

Norwich Cathedral, another famous Benedictine foundation, dates from 1096. Twice it was seriously injured by fire, but it was again consecrated with great pomp, in the presence of Edward

NORWICH CATHEDRAL.

I., in 1278. The singular attached chapels, with Norman arcades, the bold flying buttresses, and the noble spire added by Bishop Pery in the fourteenth century, will be observed in the engraving.

The city of Wells dates from the time of the Romans and