

fruitful one. However, we advise them to remember that their vacation time is not intended to be a period of laziness or license from work. They must all study a little every day, during the coming months, in order not to be deficient when the next term opens, but rather to be prepared to step forward and keep their places that this year they have won.

WE DESIRE to thank Mr. McCabe, of D. & J. Sadlier & Co., for his kindness in sending us copies of the missing numbers of THE TRUE WITNESS for which we asked in our last issue. It is of great importance to a paper to have complete files, and as we were anxious to have more than one set we can thank fully a dozen of other subscribers who have since furnished us with copies of the issues required.

THERE is a rumor, apparently well founded, that at the next Consistory the Pope will confer the red hat of Cardinal on Monsignor Edmund Stonor. This eminent ecclesiastic is in his 64th year, and comes of one of the oldest English Catholic families—the Stonors of Oxfordshire—who trace their descent from St. Thomas de Camoys. The barony of Camoys fell into abeyance during the reign of Henry VIII., but was revived in 1839, by Queen Victoria, in favor of the prelate's father. His elevation to the cardinalate would certainly be very favorably received in England. Mr. Stonor resides in Rome.

THE result of the case taken by the Quebec Bank against Mr. James O'Brien, Jr., has been received with universal pleasure, particularly amongst his numerous friends and wide circle of acquaintances. We can heartily congratulate Mr. O'Brien, not only upon the triumphal termination of the disagreeable case, but also upon the special wording of the judgment which so honorably discharged him as defendant and emphasized the fact that he was exonerated from all blame. It is pleasant to find one of our young and most promising business men coming safely and honorably through such an ordeal, particularly when the result serves the more to elevate him in the estimation of all the community.

A GLANCE over the annual report of the Merchants Bank of Canada, which we publish elsewhere in this issue, will show that the result of the year's business has been fairly satisfactory considering times. The managers and directors had a very difficult year to contend with, yet 94 per cent. on the capital had been realized. Mr. Hague, the President, is a well-known authority on all financial matters, and his address gives evidence of a very successful spirit and of great confidence in the coming prospects of the bank. Mr. Hague is always inclined to look on the brighter side of the case, and the consequence is that no difficulty ever discourages him. To this fine characteristic may be attributed much of the success of his undertakings, and particularly of the large financial institution of which he is president. While the earnings of the past year are certainly below what shareholders might desire, still it is surprising how satisfactory a result has been shown, when the depression and almost universal stagnation would excuse even a greater falling off. On the whole, the Merchants Bank of Canada has held its own and given strong evidence of its stability and of the prosperous outlook that awaits its future operations.

THE San Francisco Monitor, one of the brightest exchanges that we receive, has the following editorial note in its issue of the 8th June:

"The Montreal TRUE WITNESS appears in a new dress of type. It has also changed back to its original eight page form. Under Dr. Foran's able management THE TRUE WITNESS has become one of the ablest Catholic papers in Canada."

Thanks for the kind expression; we only hope to be able to merit a continuation of such a good opinion.

THE Liverpool Catholic Times has the following very suggestive note:

"English people protest very naturally and properly against the outrages committed on Armenian Christians by Turkish soldiers. Yet in a lesser degree brutalities are perpetrated by Christian civilians on Jews in London, the heart of Christian England. On Monday a market-porter in Covent Garden pulled a Jewish fruit-bawler by the beard, and struck him a violent blow, felling him to the ground as he remonstrated. Intolerance like this is frequent in the great central market. The ruffian was fined fifteen shillings and ten shillings costs, and we are not sorry for it. Those who prate about liberty of conscience should not give the example of illiberality to others of different religious opinions from themselves."

We heartily agree with the Catholic Times in its comments upon one of only two anti-Jewish hatred. There is something in this low blackguardism akin to the ignorance that insults our own co-religionists, when a certain faction, the ranks of which are filled up of the most intolerant of creatures, wax patriotic (?)

in the dog days. The age is long gone when civilization could allow such exhibitions of fanaticism.

Is the English quarters in Rome a new convert has appeared. The Dowager Duchess of New Castle is the person, and she has been received by the Pope. Her daughter is the Princess Daria Pamphili, one of the many English-speaking ladies married into Roman families. The old lady is a most interesting personage.

