrator recently ordered from England, and a representative of the company is now purchasing additional machinery in the old country.

W. H. Mawdsley, Plumper's Pass, some time ago introduced the Japanese wine berry into his garden, and that the fruit has done well is evident from the sample ent to the Colonist office yesterday. The fruit is about the size of the ordinary blackberry, but of a dark red color, and very fine flavor, somewhat like that of the raspberry. The leaf is large and oval in shape, being of a very light shade of green. The berries grow in large clusters, like grapes, and are said to be abundant.

One Scene of the Farce. One Scene of the Farce.

As an instance of what a farce the health inspection at Vancouver really is, it may be mentioned that a well-known lawyer, who recently visited the terminus, noticed that the health officer in examining the certificates of vaccination did not trouble to open the document, but seemed satisfied when a piece of blue paper was shown him. The lawyer, who had his certificate all O. K., put it in his pocket and instead, folded a blue envelope to resemble what the other people were showing the medico, and was amused to find that he passed it as satisfactory evidence of vaccination!

The firm of Dalby & Claxton have a contract to erect for Mr. Morris Kirby, a hotel to cost between $6,000 and $7,000. Arrested for Larceny.

A young man named H. C. King was arrested, last evening, on a charge of stealing clothes to the value of $60, from Ben Williams' clothing store. From time to time, recently, articles have been missing from the establishment. The case will come up this morning at the police court.

In the various agricultural sections of the country harvesting operations have commenced, and under the most encouraging auspices. The weather is all that can be desired for field work, and the cereal crops promise a bigger yield than usual. The hay crop is also very good. In the Saanich and Goldstream districts most of the grain has been cut. To Look Over the Ground.

Tacoma's Latest Tragedy.

Henry Harris, a German-Russian Jew, aged 54, killed his daughter Etta, aged 25, at Tacoma, Sunday, and then ended his own life, a revolver and a heavy hunting knife being the instruments of death. The daughter had "gone wrong," a Seattle commercial traveller named Ira G. Benton being the cause of her misfortunes. It is believed that Harris became almost crazed by his daughter's downfall, and was temporarily insane when he made his way to her apartments and fired the fatal shots.

Hardy Fruits.

For some time past the hardy forms of Europe, have been tested at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, with the result that they have been found admirably suited to troductiveness. Drowned at Race Becks.

An Indian fisherman, on Saturday evening, picked up in the vicinity of Race Rocks an upturned cance, to which was clinging a Beecher Bay Indian known as Jimmy, or Big Jim. The man was in a thoroughly exhausted condition, and when he had partially recovered it was learned that he had come to Victoria, accompanied by his klootchman, on Saturday morning, and sold some salmon. Before leaving in their cance for home, they procured a bottle of whiskey, and had not paddled far before they broached the bottle. They drank freely, both becoming intoxicated, and in changing positions the cance was upset. Jimmy clung to the capsized craft, but his companion was too drunk to make any effort to save her life, and was drowned without a struggle. Jimmy is well known in Victoria, as was also his wife.

The petition placed in circulation several months ago, asking the City Council to continue Broad street on to Cormorant, has been revivified, and is now receiving many signatures. Propped on the Way.

A few huge boulders, casually dropped on the way, lave for weeks past been an eye sore and a danger on Menzie's street and Birdcage walk. It is supposed that they were intended for the drill shed, and accidently dropped from the wagons engaged in carting stone to that building. They serve at present as conspicuous fixtures for the enterprising bill-poster, and are a source of a danger to traffic.
