NOTE AND COMMENT.

Let us stop to think of the aged. For us, too, the evening shadows will close at length, and we shall, perchance, be left at desolate hearthstones. We shall need to be remembered then.

The day of the dirty and ragged bank bill is nearly over. The new Bank Act, it is said, will contain a provision that banks must not pay out soiled or ragged notes. The four dollar bills will also be called in, as there has been much complaint of these being mistaken for ones.

The more that is being found out about Ontario's clay belt, the better the country appears to be. An engineer who recently travelled over the route of the Transcontinental from the Quebec boundary to the end of steel, west of Cochrane, reports 375 miles of line with only twenty rock cuts and some of these are merely outcroppings.

nuisance that should and can be prohibited. He has issued a writ for an injunction and $500 damages against a fellow citizen and neighbor whose cocks crow so loudly that they disturb his slumbers. This is a test case for all the province.

A splendid start has been made in the West for a record crop this fall. The area in Saskatchewan seeded with wheat is increased 35 per cent., and in Alberta 15 per cent. Manitoba has increased its acreage of other grains. Seeding is completed, warm rains have been widespread, and conditions generally are most satisfying. Losses from unthreshed grain left out over winter will be comparatively small.

A 24 hour a day vigil at the wireless instrument will be required after July 1st of all craft leaving an American port and carrying 100 persons, if the Hitchcock bill passed recently by the senate, is agreed to by the House. The bill specifies that each vessel must have two operators, one of whom must be always on duty and the wireless apparatus must be capable of sending messages 100 miles and receiving them from a like distance.

The Canadian Railway Commission has ordered the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk, Canadian Northern and Great Northern Railways to furnish before June 6th information showing the number of cars and locomotives in actual service, the number out of commission, number of each ordered and being constructed, and when to be delivered, with a view if necessary of issuing orders compelling the purchase of additional equipment to meet the thousands of complaints now before the board of inadequate equipment.

Arrangements have been completed for the visit to Canada of from fifty to sixty British capitalists, business men and manufacturers, representing all told, something like $200,000,000. The party will include representatives of the London Chamber of Commerce, several British Boards of Trade, Vickers, Limited, Birmingham Small Arms Co., Commill, Laird & Co., and other big British industries. They will sail from Liverpool on the Empress of Britain on May 31st, and will arrive on June 6th, at Quebec, where they will be officially welcomed to the Dominion.

Deafness Can Not be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Exiles in England.

England has been for generations the traditional home of fallen rulers and broken statesmen. "There are living in our midst to-day, unnoticed, save by their own immediate circle of followers, more than one personage who once held a throne or whose sires once made world history. At Wood Norton, in Worcestershire, for instance, Louis Philippe, Duc d'Orleans, senior representative of the Bourbons, and himself a living picture of Henry of Navarre, lives in a quiet, secluded country house, clinging to the last vestiges of royal dignity. He keeps his Court, a Court to which the oldest and the noblest families of France gladly and proudly send their sons. He is known to them as Phillip VIII. He has his chamberlains, his gentlemen of honor, his political bureau, and the like. What matters it if France does not now recognize him? He and those around him cherish the belief that some day they will return to do homage to its rightful monarch. At Chislehurst is the home of the one who for years reigned over Paris as Empress Eugenie. There are few more pathetic figures in our life to-day than this lonely woman—minus husband, minus sons, minus throne—with nothing but the memories of the great days to live on. On the other hand, I can take my readers to streets known to me in Islington, in Stepney, and Soho where men struggle and starve for whom the political police of half Europe are seeking. If you would come with me to some boarding houses just off Bloomsbury squares we could see together ex-commanders, Presidents, and Governors from South America, men who ruled and lost and now find refuge and liberty amongst us."—London Mail.

Christians in India.

Very few English people, even among those most interested in foreign missions, have any real conception of the growth of Christianity in India. The new figures of the last census, analyzed in The Times, indicates that there are 3,574,000 native Christians in India—apart from Eurasian Christians. The Roman Catholics still have first place, with 1,394,000 adherents, but the advance of Roman Catholicism in the decennium is surprisingly small compared with Protestant progress. In the ten years the Protestant Christians have increased by nearly 500,000, compared with the 272,000 increase among Catholics. The Baptists have grown in numbers from 217,000 to 331,000, and are now only a few hundreds behind the Anglicans, who take first place with 332,000—an increase of 26,000 in the decennium. Congregationalists have made very marked numerical progress, especially in southern India, and they now have 134,000—an increase of 87,000 in ten years. The Presbyterians have added 120,000, and the Methodists 96,000. The total Christian population of India is now nearly 4,000,000, or about one in every 80 of the 315,000,000 living in the great dependency.