SOME Kansas militiamen slipped into the armory at Wichita and spiked all the States' artillery. The guns were old and had been condemned. The action may not have been very regular, but it was certainly quite natural. "Self-preservation is the first law of nature." A soldier may be very ready to meet death on the field of battle, when fighting for his country, but he generally does not care to be blown to atoms, simply because the State sees fit to keep guns that are dangerous and condemned.

A CRATE's sermon is reported in the Church Times, and one passage seems to have created quite a sensation in the congregation. He appealed to the old men thus: "And you old man with your hoary head," then turning to the young men he continued his appeal: "And you young man, with your blooming cheek." The clergyman tried to change the phrase, but it was too late. It is not probable that the preacher in question will again attempt the poetic style of pulpit oratory.

THAT must have been a very funny story that Jacob Kahuton, of 65 Ludlow street, New York, told a fellow-workman, Ernest A. Krones, on a recent occasion. It appears that Krones did not appreciate the story; he had heard it before and he got tired. He yawned, threw up his arms and dislocated his left shoulder. A surgeon was called in to reset the bone. A man that goes about with such effective stories should be locked up; he is not a safe customer to be abroad.

DIVORCE statistics have always a certain degree of interest for us. We look upon them as a pretty fair moral barometer. Unfortunately it is generally too clouded. The following looks unpleasantly dark:

"Divorce petitions in England for the ten years from 1883 to 1892 averaged 533 a year, there being nothing to indicate a progressive increase; the lowest number, 450, in 1885, was followed by the highest, 581, in 1886; the number for 1892 was 539. The same holds true for divorces granted, the average being 396, with the extremes of 316 in 1885 and 490 in 1890. The remarriages of divorced persons, however, show a steady increase year by year, from 122 in 1883 to 190 in 1893, average being 163."

A notable absence of Catholic influences is here.

UNDER the heading, "The Grandest Song on Earth," a contemporary refers to the "Magnificat." We perfectly agree with the statement. There is a sublimity about that exultant hymn of the Blessed Virgin that is not to be found in the most lofty flight of the greatest poets of the ages. The writer of the comments on the glorious hymn says:

"No wonder that in solemn Vespers the Altar is incensed, for the closed tabernacle contains the very Holy One who was then shrouded in Mary's heart. 'Tis a song enshrining all the grandeur of God, the grand human echo of the music of divine mercy then silent in her bosom. Ah! me! discords still will come to mar the beauty of the holy hymn; but Mary's voice is ever ready, sweet and tender, if only we plead with her to bring, by its own power, our voices, our hearts and our lives into the harmony of the eternal hymn again."

THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL TO SPEAK

The members of Branch 232, of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association (Canada council), will hold an open meeting and smoking concert in their rooms, Federation hall, corner St. Catherine and Drummond street, on the 28th inst. Amongst the well known speakers who will be present will be the Hon. J. J. Curran, Solicitor-General, who will deliver an address on the "Good and Welfare of the Association Throughout Canada." All the members of sister branches and friends are extended a cordial invitation to be present.

DOMINION DAY LACROSSE.

A lacrosse match between the officers and members of St. Anthony's Catholic Young Men is to be one of the features at their picnic, on Dominion Day, at St. Hilaire (Ottawa Park). The officers are endeavoring to secure the services of the reverend gentleman who is an officer of the society and the owner of famous Tom Dwyer's lacrosse, to play with them.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Father Dodsworth, S. J., of Toronto, Ont., who passed through the city last week, delivered the sermon on the feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus to the members of the League of the Sacred Heart, on last Friday, at St. Ann's Church.

Mr. George Brown, representing Donahoe's Magazine or Boston, will be in the city for several days. Donahoe's Magazine is one of the leading Catholic publications in the United States. The excellence of its illustrations and literary matter commend it to all Catholic readers.

GLADSTONE'S POSITION.

Will Support Home Rule Even Though It Is Favored by Tories.

