

THE BIRTH AND BOYHOOD OF JESUS.

The sermons contained in this volume were extemporaneously delivered in the course of a regular ministry, with no thought of publishing them in permanent form. In doing so now, no attempt has been made to change them from their original form or style.

By George F. Pentecost, D.D.

Price, cloth, postpaid, $2 10.

The Selkirk Settlers

In Real Life.

By Rev. R. G. MacBeth, M.A.

With Introduction by SIR DONALD A. SMITH, K.C.M.G.

Cloth, 116 pages.

Price, 75 cents.

A most interesting picture of the unique and primitive life lived in that "Western Acadia" for more than half a century. The author is a native of Kildonan, and therefore thoroughly familiar with his subject.

A New Canadian Story.

BETH WOODBURN.

BY

MAUD PETITT.

Paper, 25c.

Cloth, 60c.

This is an exceedingly entertaining story of Canadian life, one that the reader will enjoy and get good out of the reading. We can heartily commend it to Sunday-schools and Epworth Leagues. The author has generously resolved to let the profits go to the benefit of the Simcoe Methodist Church. You will, therefore, in buying a copy, aid a good cause while helping yourself to the quiet enjoyment of reading a good story.

A BOLD DEFENCE OF THE SCRIPTURES

For Intelligent and Thoughtful
Men and Women.

"The Old Testament Under Fire."

STAUNCH WORDS ON VITAL TRUTHS.

By A. J. F. Behrends, D.D., S.T.D.

Pastor Central Congregational Church of Brooklyn, N.Y.

A short but serious discussion of the claims and conclusions of the new Biblical criticism, and of the assumptions upon which the conclusions are made to rest. It does not enter into minute details which can only be appreciated by technical scholarship, but it is addressed to all those who, while they may not be Hebraists, are practical logicians.

FROM THE PREFACE.

"The several papers were prepared for audiences composed of intelligent and thoughtful men and women, who were fully competent to follow a close and searching argument, so long as the discussion was not swamped by technical details. To such readers, clerical and lay, they are submitted. Only the salient points are considered. The free conversational style has been retained, as best suited to the purpose which the author had in view."

Cloth, 12mo, 246 pp. Price, $1.00.

THE

Organ Voluntary

A choice collection of

Voluntaries, Transcriptions, Preludes, Afterludes,

and other pieces easily arranged and adapted for Church, School, and Home use.

By A. J. Barrie.

Printed from full-sized engraved music plates,
on heavy plate paper, and bound in strong paper covers.

Price 75 cents, postpaid.

The Need of such a book of Voluntaries as the above has long been felt. The material hitherto available has been too expensive to afford a large repertoire to the average organist. The author is a competent musician, and the experience of years as instructor on piano and organ revealed the need and suggested the preparation of the present work. It will be a boon to the organist and a desirable addition to the music of the home.