Novelties Galore with Howe's Big London Circus.

The Great London Shows Consolidated will appear in Strathtroy on Saturday, May 25th.

While the Glasgow World Famous $25,000 Prize Winning Horses are the great feature, the regular line of circus acts is fully up to the Standard set by the Howe Circus in the past.

The Bartik Parisian Troupe are seen for the first time in America, the original Zarfetta Family are among the big acts: Marie Meers of the Meers Sisters, the Riding Lowlanders; the Bronco troupe of acrobats have no peers. The Kentucky High School Horses are seen only with this show. The clowns are funny, the gymnasts clever, the elephants numerous and the menagerie is large.

A free street parade will be given of great length and beauty.

Think it Over.

No business in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns, says an exchange. This applies to all kinds of business, general stores, dry goods, grocers, furniture dealers, manufacturing establishments, automobile dealers, mechanics, professional men, and in fact, all classes of business men. This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter page ad. in every issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two inch space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in the town by looking at the business mentioned in the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to a town but refuses to advertise his business is not a valuable addition to any town.

The Price We Pay.

It is interesting to note the terrible price we pay for the lessons we learn. For instance, it took:

A Johnstown flood to teach that a high dam built in a narrow valley above a town is dangerous.

An Iroquois theatre fire to teach the need of asbestos curtains and abundant and carefully designated exits.

A Collingwood school fire to teach the criminal folly of many-storied school buildings with tortuous stairways that serve as traps.

A Triangle Shirtwaist Factory fire to demonstrate the iniquity of unsupervised sweatshops with locked doors.

A Slocum excursion boat disaster to show the criminality of overloading such boats with human beings but robbing them of life-saving apparatus.

A Titanic shipwreck to convince the public that luxury and speed are of less moment than life, that a lifeboat is of more worth than a tennis court and that a rush for a record may be a dash to death.

It is distressing to think of the thousands of lives that, in these and similar disasters easily within the memory, have been sacrificed to human folly and negligence; and not the least of the lamentable things is that the lessons do not always remain learned. And these calamities of magnitude are not all. The same spirit of recklessness is found in mine disasters resulting from somebody's unnecessary risk, in railroad wrecks, the construction and persistence of firetrap buildings and even, in the neglect of street pavements on which hurrying vehicles and fire apparatus are broken down with possible loss of limb or life. The more one contemplates the fallibility of the human element in the ordinary affairs of life, the more one must marvel at the rare heroism and self-sacrifice displayed in emergencies when the danger is manifest and death is at hand.

Facts and Fiction.

If you wish to draw down the blind, yet have the window open, it is a good plan to have a screw eye in each end of the curtain, which can be fastened on hooks at each end of the window.

To renovate a bath scrub with hot soda water and then scour with sandpaper till the surface is perfectly smooth. Apply evenly two coats of white enamel paint, and, lastly, one of bath enamel. Let it thoroughly dry before using.

One housewife has "an emergency apron" which saves many precious minutes. It is simply a dainty lawn apron in the pocket of which is kept some bit of sewing with scissors, thread, needle, thimble, all ready for work.

To prevent milk from burning, before putting it into the saucepan boil rapidly a few spoonfuls of water (enough to just cover the bottom of the pan), and it will never burn, however fierce the fire.

It is difficult to acquire a satisfactory reputation on the strength of what you are going to do some day.

Lines of lights in an electric sign which a New Jersey man has invented seem to move to change the expression in an outlined human face.

A curious case has been occupying the attention of the medical staff of the Hospital at Bilbao, Northern Spain, of late. A woman called at the hospital not long ago, bringing her son, who has enormous hands and twelve fingers on each. The most curious part of the case is that all her sons possess similar hands. One has twenty-one fingers, another twenty-three, and the other five children twenty-four each. All are living and enjoying good health.

The Reasons For Divorce.

(New York American).

Here are a few statistics on divorce that throw some light on the prevalence of unhappy marriages, and illustrate the need of observing the dictum, "Bear and Forbear."

The prosecuting attorney of St. Louis estimates that thirty men desert their wives in that city each year and gives the following table of reasons assigned last year:

By wives—"He couldn't give up clubs," 417; "The other woman," 223; "Out with the boys too much," 405; "His relatives interfered," 217; "He was just too cranky," 195; "Married in haste," 104—total, 1,560.

By husband—"She's extravagant," 386; "She nagged me," 359; "She neglected household duties," 276; "Her relatives interfered," 215; "She had a violent temper," 102; "She was unreasonably jealous," 86—1,560.

What is true in St. Louis is probably true in other cities. Marriage is a bargain that both parties ought to live up to. Until they do the army of the mismatched will continue to increase.
