The Trotter as a Producer of the General-Purpose Horse.

While it is believed to be impossible to produce an all-purpose horse or even to establish a general-purpose breed of horses, it is believed to be entirely practicable to produce horses adapted to a variety of purposes, or general-purpose horses, by the use of sires of one or the other of the well established special-purpose breeds; and it is our purpose to show that the trotter possesses special characteristics and is better adapted to the production of the general-purpose horse than any other breed of horses.

New Brunswick Horses.

A late issue of the Maine Farmer thus writes about the Government stock horses:—

"The fact that the people of the State of Maine are sending thousands of dollars annually to the Province for carriage and draught horses, is reason enough for attention being called to the importations made by the Provincial Government, and the good results already to be seen. The breeders of Maine are not realizing the importance of giving attention to the larger classes, but have been straining every nerve to perfect the trotting and gent's driving interests. Maine, we trust they may be directed eastward, but against this drain the Farmer has been lifting its voice for years. There may not be the fancy prizes realized for such conditions, but while so many conditions enter in to prevent one's realizing profit with this class, it has been urged that the breeding of draft, or larger carriage horses, can be made profitable to any man owning a good brood mare. This position cannot be refuted, yet it is no way antagonizes other features of breeding. The man who can make a success with trotting stock, might as well fail with percherons or Clydes. The average farmer cannot give the time and attention necessary for the highest results with trotting stock, while he can raise yearly a draft or coach horse at a good profit.

"This field has been too long neglected, and even today to compare with stallions weighing 1300 lbs. or over are to be found in the State. The sums paid for stock imported only tell a part of the story, as many are working along with small sized animals, and have not the means to produce a better class. One has but to cross the boundary line, or journey through Aroostook, to see a marked difference in the size of the average farm horse, compared with that of country or western horses. It will be years before we can supply the demands of the home market, and until then we must yearly import the stock. With this fact staring us in the face, the recent importation by the Provincial Government, of stallions to be used throughout the several counties, and under conditions favorable to the average farmer, becomes a matter of interest to us this side of the line.

"In July, 1886, the Board of Agriculture of New Brunswick passed a resolution asking the government to import eight or ten horses for stock purposes, a portion of the grants to agricultural societies being appropriated each year to the payment of the cost of the horses. The request being complied with, Hon. David McNeil, Provincial Secretary, was authorized to make purchases. He visited England and Scotland, made a thorough inspection of the stock, and secured two Cleveland Bays, weighing 1638 and 1637 lbs., and two Percherons, weighing 1673 and 1680 lbs., and two shire horses, weighing 1701, 1637, 1639, 1630, 1638, and 1417 lbs., the last only three years old, four Percherons, weighing 1673, 1680, 1680, and 1470 lbs., and in addition, three three years old, weighing 1722 lbs. All these are entered in the Stud Book, and were also thoroughly examined by competent veterinaries before shipment, with special reference to soundness. After returning to the State, he purchased two representatives of trotting families, and a thoroughbred runner from Kent. The trotters are an inbred Morgan, and Harry Wilkes, the representative of that noted family. Want of space prevents our giving the breeding of each individual animal, but what we here present will satisfy the most pedulous as to their superiority.

Then follows the government regulations regarding the horses.

Sparrows a "Virulent Curse."

In the last annual report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture we find an elaborate discussion of the English Sparrow, by Dr. C. Hart Merriam, the Ornithologist to the Department, in which some startling facts are brought out. It seems that this bird, first introduced into America 37 years ago, has now established itself in thirty-five States and five Territories. This remarkable invasion is due largely to two causes, first, its amazing fecundity, and second, the protection afforded it, either directly or indirectly, by man. Dr. Merriam showing that a single pair of sparrows in a year are reared six broods of young, and that the progeny of a single pair (assuming for the sake of computation that all live) may in ten years reach the remarkable figure of 275,716,963,698. Among the evil deeds imputed to this feathered foreigner are the driving away of native birds, the injury of garden, grain and fruit crops, the defilement of public and private buildings, and the injury to the health of man and stock. It is said that laws have been enacted looking toward its extermination.

The Stable Cure.

I was not a little startled yesterday at meeting on the street, in the best of health apparently, an old acquaintance, a man I had supposed to be lying in a farm house, and bought a horse for him. The last time I heard of him was about a year ago, and then he had been given up by the doctors as a hopeless case. I congratulated him on his recovery, and he must confess that my lively emotion in regard to him was one of curiosity. In answer to my inquiries, he told me that when the medical men had exhausted their resources he determined to try in practice a plan of his own. Accordingly he journeyed by easy stages to the Blue Mountain region of Virginia, where he established himself in a farm house, and bought a horse for him. He spent the whole day in the open air, taking care of the steed himself and riding him about the neigh-

FARM NOTES.

Kindness to domestic animals always pays.

The honey crop of the United States this season is one of the poorest known for years.

Yearlings and calves should be sheltered at night. A month's growth is easily used up by exposure to one cold storm. Every effort should be used now to prevent loss of condition which is very difficult to restore during the winter.

Shut the cows into the barn now. Frosted grass is not the food to make milk and butter from, and serves to injure the appetite for the much better food that has been stored for their use. Cows will gain in milk, and the butter made from it will be of better quality if they are now confined to the barn.

