On Sunday, March 29th, Prof. Watson delivered a masterly address in Convocation Hall on "Christianity." It was one of the finest we have ever heard and will be published by a company of the students formed for the purpose.

A. M. S.

On Saturday evening, March 28th, a most enjoyable meeting was held by the A. M. S. It was the occasion of the President's annual address, and this was served up with a number of songs and recitations. At 8 p.m. the chair was taken, and after a song about some "pretty little dark blue eyes," by Strachan, and a banjo solo by Porteous, Norman Carmichael delivered his address. It was upon the Spectroscope, and was very interesting and instructive. We hope that next session Carmichael's good example may be followed by other science men. The address was followed by a lively and well-played violin solo by Beattie, which was encored. Then followed Strachan with the story about Smith getting his hair cut, which was of course well received. Lavell then entertained the assembly with a good song about a poor beggar who fell overboard in the Atlantic and was "marr-ied to a mer-ma-id at the bottom of the deep blue sea." Hugo sang in his inimitable way a new and thrilling song entitled "Down went McGinty," and being encored sang another of the same kind called "Annie Rooney." Then Porteous and Beattie each gave excellent solos on the banjo and violin respectively, which were both encored, and Strachan ended the programme by giving the boys "The Tune the Old Cow Died on." The meeting then adjourned.

We are sorry that so many missed the meeting as it was a good one and enjoyed immensely by the select few who attended.

PERSONALS.

A. N. White, M.D., '86, is creditably representing the Royal in Casnovia, N.Y. He is surgeon for the West Shore Railroad.

Dr. Campbell had special services a few weeks ago—the occasion being the completion of his twentieth year as pastor of the Presbyterian congregation in Renfrew.

The sons and daughters of Queen's are registered only after matriculation and final exams., but her grandsons and grand-daughters enjoy more privileges. It is with mingled feelings of joy and sympathy that we again call the roll: Rev. James Ross, B.D., Perth, our interesting and esteemed lecturer in Church History? Son. Rev.

Jas. G. Potter, Merrickville? Son. H. L. Wilson, Newburg? Daughter. Rev. A. McAuley, Woodville? Daughter. The JOURNAL never wishes its patrons anything but good, especially those who have difficulty enough already, but it is with doubt as to its realization that it wishes those who have answered to the above muster joy and peace.

We are pleased to hear that our friend, Nelson, who spent a session or two with us, is now shining as Mathematical teacher in Williamstown.

Rev. Árpád Givan is ministering very acceptably to the people of Williamstown.

Rev. D. L. Dewar is settled at Boulter.

Rev. James Cormack, '72, is minister at Maxville.

Alex. McLaren, M.D., '65, is practising in Lancaster.

Joseph McCormack, B.A., '79, holds with skilful hands the reins of government in Williamstown, H.S. It is an open question whether he excels most in instructing ungovernable pupils, in training recalcitrant steeds, or in speaking one of the modern languages. He is also a warbler of more than local note. All his skill has not passed for nought, and may yet be useful, for we hear that he intends to drive double soon.

Rev. Jas. Murray, B.D., has a congregation in Hamilton.

Max Hamilton, a member of the class of '87, is in the Hudson Bay employ somewhere.

Joseph Sanderson, '93, has had enough for the present at least of college life, and is keeping "the even tenor of his way," being engaged in the ordinary avocation of an agriculturalist in Springville. The fellow-members of '93 were expecting a turkey or two for 'Xmas, and would respectfully suggest this as a fitting way of keeping up a class feeling.

Rev. John Young, M.A., brother of our fellow-student, is minister in Drummondville. His church is built where the battle of Lundy's Lane was fought. Though meeting in such a warlike place the congregation by their united and peaceful work give proof that old things have passed away.

A. L. Smith, B.A., '83, Alexandria, is a disturber of the peace, or a stirrer up of strife, or whatever is implied in being a worthy limb of law. He is also very active in political matters. We are glad to hear of Queen's men coming to the front.

J. C. Cameron, B.A., '88, is being dusted, or being covered with dust, in a law office in Cornwall. We don't mean to imply that he is not active or that he has ceased shining, but the very opposite. In his diligence he is going deep, turning over volumes not of forgotten but of legal lore, and struggling manfully with difficulties almost as great as Greek grammar and composition.

Alex. Pirie, M.D., '87, is now in Central America, but proposes to return soon, and will spend next winter in further equipping himself.

A. K. H. McFarlane, B.A., '88, remembered by every member of his year and by all who were at college with him, is peacefully settled at Seattle.
