THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

BRITISH WAR WORK ACCLAIMED BY KING

His Majesty Eulogizes Services on Land and Sea.

SPEECH AT GUILDHALL

Ancient Qualities of Race Shown in Innumerable Heroic Deeds.

London, July 7.—King George, replying to the address of the lord mayor of London at the Guildhall, on the 25th anniversary of his marriage, said: "I am greatly touched by the kind references to the happiness of our married life—a happiness which has been much increased by the untiring sympathy and affection of our people. We acknowledge our gratitude to God for the many blessings bestowed during these years. "This anniversary, as at a time when the shadow of war lies heavily on the land and when the very existence of the empire is assailed by unscrupulous foes. In this time of trial it is our honest desire to share the sorrows of the people and to alleviate their sufferings. "While hearts are heavy at the thought of the bereavement and distress which have befallen the nation, we have seen with joyful gratitude the whole-hearted response to the call of duty throughout the empire. Here in the presence of representatives of the dominions, the colonies and the Indian Empire I warmly acclaim the noble self-sacrificing spirit with which our brothers across the seas have given their best in the united defence of liberty and right. "Through four long years of unceasing conflict the ancient qualities of the British race have shown themselves in innumerable heroic deeds and in dogged endurance, which have baffled the enemy's purposes. "From visits I have made to the sailors in the fleets and to the soldiers in the armies I have brought back an ever-increasing admiration for the spirit which pervades all ranks and for their resolution and cheerfulness in all circumstances. "What words can express the debt we owe to the navy which, with unflinching gallantry and determination of kind of difficulty and danger, has protected our shores and has kept open for us and our allies the high-ways of the seas. "Debt to British Army. "What can express our debt to the splendid army, the very flower of the nation, which stood and still stands as a wall between us and the fury of our enemies, and to our air force, distinguished by many glorious achievements, and now the third arm of the defence of the empire, of which I am proud indeed to be general-in-chief. "When we think of the great fighting services let us remember, too, the untiring gallantry and determination of the men of the merchant service, who refused to be dismayed by a terrorism hitherto unknown in naval warfare, and the famous of "The mine sweepers, trawlers and fleet of auxiliaries, which have performed without ceasing their perilous tasks. "A hearty tribute of praise is due the services of the troops on the more distant fronts which I have been unable to visit in person. The men who have been fighting in Italy by the side of our gallant allies; the army at Salonica, which has so long helped to keep the enemy from the waters of the eastern Mediterranean; the East African force, which has performed feats of courage and endurance in difficult conditions of climate and locality; the armies in Mesopotamia and Palestine, which have rescued the people from the grasp of the tyrant; the tyrrany which devastated and depopulated them, and have restored already something of their ancient prosperity—all these have abundantly earned our gratitude and admiration. "Encouragement at Home. "The conditions at home also give us cause for pride and thankfulness. We have seen ready acceptance by all classes, men and women alike, of the burdens which the war has brought, courage in time of crisis, calmness and self-possession when by air attacks the enemy sought to terrify the non-combatants of the population of this great city, and at all times an unflinching determination to persevere to the end in the maintenance of a righteous cause. "I recall in particular the efforts so successfully made, in which the City of London played a part, to uphold and enhance the financial credit of the country and raise the vast sums needed for the prosecution of the war. "Especially have I been struck, on visits to the industrial districts, by the evidence of a spirit of mutual concession animating employers and workers with the matters affecting individual interests, and a readiness to sink differences, that the essential work of the country should be carried on. "Well-Founded Hopes. "We may cherish well-founded hopes that in the furnace of war new links of understanding and sympathy are being forged between man and man, class and class, and we are coming to recognize as never before that we are all members of one community and that the welfare of each is dependent upon and inseparable from the welfare of all. "We thank you for your kind references to the Prince of Wales, whose knowledge of our fellow-countrymen has been increased, in the comradeship of war, and to our daughter, who has been a source of gratification to the Queen and myself that our children have been able to bear some part in the great task to which the country has been called. "We are deeply moved by the manifestations of good-will which have been so abundantly displayed towards us. We rejoice to feel that we are united with the people of the whole empire in ideals, aspirations, joys and sorrows, determined to secure such a peace as will save the generations to come from the sufferings and horrors and desolation inflicted upon the world in the past four years. "When that peace comes, may it dawn upon an empire strengthened in character by the fiery trial thru which it has passed, and knit together more closely by the memory of common efforts and common sacrifices." U. S. CONGRESS BLOCKS PLANS FOR RECESS Washington, July 7.—Plans for an immediate recess of congress were upset late last night when the house adjourned until Monday without acting upon a concurrent resolution, adopted by the senate providing for an adjournment until Aug. 12, subject to an earlier call by the president. Majority Leader Kitchin had asked for immediate consideration of the senate resolution, but after opposition developed he withdrew his request with the explanation that he believed a majority of the house would vote against the resolution. The house adjourned immediately afterwards and upon receiving notice of its action, the senate also adjourned until Monday. In spite of President Wilson's request, emphatically reiterated today that the resolution authorizing him to take over and operate during the war, telegraph, telephone, cable and radio systems be passed before the recess, the senate was ready to begin its vacation when the house suddenly blocked the plans of the leaders.