If horses or cattle are troubled with constipation, give such animals half a peck of potatoes, each day, for a week or two. Two quarts of wheat bran mixed with a horse's oats night and morning has a tendency to prevent and relieve constiveness. Bran fed moderately and regularly to cows, ewes and brood sows will keep the bowels in proper condition.

For worms in hogs there is no simple, more harmless and effective remedy than sulphur. Swine rapidly partake of it when mixed with gruel or other sloppy food. For pigs under three months old, a dessert spoon to a tablespoonful. It may be given four days in succession, once or twice daily.

There are so many deplorable cases in which old farmers have worked hard all their lives have been deprived of their little all by some unfortunate loan or worse investment, that we are disposed to advise keeping the farm, even though the rental amounts to but a small percentage of interest on the value of the property. The safest of all banks is a bank of earth.

Care of Milk.

It is only the poorest of poor man's food which produces milk that is not of the best quality. As a very general rule the mischief is done after the milk reaches the house. Here there is no proper place to put it, and milk is very carelessly handled. As a rule, the milk is put in a tin can, and the can is not washed with boiling hot water, and this must be done within one hour after churning, or good butter cannot be made. The milk should be kept in a clean, cool place, and the can should be washed with boiling hot water, and this must be done within one hour after churning, or good butter cannot be made. ## Shoes for Slippery Roads.

We live and learn. The Germans are an ingenious people. They have invented horsehoes for bad roads. This is how they do it. The blacksmith, when finishing a horsehoe, punches a hole in the two ends. When the shoe is cold he takes a screw thread and screws into the shoe, when on the horse's foot, a sharp pointed stud of an inch in length. With shoes thus fitted the horse travels securely over the worst possible roads. Both riding, driving and draught horses are shod in the same way.

What Ails You?

Do you have obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges from head and throat, sometimes profuse, acid and watery, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; dull, heavy headache, "splitting headaches," are your eyes weak, watery or inflamed; is there ringing in the ears, with more or less deafness; do you have to back, cough and gag, in your efforts to clear your throat in the morning; do you experience offensive matter, scabs from nose, perhaps tinged with blood; is your voice changed and is there a "nasal twang" to it; is your breath offensive; are your senses of taste and smell impaired; if you have all or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common and dangerous malady—chronic nasal catarrh. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, which is sold by druggists at only 50 cents, will cure it. The manufacturers of this wonderful remedy offer, in good faith, $500 for a case of this disease which they cannot cure.

Clean the cellars thoroughly before the vegetables and fruits for winter use are stored in them. No one should think for a moment of having the food he is to eat during the next six or eight months stored in an unhealthy place.

There are 45,000,000 sheep in the United States.

ALL SORTS.

The man who invests his money in a barbershop is likely to have a loss share.

PERFECTLY CHARMING is what the ladies say about "Lotus of the Nile" Perfume. Never take physic until you have tried patience.

It is a singular thing that a man never begins to show his temper until he loses it. George and Throat and Lung Troubles are treated successfully with Allen's Lung Balm.

If some folks had their way about this world how few people could live comfortably in it.

THE CHILDREN CRY FOR IT. NELSON'S Ointment is pleasant to take and a positive relief in the most distressing cases.

Is there anything more annoying than having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more delightful than getting rid of it? Holloway's Corn Cure will do it. Try it, and be convinced.

It is so to see family relics sold at auction, but the most painful thing under the hammer is generally your thumb-nail.

From Impure Breath and Stomach Issues comes from a disordered stomach. In many cases the actual cause is Catarrh. Nasal Balm will remove the cause and cure.

Some men speak of the loss of sleep as if they had already had it in their possession and had in some way mislaid it.

"Don't you think it is getting pretty late, George?" "Yes, dear, it is, a little late for one to be out, but not so very late for two."

The Heavens Chinese and all Christian people are fast finding out that the only reliable is the Imperial Tartar Baking Powder, made by E. W. Gillet, Toronto, maker of the famous Royal Yacht Cake.

"What kind of boys go to heaven?" "Dead boys," yelled the youngest member of the nation.

Flattery is a safe coin which our own vanity has made current, and which will never be out of credit as long as there are knaves to receive it and fools to receive it.

Revolving Sicknesses. The most prevailing complaints at this season are rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throats, inflammations and congestions. For all these and other painful troubles, Dr. Williams' Yellow Oil is the best internal and external remedy.

"I say, Jenkins, can you tell a young, tender chicken from an old tough one?" "Of course I can." "Well, how?" "By the teeth. Chickens have no teeth." "No, but I have."

For a cough, boil one ounce of flaxseed in a pint of water, strain and add a little honey, one ounce of rock candy, and the juice of three lemons; mix and boil well. Drink as hot as possible.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. A. C. Kellogg's Dysentery Cure, ready for use. It cures all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young, old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery and all summer troubles.

Applicant—Is this the place to apply for a pension? "I'm an old soldier, sir, and up to the present time I haven't asked the Government to give me a pension. He was struck down by cholera, and he was a brave man. Pension Agent—You want a back pension? Certainly! That's where I was shot."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A true friend to the human system. It cures the dyspeptic, the nervous, the anemic, the weak, the sickly, the old, the young, the rich, the poor, and the invalid. It is a true friend to the human system. There was once a Irishman who went into the store and asked for a spar. "Why, said the dealer, we don't sell spar at a time, we sell them in pairs. One spar would be no good. Ours, replied Pat, would be no good either, but wouldn't the other side go too?"

If so send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers!