The Chicago Times-Herald publishes an unusually interesting interview with Mr. Gladstone on the prospects of home rule. In the course of that interview the great English statesman says most pointedly:

"In my opinion, the claim of Ireland might not improbably have been at this moment accepted and established by law but for the disastrous effect of this schism in bewildering the mind of British electors (as it might well do) and the effect thereby produced in curtailing the Liberal majority of 1892. What I say is, I'll tell the Tories to go ahead, with my blessing; and I'll tell them that any support at my command I'll render in favor of home rule no matter by whom it is fostered."

The questions propounded to Mr. Gladstone were the following:

"The impression seems to prevail in London, Mr. Gladstone," said the reporter, "that the Tories are gaining ground, that they are likely to win at the general election. It also seems to be regarded as certain that the issue on which the Tories hope to fight and win is the Irish policy of the government, or, more directly, your home rule bill. Americans interested in English politics and friends of Ireland interested as such in the outcome would like to get your views on the situation."

Without making any comment on the suggestion of an interview Mr. Gladstone asked:

"What is the feeling about the Irish situation in America?"

"Disgust at the unfortunate wrangling," was the answer.

"What! Distrust of Mr. McCarthy and his followers?"

"Distrust was not the word used, sir. I said 'disgust.'"

He paused for a moment and then, with a gesture and sigh pitiable in the extreme, the great man, with the luminous mind and the feeble frame, said: "Ah! The hearing is going, you know."

"Ah, no," said Mr. Gladstone, in gentler tones, "no one needs to be told how I feel on the Irish question. Why, with all your Irish blood—for I understand from Mr. McCarthy you are Irish-American—I am a better Home Ruler than you."

A merry twinkle accompanied this. He continued more feelingly and more earnestly:

"What I have just said applies to you or any other Irish Home Ruler. An Irishman is a Home Ruler because of his love for his country. I am one because of the justice of the Irish cause in the first place, and next because of my humiliation as an Englishman at the wrong inflicted on Ireland."

"It would be interesting to know, Mr. Gladstone, what is to be the outcome of the present situation?"

After a long pause, Mr. Gladstone said: "I'll say this, that the British electors have been and are being bewildered by the Irish strife. I'll say further, that the most hopeful source of settlement as regards ending the unfortunate contention is among American friends of Ireland. This brings to my mind that Mr. Dewey told me that there was not 10 per cent. of the entire voting population of the United States out of sympathy with Ireland's struggle for her rights. In view of this, it appears to me that out of such a vast sea of sympathetic interest there ought to arise some hope, some effort ought to come to end the deplorable, the unintelligible schism that exists."

"Supposing no such settlement can be effected, Mr. Gladstone, what effect will the continuance of the discussion have on the English parties?"

"English politicians will weigh, dissect, discuss, analyze, this response when it reaches them. Some talk of the Tories and some kind of a home rule measure. What I say is, I'll tell the Tories to go ahead, with my blessing, and I'll tell them any support I can give I'll render in favor of home rule, no matter by whom it is fostered."

"Then you think the Tories are considering a home rule project?"

"I don't know that I ought to—but, yes; the Liberal-Unionists are the ones who are most bitterly opposed to home rule in any form, in every form. They are the men who are most viciously, most uncompromisingly opposed to it. If the Tories fail to adopt some form of home rule, it will be because of the Liberal-Unionists. For the Tories to take up our programme and make their own of it would not be such a surprise to anyone acquainted with modern English political history. To me, particularly, a participant in or an observer of many reform movements during a long period, it is never strange or surprising to see the Tories steal our measures and make their own of them. Oh, yes, the Liberal-Unionists are the ones who are the most uncompromisingly, most bitterly opposed to home rule."

Every reference to the Liberal-Unionists was uttered with an air of bitter disgust.—The Republic.

ST. PETER AND ST. PAUL.

THE EVE OF FAST DAY—HOURS OF MASSES AT ST. PATRICK'S.

Next Saturday, 28th June, being the feast of Saints Peter and Paul, the day previous (Friday, 28th) will be a day of fast and abstinence of obligation. On Saturday the Masses at St. Patrick's will be at 5:30—6—7—8—and a Low Mass at 10 o'clock. Although the feast itself is no longer one of obligation, still it is the duty of every Catholic to hear at least one Mass on that day, under pain of sin.

CATHOLIC SAILORS' CLUB.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL WEEKLY CONCERT.