ALLIES PREPARED FOR COMING BLOW

Fateful Hour of War Has Arrived, Says Bonar Law.

NEXT THREE MONTHS

Strategic Points Must Be Saved From the Enemy.

London, July 6.—The coming German blow will not be less dangerous because of the time employed in preparing for it, but it is comforting to know that the men are prepared and the allied armies are confident of the result, said A. Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, at a dinner to the delegates of the parliamentary commercial conference. "It is impossible to foresee the future," he said, "but I do believe that the fateful hour of this war is upon us, and if in another three months our enemies have won no strategic object, then their campaign will have failed and it will, I hope, be a decisive failure." "The Germans possessed the most perfect military machine that ever existed, but the chancellor said he believed that when the history of the war was written it would be seen that Germany had made greater military mistakes than any other power. He instanced the submarine warfare, which had brought the United States into the war. He doubted whether Germany would get as much out of Russia as she expected. Wherever the German soldier had planted his foot, the name of German was loathed for generations. Will Stand Together. Mr. Bonar Law said he trembled to think what would have been the position of the allies after Russia went out of the war but for the help of the United States. He had not despaired of Russia, who was like a patient in a delirium. It was impossible from hour to hour to tell what the future might bring forth. The population of the enemy powers was 154,000,000, that of the entire alliance 1,200,000,000. That in itself was a league of nations with a military force that was terrible, but the economic force also was strong. ARTILLERY VIOLENT TO SOUTH OF SOMME Berlin, via London, July 7.—The following communication was issued yesterday from general headquarters: "Frequent attempts of the enemy to attack west of Langemarck failed. In the battle zone south of the Somme the artillery activity continued with increased violence throughout the day, and in the evening it revived also on the front of the other army groups. Between the Oise and the Marne and southwest of Rheims there was increased firing activity at intervals. Strong advances of the enemy against the Clignon sector were repulsed. There were reconnoitering engagements in the Champagne." "The Clignon River sector is held by the American force. Both the American and the French on their left recently have gained terrain and taken prisoners from the Germans there. TO OBEY KONENKAMP. New York, July 7.—The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of New York decided at a meeting today to defer action on the proposed strike against the Western Union, scheduled for 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, until formally advised by President Konenkamp that his strike order stands.

U. S. MAY STEP IN TO HELP RUSSIA

President Holds Important Conference to Discuss Siberian Situation.

Washington, July 7.—America's waiting policy in regard to military action in Russia is understood to have ended on Saturday at a conference at the White House between President Wilson and Secretaries Lansing, Baker and Daniels, Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, and General March, army chief of staff. There was no announcement after the conference and probably will be none for the present, but it was said unofficially that an important decision has been reached. Urgent appeals from the allied governments for American approval of a co-operation in joint measure to meet the German menace thru Pussala have been before President Wilson for several days. Until now, however, there has been no indication that he had changed his position, based upon recommendations of his military advisers, that a successful military effort in Russia was not feasible. For military reasons strict secrecy is observed concerning the exact nature of steps proposed by the allies. American and allied naval forces now are guarding war supplies both at Vladivostok, terminal of the trans-Siberian railroad, and Kola, terminal of the railroad on the Arctic coast, which is reported threatened by German forces in the interior. PEACE TREATY ADOPTED. Amsterdam, July 6.—The Rumanian Senate has adopted the German peace treaty, according to Bucharest advices. The vote, it is added, was unanimous.
