

Minute adopted at a Special Meeting holden June 6, 1861.

Past Officers of the Society shall be entitled, if they think fit, to provide, at their own cost, and wear on public occasions, a badge indicative of the office which they have respectively served. Such badge to consist of a George of gilt metal, suspended from a ribbon of purple velvet, surmounted by a shield argent, charged with a cross gules, surrounded by embroidery, consisting of appropriate insignia, according to the office served, dependent from a clasp composed of the arms of England proper, supported by two lions rampant, surmounted by an imperial crown in gilt metal,—the whole attached to the left breast of the coat. The width of the ribbon to be worn by a Past President,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches; Past Vice-President, 2 inches, Treasurer and Secretary,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inch; and other officers  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inch, without the clasp.
