JOHN CATTO & SON TORONTO

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

Elman's Great Play. The art of making an audience see into the depths of the master's heart when he composed the piece being played puts Mische Elman in a high place, if not the highest, among the violinists of the day. That gift of interpretation which his possessors will be wonderfully demonstrated on Tuesday evening when he will be heard in recital in Massey Hall. The range of his program especially pertains to the music of the human touch which Elman puts into his playing that draws the audience to him and his ability to weave a message of music into the very fabric of his playing and carry them away in imagination to other worlds is almost divine.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TONIGHT

Assisted by Ada Navarrete, Celebrated Coloratura Soprano.

Mlle. Ada Navarrete, whose appearance with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra in Massey Hall tonight is so eagerly awaited by a music-loving city, reached Toronto yesterday. Little more need be said about this artist whose every performance has met with sensational welcome. The program of orchestral music to be offered contains many things of striking interest. First is the "Fidelio" symphony of Tchaikovsky, a work that has made a greater appeal to audiences of today than any other of its class. Of quite a different character is the "Agnus Dei" by Debussy, a brilliant and dramatic score in orchestral treatment, while the MacDowell "Song" breathes a rugged and cheery message suggestive of the intimacy with which a poet of Swinburne order for this notable concert runs sea. For this notable concert runs sea. For this notable concert runs sea.

WOUNDED IN ACTION; REMAINS ON DUTY

Lieut. C. M. Pasmore is Now Attached to Royal Grenadiers' Unit.

News has been received by Mrs. L. Pasmore, 514 Pape avenue, that her son, Lieut. C. M. Pasmore, has been wounded in action. Lieut. Pasmore himself called his mother that he had been wounded, but was remaining on duty. He received his wounds while serving with the 123rd Battalion (Royal Grenadiers), Lt.-Col. W. B. Kingsmill commanding. Prior to the outbreak of the war Lieut. Pasmore was a newspaperman in Toronto. After he qualified for his commission he was appointed to the 11th (Bantams) Battalion, and being over six feet in height he boasted that he was the "tallest Bantam in captivity." On the day the Bantams left Toronto to proceed overseas it was found that the strength of officers was greater than the strength of the battalion permitted, and Lieut. Pasmore was therefore dropped, but he was determined to get overseas and he reverted to the rank of sergeant and proceeded eastward with the unit. Before reaching the port of embarkation, however, the port of embarkation was augmented by drafts of Bantams from eastern towns, and Lieut. Pasmore was reinstated in his rank.