The usual weekly concert, held last Thursday evening, at the Catholic Sailors' Club, was largely attended by citizens and seamen. The programme was long, varied and most successfully carried out. Mr. J. P. Curran occupied the chair, and in a happy manner, introduced the various ladies and gentlemen who took part in the concert. Amongst those who greatly contributed to the evening's enjoyment may be mentioned, Messrs. Thibodeau and Champagne, the Pariseau brothers, the famous dancers, J. Lamothe, J. Rankin, G. McCarthy, Goyette, Smith,

Faber, Read, Wheeler and Delaney, the Misses Brown and Sharp. It must not be forgotten that as well as a weekly concert on Thursday there are prayer services every Sunday evening for the benefit of the sailors. The Club is doing exceedingly well this year.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

ST. MARY'S TOMBOLA AND CONCERT LAST THURSDAY.

A most enjoyable evening's entertainment was afforded at St. Mary's hall on Thursday by Madame Louise Durand, the highly finished vocalist and cornet soloist, and the world's wonder, "Little Tootsie." The distinct feature in the concert was Madame Durand's performance of the cornet solo and self-accompaniment. In reply to an encore, which could not be denied, the performer gave delightful selections on the cornet, which met with applause. Her singing was also given with much taste and feeling. "Little Tootsie," the world's wonder achieved undeniable success in her splendid rendition of the "Irish Girl," and was rewarded by continuous applause from the audience. In response to an imperative encore she gave "Playmates" and "The Coon Down South," in her own characteristic manner. The grand drawing of prizes followed, and the gold watch offered to the lady who would dispose of the greatest number of tickets, was won by Mrs. Thos. Ryan, who returned some $300. Miss Rosina Hoffmann came second with $265. Both energetic ladies were heartily congratulated by the audience and Mrs. Thos. Ryan presented with a gold watch and chain, and a beautiful bouquet of flowers by the Rev. Father O'Donnell. A few of the valuable articles won were as follows:—Bell organ, Rev. Father Casey; silver watch, Mrs. Brady; gent's gold watch, Frothingham & Workman; lady's gold watch, J. Lee; $10 gold piece, Rev. Decarie; hamper and elegant glass bell, Sir Donald Smith; cooking stove, Miss Donovan; $5 gold piece, Mr. Monk; cord of wood, J. P. Nugent; handsome work basket and lady's dress, Mrs. T. F. Moore; cloth for gent's furnished, Rev. M. L. Shea; fancy hand-painted cushion, A. T. Lepine, M. P.; handsome gold clock and flowers, Rev. Canale, C.S.S.R.; an expensive silk hat and pair of lace curtains, Mrs. E. B. Gunning; smoking cap and lady's belt, Miss Daly, St. Albans; statue of St. Anthony, Rev. J. E. Donnelly; set of costly irons, Mr. Smith, Hastings, Ont.; silver cake basket, Mr. Henry Barbeau, City and District Savings bank. Numerous other articles were won by prominent citizens. The concert and drawing of prizes were in aid of the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, and the sum of $1,000 was realized.

AT ASSUMPTION.

A GRAND CELEBRATION OF THE FETE DIEU.

On the Sunday before last the solemnity of the feast of Corpus Christi was kept in all the Catholic churches, but special mention ought to be made of the beautiful village of Assumption, P.Q., and the piety of its inhabitants. High Mass was celebrated at the parish church by the Rev. Father Legare, Superior of the Assumption College, who was assisted by Rev. E. Bourgeois as deacon and Rev. J. J. McMorin as sub-deacon. After Mass a grand procession was formed, composed chiefly of the pupils of the convent school, those of Assumption college and the inhabitants of the village, all headed by the College band under the able direction of Professor Dubreuil.

The streets and houses were beautifully decorated. A handsome arch was to be seen at the house of Mr. Fairbault, the notary, whilst at Madame Vallant's a magnificent altar was erected. When the procession reached the Bonsecour shrine, which is situated at the opposite side of the village, the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Father Legare, after which the procession returned and marched slowly back to the parish church.

The event will long be remembered in the pleasant village of Assumption, and we trust that the blessings that will flow from such a beautiful display of piety may be abundant.—Com.

ST. MARY'S CADETS.

PASS THEIR ANNUAL INSPECTION WITH GREAT SUCCESS.

A large number of the parents and friends generally of the members of the St. Mary's Cadet corps assembled on Thursday afternoon on the grounds of the college, Bleury street, to witness their inspection by the deputy adjutant-general, Lieut. Col. Houghton. Although the boys this season have only had ten hours drill in all they were in remarkably good form and gave an exhibition of the different movements in company and battalion drill that was quite up to the splendid name these boys have made for themselves. Sergeant-Instructor Phillips, of the R. C. L., had the boys in hand. Frequently, for their steady marching and their smart soldierly appearance, there were rounds and rounds of applause from the spectators.

Captain Mercier was in command of the corps; Major Bourgeois as first major and Major Battle as adjutant. The officers in command of each of the three companies were—

No. 1 company, Captain D'Arcy McGee; Lieutenants Hurlbise and Siolette.

No. 2 company, Captain Lacasse; Lieutenants Butler and Prince.

No. 3 company, Captain Collier; Lieutenants Hurlbise and Bries. The parade state, exclusive of officers, was 150.

After the inspection Captain Mercier made a neat little speech indicative of the feeling of respect the whole corps felt for Sergeant Phillips and he asked for three cheers and a tiger for him, which were given with a will. Sergt. Phillips made a suitable reply, saying among other things that he sincerely hoped the corps was going to keep up with the drill even if it was only a short time each day.

ST. ANN'S SCHOOL.

A MOST ATTRACTIVE EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT.

The educational exhibit of the pupils of St. Ann's school, which was on view in the Young Men's hall, during last week, attracted a large number of visitors, who expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the fine specimens of drawing, penmanship, stenography and typewriting. The staff of Christian Brother teachers, under the direction of the Rev. Bro. Prudent, are to be congratulated upon the success they have achieved in the educating of the young pupils of St. Ann's Parish.

A LITTLE GIRL'S ESCAPE.

HOW SHE WAS RESCUED FROM A LIFE OF TORTURE.

Perhaps no disease with which a person can be afflicted is so terrible and blighting in its nature as a nervous disorder, which gradually saps the strength of its victim and haunts him or her day and night.

This was the melancholy prospect which confronted the young daughter of Mr. Sellers, the druggist, corner of 6th and 1st Sts. in this city, and the gratitude of her parents when a complete and lasting cure was brought about may be imagined. Learning of the case, for it is one which has created a great deal of interest throughout the country, a reporter sought Mr. Sellers to get the full particulars, in the belief that much good could be done a her sufferers by the publication of the facts of the case. The reporter found Mr. Sellers in his drug store busily engaged. He at once narrated briefly the particulars of the cure which had been effected in the case of his daughter. The facts, which Mr. Sellers voluntarily and cheerfully stated, are set forth in the following:

Three years ago our little girl, then three years old, was taken with attacks which we have since found to be epilepsy, but which for two years, notwithstanding we consulted from twelve to fifteen physicians of this city, Philadelphia and Baltimore, we did not recognize. She was treated for everything imaginable, but without relief; finally she got so bad that the physicians said she would soon die or become insane.

The only thing that suppressed the attacks during this time was chloroform, under the influence of which she had to be kept for weeks at a time, or else she would bite her tongue or cheek, or crack her teeth. We sent her to Philadelphia and Baltimore to be examined by specialists, but she was returned without their being able to locate the trouble. Finally, last December, a year ago, a physician brought us some medicine in a whiskey bottle, which he got from a drunkard, who claimed to have been cured by the same medicine from epilepsy, but would not tell the name of the medicine, which we later ascertained was Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic. The first dose of this stopped the attacks, of which our girl had from fifteen to twenty daily; she did not have another attack for six months, and has had only one in fourteen months. Being convinced of the unusual effect of Pastor Koenig's Tonic, we have said a great deal of it upon our own recommendation. The physician who brought it to us prescribed it also, and others who know what a wonderful effect it had.—From Church News, Washington, D. C., April 14, 94.

Poor patients get Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic free of charge. This remedy has been prepared by Father Koenig in Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and now under his direction by the Koenig Medicine Co., in Chicago, who will mail free to any address a valuable book on Nervous Diseases and a sample bottle by mentioning this paper or apply for it to their agents, the druggists.
